

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

But the rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. And motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

37. Engrossed Bills to be Examined and Reported.

All bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossed Bills, the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly with proper indorsements, and the original retained by the Senate.

38. Engrossed Bills Have Preference.

All bills, after the second reading (if the same be not committed, then upon being reported), shall be placed upon a general file, and shall be taken up for consideration and passage in the order of their being placed on file.

39. Amendments and Substitutes.

Substitutes may be offered at any time when a bill or resolution is open to amendment, previous to engrossment; and when adopted shall take the place of the original bill or resolution, and shall be open to amendment.

40. Amendments and Substitutes Must be Germane.

No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment or substitute.

41. Least Sum and Shortest Time in Filling Blanks.

In filling up blanks, the least sum or number and the shortest time shall be put first.

42. Short of Final Question, Two-Thirds Vote Not Requisite on Propositions to Amend Constitution.

When an amendment to the Constitution, or any bill requiring the concurrence of two thirds of the Senators, is under consideration, the concurrence of two thirds shall not be required to decide any question for amendment, or extending to the merits, being short of the final question.

43. Leave of Absence.

When leave of absence shall be granted to any committee, special or standing, to visit public buildings or institutions, or for any other purpose, such leave shall be granted only by two-thirds vote, and no expenses or mileage of attachés shall be allowed.

44. Claims on Contingent Fund Must Go to Committee on Contingent Expenses.

No claim shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate until the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

45. Order of Privileged Questions Under Debate.

When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

46. Motion Not to be Debated Until Seconded and Announced.

No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated. A motion may be withdrawn at any time before amendment.

47. Senator, When Called to Order, Must Sit Down.

When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the exceptional language shall immediately be taken down in writing.

48. Final Question on Second Reading of Bill—No Amendment on Third Reading, but May Commit.

The final question on the second reading of every bill originating in the Senate, and requiring three readings previous to being passed, shall be: "Shall the bill be engrossed and read the third time?" And no amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment under special instructions.

49. Ayes and Noes—Members Must Answer—No Vote After Announcement of Vote.

When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, his assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the decision from the chair.

50. Introduction and Reading of Bills.

Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his place and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same; and the title shall be announced from the Secretary's desk, shall be read the first time, when it shall be referred to a standing committee. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless, in case of urgency, two thirds of the Senate shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision), and the last reading shall be at length. The President shall give notice, at each of the second and third readings, which reading it is, and no bill shall be read at either reading until the Senate has so determined by a vote (should any Senator have objected to such reading). Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be read but once, unless the Senate, by a majority vote of all the Senators present, otherwise directs.

51. The General File: Its Hours—Special Order of Bills on File.

The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may hereafter set, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration; and this order shall take precedence of all others.

52. Titles of Bills Must be in Journal.

The titles of bills and such parts thereof only as shall be affected by proposed amendments, shall be inserted in the Journal.

53. When Not in Committee of the Whole, Proceedings Must be Entered in Journal.

The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as Committee of the Whole, shall be entered in the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

54. Rules in Senate and Committee of the Whole.

The rules of the Senate shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as may be applicable, except limiting the number of times speaking, and except that the ayes and noes shall not be taken.

55. Cases not Provided for, Cushing to Govern.

In all cases not provided for by these rules, the Senate shall be governed by the laws and practice as laid down in Cushing's Law and Practice of Legislative Assemblies.

56. Suspending and Changing Rules.

No standing rule or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of three fifths, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of three fifths of the Senators present, except that portion of Rule 52 relating to the final passage of bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

57. Powers and Prerogatives of President.

The rooms, passages, and buildings set apart for the use of the Senate shall be under the control and direction of the President of the Senate, and he shall have the control and direction of the Journals, papers, and bills of the Senate. He shall see that all officers of the Senate perform their respective duties, and may assign places to reporters.

In case of a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies, the President (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have power to order the same cleared.

59. President may Call Senators to the Chair.

The President shall have the right to name any Senator to perform the duties of the Chair, who is hereby vested, during such time, with all the powers of the President; but such substitute shall not lose the right of voting on any question while so presiding.

60. Sergeant-at-Arms.

A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate, from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof as shall be directed to him by the President. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms, for every arrest, for each day's custody and releasement, and the traveling expense for himself and special messenger, going and returning, shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators, to prepare checks, and, if required so to do, draw the money on such checks for the Senators (the same being previously signed by the President, and indorsed by the Senator, or person to whom the check is made), and pay over the same to the Senator or person entitled thereto.

61. Messengers—When Introduced.

Messengers are introduced in any stage of business, except while a question is being put while the ayes or noes are being called, while the ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

62. Doorkeeper.

It shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper to prohibit all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such reporters as have seats assigned to them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless invited by the President, or a Senator, and to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found engaged in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate.

63. Executive Communications and Nominations.

When executive communications or nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Executive Communications, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

All bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, when printed, must be placed on the desks of Senators at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
SACRAMENTO, January 3, 1905.

To the Senate of the State of California:

I have the honor to submit herewith my Biennial Message for the years 1903 and 1904.
Respectfully,

GEO. C. PARDEE,
Governor of the State of California.

FIRST BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR GEORGE C. PARDEE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }

To the Senate and Assembly:

GENTLEMEN: The Constitution of California commands that the Governor shall communicate by message to the Legislature at every session the condition of the State, and shall recommend the enactment of such legislation as he may deem expedient. Accordingly, I have the honor respectfully to transmit to and to lay before your honorable bodies my Biennial Message for the years 1903 and 1904.

In common with other States of our Union, California has, during the last two years, enjoyed great material prosperity. Our many industries and interests have prospered. Employment has been steady and, in most localities, abundant. Wages have averaged as good as ever before, crop returns have been at least normal, and prices of products have, on the whole, been remunerative.

With especial respect to California, not only has our State been a liberal sharer in the prosperity of the Nation, but it has enjoyed an abundant and independent prosperity. Our cities and towns have increased steadily and even rapidly in population and accumulated wealth; our larger areas of farming lands have, in large measure, been subdivided into holdings of moderate size and sold at prices which have been within the reach of men of moderate means. To a greater extent than ever before, at least in the northern and central portions of the State, new farms have been established and green alfalfa meadows and orchards now greet the eye where a few years ago only grain fields filled the landscape.

Separated as California is from the more thickly populated portions of our common country by hundreds of miles of semi-arid mountain and plain, it is marvelous to see how our State has drawn to itself tens of thousands of enthusiastic home-seekers who have come to cast their lots with us. Although the means of travel have proven somewhat expensive and not a little tedious, even in these days of palace cars and swift-rolling trains, the tide of immigration is still setting our way and will continue so to flow so long as we extend an unflinching hospitality toward it. Our snowless winters, our intensified, diversified and yet highly specialized agricultural pursuits are proving irresistible to thousands who find Eastern summers exhausting, winters trying, and the production of a few staple products, year after year, uninviting. Our State is no longer looked upon as a land of unbelievable legends and unrealizable prophecies. The eyes of the world are turned in our direction as never before since the discovery of gold.

The future is big with promise for California. The splendid exhibit of products made at St. Louis has proven conclusive as to the claims our immigration literature has set forth. California has made good for all that has been claimed, and achievement bids fair to rival the dreams of those who, loving California, have prophesied in verse and oratory of her coming greatness. It only remains for Californians to put aside individual and local jealousies and unite in helping forward everything that is likely to prove good for the commonwealth to make us all sharers in a prosperity hitherto unparalleled. God has been good to us; let us be good to each other, whether of the north or the south, city or country, mountain or valley. Let us be all for one and one for all.

WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE.

In meeting the Legislature for a second time I wish to congratulate the members upon the opportunity which they possess to benefit their constituents by a serious devotion to duty during the next two months. They can benefit them by exercising economy in making necessary appropriations and by vigilance in preventing appropriations which are not necessary. They can further serve their constituents by seeing to it that none but useful laws, and those carefully framed, shall be passed. Loose and careless laws fill the courts with litigation and impose a heavy burden upon all classes of citizens.

Yet to guard against the passage of such laws is no easy task, when during a session of sixty days fifteen or eighteen hundred bills are introduced which must be read, printed, examined in committee, reported, and voted on. So many of these bills as are unwise, or are unnecessary, are stumbling-blocks in the way of the passage of measures which are needed. It would be no small legislative reform if some means could be found to impose a check upon the introduction of a multitude of bills which will never accomplish any other purpose than to waste the State's money when they are printed, or to cumber the files when they are reported.

That the work of the Legislature is so well done, when the disadvantages under which it is conducted are considered, is remarkable, and shows how much earnest, intelligent effort is expended at each session. The biennial statute-book, which embodies, in four or five hundred pages, the net results of the session, may contain much that is unimportant, and that which is important may be marked by imperfections; but it enables the public business to be carried on, and there is a large balance of good over bad. The numberless interests affected, and the rapid changes in conditions under which business is done, render unavoidable many alterations in the statutes. And yet it is very true that every needless law enacted is a detriment, and the making of many minor changes at frequent intervals is to be deprecated. A more thorough revision at greater intervals would be much better.

Laws of Last Session.—I am happy to state that the legislation of the last session appears to have been, in the main, sound in purpose and reasonably correct. With one or two exceptions, no acts have been declared by the courts to be unconstitutional, and, on the other hand, many acknowledged evils were corrected. This was done, for example, in the amendment of the ballot law, which previously had been so framed that many citizens had, through ignorance or carelessness, lost their votes. Under the Act authorizing the use of ballot machines, several counties introduced the machines, and their operation appears to have been successful.

The law in relation to insanity and the hospitals for the insane, which theretofore had been very defective, was revised, and in its new form has obviated most of the former difficulties. I think I may also enumerate among the clearly beneficial acts of the late session the one altering the law of divorce, requiring the entering of an interlocutory decree and postponing for a year the time when a divorced person may remarry.

At the same session several Acts were passed in the interest of labor, including one which regulated employment agencies. The probation and juvenile court laws enacted were intended to save from the prisons and from lives of crime many young men and boys who, although they have taken first steps in vice, are not irreclaimable. The Act providing a way to improve the common school text-books, by buying the right to use copyrighted texts, promises to be productive of much good.

I especially advise the utmost care in the framing of statutes to avoid technical defects, which will defeat their purpose. Two years ago I felt obliged to refuse to sign a number of bills, otherwise meritorious, which were so faultily framed that it would not have been safe to let them become laws.

The Codes.—A subject closely connected with the above is the California codes, to which at every session of the Legislature many amendments are proposed. It is now more than thirty years since the codes were adopted, the principal object at the time being to rescue the law from the uncertainty of many conflicting statutes and decisions. It was recognized that there were objections to the code system, and in practical operation it does not realize all that was claimed for it by its advocates; but it has been a great improvement upon what existed before, and no one proposes its abandonment.

But it is well known that the codes have not been improved and perfected to the extent they should be, and at each session many general statutes are passed embodying matter which ought to be incorporated in the codes. The integrity of the codes should be respected, and the system kept as symmetrical as possible.

THE STATE FINANCES.

I desire to call the attention of the Legislature to the improved financial condition of the State Treasury. Two years ago it was clearly foreseen that the General Fund would run short before the next succeeding collection of taxes. In order to prevent this condition becoming chronic, and to make it possible to replenish the treasury, it became necessary for the Legislature to provide for a tax levy in excess of that which would have been required had the one fixed in the year 1902 not been so far below what the actual appropriations called for. This excess for the year 1903-04 amounted to six cents on the $100, and for 1904-05 to nearly as much.

But before the taxes for 1903-04 were collected the expected had happened, for the General Fund ran short, and borrowing from other funds was unavoidable. On June 30, 1903, the balance in the General Fund was only $432,415.74, with five months' expenses to be met before taxes would again flow into the treasury. This small balance was soon exhausted, and it became necessary, on July 31, 1903, to borrow from other funds the sum of $921,000, and again, on November 5th, to borrow the further sum of $447,000. This, as the State Controller points out in his biennial report, was a condition such as had not before arisen for nearly a decade, and it was, as before said, to prevent its recurrence that the Legislature ordered a larger tax levy than the appropriations demanded.

The effect of this levy is shown by the vastly different condition of the General Fund on June 30, 1904, which on that date contained $2,068,610.11, a sum more than sufficient to meet all prospective demands.

The State of California, like other solvent institutions, should maintain a credit balance large enough to guarantee it against having to practice unusual and unsafe methods of financing. More especially is it wise to carry a credit balance if it can be made a means of profit, as, in another part of this message, I suggest can be done by adopting the deposit plan.

Betterments during Two Years.—As an appendix to this message there is printed a table which shows the amount of money appropriated at the last session for buildings and other improvements in connection with State institutions; also the amounts expended from such appropriations to date, and the amounts expended from contingent funds for the same general purposes. The total of appropriations made two years ago for betterments was $800,800, and by adding to this $78,362.21 of former appropriations unexpended, the State had an aggregate of appropriations for betterments equal to $877,162.21 to use during the biennium. Of this there has been actually expended to date $685,742.61; to which must be added the sum of $108,200.85, which has been drawn from contingent funds and used for betterments. This makes an aggregate of $793,943.46 spent for betterments in the last two calendar years.

As the whole amount of appropriations from all funds made at the last session was $7,733,840.73, the proportion which went for actual improvements was about 10 per cent. The expenditures made have been highly beneficial to many of the institutions of the State. At the San Diego Normal School a west wing has been added to the main building; the Los Angeles, Chico, and San José Normal Schools have also benefited through construction or repairs; the new building of the Southern California State Hospital is well advanced toward completion; the assembly hall of the Mendocino State Hospital is partially finished, and at the Stockton, Agnews, and Napa hospitals more or less extensive improvements have been made; for the Home for Feeble-Minded Children $62,500 was appropriated, and the result is much improved conditions at that institution, which is, however, still so lacking in accommodations that many applications for admission are necessarily denied.

Extensive improvements have been made at the Veterans' Home, the machinery in the State Printing Office has received important additions, and California Hall, at the University, for which $250,000 was appropriated, is nearing completion. A good deal of construction work has been done at the California Polytechnic School in San Luis Obispo.

The needs of the State in the way of new buildings are numerous, but they can be supplied only gradually. A certain amount of new construction can be provided for out of each tax levy, but many meritorious building enterprises must await the time when the funds can be spared.

Bond Purchases for School Fund.—One of the pieces of legislation of the last session which has been followed by good results is the Act authorizing the purchase of municipal and school-district bonds for the permanent school fund, which previous to that time could be invested only in bonds of the United States, the State, and the counties.

These classes of securities were difficult to procure except by paying a high price, more particularly since the law, as it then stood, practically rendered it necessary to buy bonds through brokers. The new law, by authorizing the State Board of Examiners to bid direct, without depositing a certified check, has enabled the making of first-hand purchases, while at the same time the field of investment has been enlarged.

The effect is noticeable in a closer investment of school funds and also in a somewhat higher average rate of interest on the bonds purchased. On June 30, 1903, there was $1,282,574.64 in the State School Land Fund awaiting investment, and a year later this had been reduced to $792,128.98. By further purchases this had been cut down to approximately $495,000 on December 1, 1904, and when certain investments now in view are made, practically all available funds will be invested and drawing interest.

On the bonds bought between the years 1899 and 1902 the average rate of interest was 4.45 per cent, but the premiums paid reduced the net income to the State to 3.58. For 1903-04 the average rate of interest on the bonds purchased has been 4.107 per cent, and the net income has been 4.07 per cent, showing how closely the new law enables the State to buy. The income from these bonds is used for the support of the public schools, and the fund now amounts in round numbers to $5,000,000.

An Analysis of State Expenditures.—I am indebted to the State Controller for a valuable statistical compilation which shows at a glance how the disbursements on account of the State government are divided between the main branches of expenditure. Classified under eleven heads, the expenditures are given both by aggregates and by percentages:

Per Capita Cost of Inmates of Institutions.—In the following table there is shown the per capita cost of maintenance of inmates of a number of State institutions for last year, as nearly as can be ascertained:

Institution.	Average Number of Inmates.	Average Cost per Capita per Diem, in Cents.
Folsom Prison	810.52	44.15
San Quentin Prison	1,495.7	31.12
Whittier Reform School	336	79.1
Preston School of Industry	150	80.1
Home for Adult Blind	120	64.21
Deaf, Dumb, and Blind Asylum	223.50	75.6
Stockton State Hospital	1,586.50	36.42
Napa State Hospital	1,472.50	39.84
Agnews State Hospital	1,031.50	39.84
Mendocino State Hospital	623	47.38
Southern California State Hospital	739	50.24
Home for Feeble-Minded	520	49.11

With regard to this table it ought to be said that any inference drawn from a comparison of different classes of institutions with respect to relative cost of maintenance is likely to be erroneous, because the objects aimed at and the conditions under which the institutions are conducted are so different. The only comparisons which properly can be made are between institutions of the same class in this State or between those of this State and those of other States, and even then other factors besides economy of management enter into the result. Usually the per capita rate of expense of maintenance diminishes as the number of inmates increases, because the cost of administration is relatively less in a large hospital or prison.

In general it may be said that our public institutions are as economically conducted as those of other leading States. The per capita cost for the four State prisons of New York is 41.2 cents per day, as compared with an average of 37.6 cents for the two California prisons. The State of New York, which has 25,000 insane persons in its hospitals, maintains these institutions at an average per capita cost of 44.3 cents per day, as compared with an average cost for California hospitals of 42.7. The State Home for Feeble-Minded Children in Syracuse, New York, reports a per capita cost of 49 cents daily, which is almost exactly the same as that of the institution at Eldridge.

The per capita expense of maintenance at Folsom Prison is ordinarily about 35 cents per day; during the earlier part of the fiscal year 1903-04 the number of prisoners had run down to less than 700, which raised the per capita cost above the ordinary; since then there has been a large increase in the prison population. Moreover, some of the extraordinary expenditures caused by the break of July 27, 1903, have been included in figuring out the per capita expense for last year.

CUSTODY OF STATE FUNDS.

The State of California pursues a policy different from that of a majority of the States by keeping public funds in its own vaults, thereby locking up a large amount of money, instead of making deposits in the banks. By following the deposit plan the money is permitted to circulate in the channels of trade until needed to meet claims against the treasury. The drain of money at certain periods of the year, when State, County, and City governments are all collecting taxes, is a heavy one; and it has long been a cause of complaint in California that, at these times, business is embarrassed by the large reduction in the circulating medium.

It was a step in the right direction when the law was passed, some years ago, making State and County taxes payable in two installments instead of one, because this reduced the amount of money locked up at any one time; but it would be an additional benefit to the business community if the greater part of the funds belonging to the State could at all times be kept in the channels of trade. The payment of taxes may be a hardship upon property-owners under the most favorable circumstances, but it becomes a needlessly grievous burden when it is made the means of locking up so much of the money which is the life of trade.

But this is not the only way in which the hoarding of funds is expensive to the State, since the money represents so much earning power lost; it could be, and should be, made to turn into the treasury annually quite a large sum collected as interest. The balance in the State Treasury, in ordinary years, ranges from $2,500,000 to $7,000,000, and for the last five years has averaged $4,000,000. The ordinary interest rate on daily balances paid by the banks is two per cent, and on $4,000,000 this would amount to $80,000 a year—enough to sustain one of the State institutions, or to reduce the annual tax rate nearly two thirds of a cent. If the money can be loaned safely, and this interest earned, it shows poor business judgment to go on sacrificing so large a sum.

As has been said before, California is one of a small number of States which keep their money in their own vaults. Of the forty-eight States and Territories, according to recent statistics, thirty-nine pursue the policy of depositing their funds in bank, with such precautions for safety as they think will insure them against loss. The history of the State deposit system shows that it has always been safe when proper security has been required by law. Banks receiving State funds should be compelled to deposit in the treasury securities—preferably United States, State, County, or Municipal bonds—sufficient in amount to guarantee the State against the possibility of loss.

Opinions of State Treasurers.—Several Treasurers of this State have pointed out the unwisdom of the hoarding policy. Hon. W. S. Greene, in his report for 1898, said: "I feel that I would not be doing my whole duty if I did not call attention to the fact that California is still following the method of collecting money semi-annually from the people and storing it up like old junk, when the object, and only object, of money is circulation. * * * Upon thorough consideration and investigation, I am of the opinion that a system of State and County depositories ought to be established."

Hon. J. R. McDonald, who was Treasurer from 1891 to 1895, said in one of his reports: "I have never been able to see the necessity or propriety of the State having two or three million dollars piled up in her vaults year after year, without any benefit to the State and positive detriment to the people."

The present Treasurer, Hon. Truman Reeves, entertains the same views, and, referring to the deposit plan, he writes: "I am in favor of the idea, provided a law is framed whereby the funds can be safeguarded so as to eliminate the absolute possibility of loss to the State, and, if possible, to keep the office of State Treasurer out of politics."

In view of these opinions, and bearing in mind that such great States as New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts have pursued the deposit plan for many years, receiving large sums for interest, and losing nothing even when banks have failed, it appears that we ought, as soon as it can be done, to substitute for our present practice one more consonant with business thrift and judgment. If this can be done by statute merely, it is a simple matter; if a constitutional amendment shall be held to be necessary, the object to be attained is worth the trouble it will cost.

OUR SYSTEM OF TAXATION.

In my inaugural address, two years ago, I expressed the belief that the time was near at hand when the people of California should consider the question whether they ought not to introduce radical changes in their revenue and taxation laws, especially in relation to the raising of revenue for State purposes. The main reasons for this belief were the escape from taxation of large amounts of personal property and the difficulties which will always exist in securing under the present arrangement a fair assessment and a just equalization between the counties. The further opinion was expressed that the object aimed at ought to be the eventual separation of State and County taxation, giving to each of these political divisions its own subjects of taxation and its own assessment machinery.

During the past two years nothing has occurred to change the belief then expressed; but much has occurred to confirm it. There has been considerable popular discussion of the proposal that a new State revenue system is needed, and the tone of this discussion has been uniformly favorable. At the same time the movement in other States, to which also I referred in my former message, has continued to be away from the employment of the ad valorem, or general property, tax as the basis of all State revenue collections, and toward the development of different systems in different States, according to their several opportunities and needs.

California Tax History.—This revenue question is no new one in California, nor is this the first time that the demand for an improved system has been heard. A short review of the history of State taxation will be interesting, and may help us to a better knowledge of our needs.

In the very earliest days of our State its revenues were derived largely from merchandise and other licenses, but the general property tax was soon put in operation, and for a good many years gave general satisfaction. Personal property, for a time, constituted nearly one half of all the property assessed, and therefore it was not complained that this form of wealth was escaping its due share of taxation. The Legislature assumed the right to exempt from taxation certain kinds of property, such as churches, hospitals, the property of widows and orphans, growing crops, and mining claims; but when danger arose from the extent of the exemptions, the Supreme Court came forward and declared them all to be unconstitutional.

But in time a serious evil arose from the inequalities of taxation as between the various counties, which there was then no means of controlling. In the poorer counties the assessments were kept high, because only so could enough taxes be raised to pay the expenses of county government, and as the same assessments were the basis for State taxation, those counties contributed more than their just share to the State Treasury, while the wealthier counties were able to keep their assessments low and to escape their due proportion of general taxation. It was asserted that in some counties the assessed values were 80 per cent of the true values and in other counties no more than 20 to 30 per cent. As Governor Pacheco told the Legislature, "While the fundamental law demanded a revenue system of rigorous exactitude and uniform justice, there had developed one of false values and gross inequalities."

To remedy this evil the Legislature, by statute, in 1870, created a State Board of Equalization, for the purpose of equalizing assessments as between the counties. But it was not until the Political Code, in 1872, established the State Board on a supposedly firm foundation that it was able to show what it could do, and then the results were almost startling, for in one year the total assessment of property rose from $269,000,000 to $436,000,000, or more than 135 per cent. But the Supreme Court took the view that the Board of Equalization could not constitutionally exercise the powers it claimed, and at once the assessment roll began to fall off.

The Constitutional Convention.—But before this there had begun to issue from the Supreme Court a series of decisions, based upon the uniformity and equality clause of the old Constitution, which held that the taxation of bonds, notes, credits, and other evidences of debt, when the property on which they rested, or by which they were secured, was also taxed, was double taxation; and this created dissatisfaction, because it was claimed the wealthy were escaping taxation. Finally, in 1873, the Court, in a sweeping decision, held the mortgage tax to be unconstitutional.

That decision was, in effect, the cause of the calling of a convention to frame a new constitution; since, although the convention was not held until 1878-79, the dissatisfaction had been growing steadily from the date of the mortgage-tax decision. The advocates of a new plan of taxation were able to point to the fact that, although the State was growing wealthier, the assessment of personal property had ceased to increase and was diminishing, both relatively and absolutely. From $220,000,000 in 1872 it had declined to $118,000,000 in 1878, and from constituting 40 per cent of the total assessment, as it did in 1869, it had, in 1878, become only 20 per cent. This was one of the evidences that a great deal of property was escaping taxation.

As the revenue question was the one which was principally responsible for the calling of the Constitutional Convention, so it was the one which in that body was discussed longest and with greatest energy. The utmost determination was shown to adopt a plan of taxation which should reach all species of property and make every class of people bear its proper share of the burden of taxation. The State Board of Equalization was made constitutional, and the mortgage tax problem was solved by treating the mortgage as an interest in the property and allowing a proportionate deduction from the assessment on the latter.

In the old Constitution the subject of revenue and taxation had been disposed of in one section of five lines; but in the new Constitution a whole article, embracing thirteen sections, was devoted to it.

The Subjects of Taxation.—The gist of the old Constitution with reference to taxation was contained in these two sentences, said to have been taken from the first Constitution of Texas: "Taxation shall be equal and uniform throughout the State. All property in this State shall be taxed in proportion to its value, to be ascertained as directed by law."

Some of the warmest debates of the Convention of 1879 took place over the question whether the "equal and uniform" provision should go into the new Constitution, upon which some of the ablest members insisted. But it was upon that provision that the unpopular decisions of the Supreme Court had rested, and a majority of the delegates voted to exclude the words from the new instrument.

The provision that all property shall be taxed in proportion to its value was retained, but with it was included a definition of "property" which was meant to be so thoroughgoing that nothing should thereafter escape from the tax-gatherer. It was declared that, for purposes of taxation, property should "include moneys, credits, bonds, stocks, dues, franchises, and all other matters and things, real, personal, and mixed, capable of private ownership," the only exceptions being growing crops and public property.

It was further provided that all property should be assessed in the political subdivision where situated, save and except railroads operated in more than one county, which were to be assessed for both State and County purposes by the State Board of Equalization. It had already been recognized by the lawmakers of Illinois and Missouri that a great railroad could not be properly assessed piecemeal, and their plan of assessment of such property by a State board was followed by our Constitution-makers.

Test of the New Law.—It was the expectation of the framers of the new Constitution as we have seen, that a great deal of property would be taxed which theretofore had escaped. One of the leaders remarked: "We have said that all property should be taxed in proportion to its value. In addition to that we say that property which has heretofore been held not to be property shall, for purposes of taxation, be deemed property and subject to taxation. That covers the ground."

This boast was not justified by results, and the effect of the new Constitution in the direction of increasing assessments was, after the first year, very disappointing. In 1879, the last year of the old Constitution, the assessment roll amounted to $549,000,000, and in 1880, the first year of the new, it rose to $668,000,000, and the proportion of personal property increased from 20 per cent of the whole to 26 per cent. But the next two years the aggregate of the roll declined, and the proportion which the personal property—the kind of property which it was the special aim of the makers of the new Constitution to reach—bears to the whole commenced to diminish from that time forth. From 26.18 per cent it went down as low as 13.56 per cent, and is now practically stationary at 15 per cent. So that, despite the Draconian rigor of the definition given to property in the first section of the article on taxation in our present Constitution, the tax-gatherers find not more of personal property than before, but even relatively less, and absolutely less most of the time. For the aggregate of personal property assessed never afterwards went as high as it was in 1874—when it was $210,000,000—until 1903, when it was $269,000,000. In 1904 it was $239,000,000.

In the equalization of assessments as between counties, also, the new Constitution did not prove to be a perfect success. The Supreme Court stripped the Board of Equalization of some of the power which it had been supposed it possessed and which it attempted to exercise. It can raise or lower the county rolls only as a whole and can not distinguish between different classes of property, although one may have been assessed too high and another too low. Yet the total assessed value of property in the State has continued to increase slowly with the growth in population and wealth, but real estate and improvements bear 85 per cent of the burden. The total assessed value of money and solvent credits is only $42,000,000, which represents, of course, but a small portion of the true amount of this kind of property in the State.

Amendments to the Constitution.—Since 1880 the Constitution has been often amended, but most of the amendments of the article upon taxation have been in the direction of exemption. Fruit trees and grapevines of a certain age, household goods of the value of a hundred dollars, church buildings, the property of several educational and scientific institutions, and State and Municipal bonds have been relieved of tax burdens. But while all of these amendments taking property off the assessment roll have been adopted, there have been no amendments to put any on, nor has any change been introduced in the Constitution which would make the system more elastic or give the Legislature greater power over the subject-matter. This is the most serious fault of the Constitution in so far as it relates to taxation; the system was finished when the Constitution was adopted; it has not been capable of growth. In other States the Legislatures improve the plan of taxation from time to time as experience suggests changes; their revenue laws, as they stand, have been a gradual evolution. But in California no changes of importance can be made because of conflict with the constitutional scheme.

In the convention which framed this Constitution there were a minority of men who foresaw that a scheme of taxation so rigid as this would not be permanently satisfactory, and they argued in favor of vesting considerable discretion in the Legislature. One of those who took this view was the eminent lawyer, Samuel M. Wilson, one of the master minds of the convention, although in this instance his counsel was not followed. Mr. Wilson on one occasion, said:

"Government is a complex piece of machinery, and runs only at great expense. The true question, then, is this: What is the best system of taxation for the support of the government? In every State in the Union, with the exception of the instances mentioned by the gentlemen here, the matter of taxation is left to legislative discretion, with only certain broad principles on the subject laid down in the Constitution. In some few States the Constitution fixes the objects and subjects of taxation, and makes it mandatory upon the Legislature. In most cases it is left to the Legislature to select the objects and subjects on which taxes should be levied consistent with the general principles of equality and uniformity—the tax being upon property and not upon persons. The Legislature should have this discretionary power. My individual opinion is that the Constitution should only prescribe that all real estate and all tangible property shall be taxed, and that such taxation shall be according to value, and that the Legislature should have, beyond that, the power and discretion of imposing any other tax that it might see fit, except a capitation tax. Then the Legislature, in its discretion, could enact a stamp tax, a tax upon incomes, or a tax upon anything else, according to the necessities of the State at the time. That would be justice to all, and would leave it more elastic—in a better condition and more in accordance with the general principles prevailing in all of the States of the Union."

And Mr. Wilson added another valuable suggestion when he said: "It is not necessary to equal and uniform taxation that it should be universal."

It is worthy of note that the States in which the revenue laws are to-day in the most satisfactory shape are those in which there have been the fewest constitutional restrictions upon the power of the Legislature, nor does there appear to be any serious complaint that this power has been used to discriminate unfairly against any class of taxpayers. Experience and reason alike justify the belief that legislative control over the method of levying taxes would no more be taken advantage of to oppress or to destroy than are the large powers in other directions which the Legislature possesses. No Legislature could afford, as a matter of mere political expediency, to do injustice to such a large class of persons, or important business interests, as it would do by adopting an unjust tax law. It is a striking fact that it is in the States such as New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Ohio, in which the business interests are strongest, that the most advanced methods of taxing corporations have been adopted, and after business has had a little time to adjust itself to these new forms of taxation, they excite no great opposition.

Other State Revenue Systems.—The States which have effected a complete, or almost complete, separation of their State and local revenue systems are New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Delaware. These five States are able to dispense with a general property tax for State purposes because they have obtained in other ways sufficient revenue to meet their needs. This they have not accomplished at a single stroke, but usually by successive additions to their laws. It is about twenty years ago that the first step was taken in New York, although the greater number of the new features have been added recently. Pennsylvania, which has not taxed real estate and improvements for State purposes for many years, has been still longer in developing her plan of taxation. New York's constitution contains nothing requiring that taxation shall be uniform, or equal, or in proportion to the value of the property assessed, while the Pennsylvania constitution contents itself with saying that taxation shall be uniform upon the same classes of subjects and shall be levied by general laws.

These States, however, are only a few of those which have made notable progress in the same direction. Ohio has recently adopted a corporation tax law which has made it possible to reduce the rate of the general property tax one half. Minnesota has reduced the same tax to 10 cents on $100. Wisconsin has come so near to eliminating the ad valorem tax that only a small part of her revenue is raised by it, and the rate is 15 cents on the $100. Massachusetts raises half, or more than half, of her revenue by indirect taxes. Maine is working along similar lines. Maryland raises only a third of her revenue by ad valorem taxes, and West Virginia but one fourth. The old State of Virginia has recently adopted a new revenue law which embodies a number of modern ideas. Tennessee secures from other sources than the general property tax considerably more than half of her revenue, and Missouri has made such progress that her last State tax rate was only 15 cents on $100. Michigan is making progress in the same general direction. One of the latest States to remodel its revenue laws with gratifying results is Colorado.

Amendments to the Constitution.—Since comparatively little can be done under the present Constitution to change the revenue laws, or to provide new sources of revenue, it follows that it is not necessary to decide at this time precisely what laws ought to be enacted. In a few ways—one of which I will mention a little later—some additional revenue may be provided. But any new system must wait upon constitutional changes. The essential thing, then, will be to propose the necessary constitutional amendments, the object of which shall be to give the Legislature some discretion to deal with the subject of State taxation. It should have authority to continue the general property tax for so long a time as may be needed to work up adequate revenues from other sources, and it should also have authority to discontinue this form of tax for State purposes when it is no longer necessary, and to separate State from local taxation. It should also be in the power of the Legislature to adopt such of the several alternative methods of taxing corporations as may seem most expedient. An essential part of the Legislature's authority should be to exempt from local taxation certain classes of subjects which may be specially relied upon to produce State revenue. But as the power of the Legislature over the whole matter of taxation is absolute, except as limited by constitutional restrictions, all of these objects could be easily accomplished by a few constitutional changes. The first and tenth sections of Article XIII are those which need to be especially considered.

Inheritance Taxes.—One of the forms of taxation, other than the general property tax, of whose legality under the present Constitution no fear need be felt, and with respect to which the present Legislature can legislate, is the inheritance tax, or, as it is sometimes called, the tax on transfers. I recommend to the Legislature that it give careful consideration to the question whether the application of the present law should not be extended, first, by taxing direct as well as collateral inheritances, and secondly, by making the tax progressive, as has been done in Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Wisconsin, and many other States.

The importance of this particular branch of the subject of taxation is such that it will justify consideration somewhat in detail. Since 1893, the year in which the California law was passed, the system of inheritance taxes has obtained great development in the United States and other countries, and the revenues derived from this source promise to be very important. In Great Britain, where the tax is levied for the benefit of the imperial government, 19 per cent of all the revenues, according to the latest available statistics, are the product of this form of taxation, and in the State of New York the income approaches five millions of dollars per year.

As a leading American writer on economics, Prof. E. R. A. Seligman, of Columbia University, remarks, "The inheritance tax to-day scarcely needs defense; it is found in almost every country, and the more democratic the country, the more developed the tax." Doubtless there are still theorists who regard such tax as an attack upon the established rights of property; but when, in a country where property rights are so firmly established as in England, the government claims the privilege of taking from estates of the largest size so much as 8 per cent; when in the republic of France the tax goes, in some instances, so high as 15 per cent; when in such old commonwealths as Pennsylvania, New York, and Massachusetts the system is in full operation; and when, finally, thirty States in all have adopted this tax, it can no longer be regarded as revolutionary, except in the sense that all progress is revolutionary.

The gradual extension of this tax is an illustration of the principle I have already mentioned, that the best systems of taxation are an evolution. Originally the inheritance tax applied only to collateral inheritances of personal property; then it was extended to real property; later New York enacted a direct inheritance tax law, and eventually the conservative State of Illinois made the tax progressive, i. e., increasing the rate in proportion to the amount of the estate. By the year 1900 ten States had imposed direct as well as collateral inheritance taxes, and during the next three years eleven other States had taken the same action. In each of the two other commonwealths on the Pacific Coast, Oregon and Washington, both direct and progressive taxation of estates has been enacted.

California's present law brings into the treasury a revenue ranging from $250,000 to $300,000 a year, which is doubtless considerably less than it would be if all the taxes due were collected. By the addition of a direct tax, the revenues could be greatly increased, and the collection of the tax made more certain. An excessive rate of tax should not be imposed on either direct inheritances or collateral inheritances, and the rate on the former is usually made less than on the latter. Also, there should be an exemption up to a liberal amount on inheritances going to widows or lineal descendants.

PUBLIC EDUCATION.

I think it is safe to say that there is no State in the Union that offers to its children any better educational advantages than does our State of California. Gauged by the monetary standard, California does much more for education than the average of her sister States. For, while all the States, including ours, pay, on the average, 16 per cent of the cost of their public-school systems, California, to her credit be it said, pays about 45 per cent of the cost of hers.

We had, in this State, in the last school year 407,398 children who ought to have been at school, as provided by law. In the public schools, however, there were but 298,520 enrolled. Of the remainder, it is estimated that 37,228 attended the various private schools, leaving 71,652 California children who, for one reason or another, did not attend school at all. While this number is, by comparison with other States, by no means excessive, it is too large for California. And there ought to be some means devised to reduce it greatly. For it is to the decided interest of the State to see to it that its children shall all receive, so nearly as may be possible, at least a common-school education.

Looking toward this end, California has been very liberal toward education. Last year she spent from the State fund $3,715,706 on the Primary and Grammar Schools. To the High Schools she contributed $232,336. To the five Normal Schools she gave $289,798. The Institution for the Deaf, Dumb, and Blind received $68,528 of State money. And to the University was given $621,363. Even the Farmers' Institutes received $3,000 to educate their members. So that it will be seen that, first and last, the State paid out of its treasury, last year, the very respectable sum of $4,930,781 for education. And when it is remembered that the average yearly income of the State from all sources is about $10,000,000, it will be seen that nearly one half thereof was spent last year for education.

The law provides that there shall be raised by taxation \$7 for every child of school age. Last year this required a tax levy of 17.8 cents per \$100 of assessed valuation throughout the State. On account of this law, the State tax must be increased by \$120,799 this year over what it was last year, because there were 17,257 more children of school age last year than there were the year before. This will compel an increase of about one cent in the tax levy automatically fixed by law, providing the assessed valuation of State property shows no great increase. The University also receives, under the law, 2 cents on every \$100 of assessed valuation; and the High Schools receive $1\frac{1}{2}$ cents on the \$100; making in all 22.3 cents on the \$100 required for education out of a total State tax rate averaging something over 50 cents on the \$100.

The Compensation of Teachers.—It requires nearly 8,000 teachers to carry on the Primary and Grammar Schools of this State. And it is only with great difficulty that boards of education and school trustees are able to find enough teachers to supply their wants. There appear to be at least two reasons for this dearth of available teachers. In the first place, we require more preparation from teachers than we did a few years ago. This is a good thing, because, like doctors and lawyers, our school teachers should be well educated in their profession. The other reason for the dearth of teachers is that the pay offered them is not sufficient to induce very many persons to devote their lives to teaching. We can not expect that men and women will spend years of time and large sums of money to prepare themselves for a profession in which it is possible for them to receive only meager salaries, without the possibility of increased pay as experience and devotion, in other walks of life, provide. Therefore, our young men, especially, do not become teachers, and our young women, in too many instances, look upon teaching as an expedient which will enable them to live until something more alluring calls them from the schoolroom.

In line with this there is a widespread discussion among the teachers and those who are non-professionally interested in education looking toward an increase in teachers' salaries. To do this it is proposed, by some, to raise the State school-census per capita from $7 to $9. As there were last year, as before stated, 407,398 census children in the State, this raise of $2 per child would call for an increase in the State taxes of $814,796 per annum for the next two years (involving an increase of about 5 cents in the annual tax levy)—a sum altogether too great to raise by State taxation under present conditions, and the demand for which would not be so pressing if the State School Fund were distributed in such a manner as to do the greatest possible good.

Distribution of State Aid.—This brings me to another matter connected with the salaries of our school teachers to which, during the past year, I have given considerable attention. And that is the manner in which, under our present law, the State money is distributed to the teachers. I find, for instance, that last year the teachers of Alpine County each received \$249 of the State's money, and that the teachers of San Francisco each received \$783 from the State Treasury; while, between these two limits, the State's money was distributed in varying amounts to the teachers in the various counties—those of no two counties receiving the same amounts. As a result of this, I found also that, in addition to the State School Fund tax, which all counties pay alike, the counties were compelled to tax themselves at rates varying from $\frac{6}{8}$ cents to 50 cents on the \$100 to sustain the county end of the school burden. And it appears, too, that in several instances the poorest counties are compelled to tax themselves the heaviest to raise county school funds. Mono County, for instance, is compelled to put on a county school tax of 50 cents per \$100, the limit allowed by law, to raise, in addition to what the State gives her, enough money to carry on her public schools. San Francisco, however, on the other hand, had to impose only a $\frac{6}{8}$ -cent county tax rate to add to the money she received from the State.

So we have these rather anomalous conditions: (1st) the poorer and more sparsely settled counties of the State, as a rule, get less of the State's money per teacher than do the rich and thickly settled counties, the amount varying between \$249 in Alpine County and \$783 in San Francisco; (2d) we find that the poor and sparsely settled counties have to pay, in common with all the other counties, a fixed tax into the State Treasury—last year this tax was $17\frac{1}{2}$ cents per \$100 assessed valuation. In addition to that, the poor counties have to raise, relatively, very large county funds to eke out the school money they receive from the State. Mono County, for instance, paid $67\frac{1}{2}$ cents last year to support the schools; while San Francisco paid but $24\frac{1}{8}$ cents; and the school expenses of the different counties varied between these two extremes.

There are many other and equally curious inequalities in the manner in which, under our present law, the State money is distributed to the counties. But the preceding are fair samples of the others, and I will not give any more of them.

These inequalities are the result of the manner in which the law provides the State money shall be distributed to the counties. Therefore, I think the law ought to be changed so that the State's money shall be distributed more equitably. It does not appear to me to be exactly fair that Alameda County, for instance, should receive $579 per teacher of the State's money, while Alpine should receive from the same source but $249 per teacher; El Dorado, $268; Inyo, $275, Lake, $311; Lassen, $299; San Diego, $233; Plumas, $238, and Mariposa, $310.

It seems to me, therefore, and I so recommend to the Legislature, that there ought to be a complete revision of the method whereby State's school money is distributed to the counties, to the end that a more equitable division thereof may be made.

Normal Schools.—In spite of the fact (more probably by reason of it) that the requirements for admission to and graduation from the Normal Schools have been raised during the past two years, the number of graduates therefrom has not decreased. On the other hand, however, the teachers graduated from the Normal Schools have improved in efficiency and capability—both of which qualities are greatly to be desired. And it is to be hoped that, before many years, the Normal Schools will be, like the various schools of medicine, law, and theology, strictly professional schools, in which only the theory and practice, and subjects closely allied thereto, of the profession of teaching shall be taught, leaving matters of general culture to the Public Schools, the High Schools, and the Universities.

The University.—In free higher, or University, education, California is not second to any State in the Union. With 2,400 undergraduates at Berkeley, and with schools of medicine, art, law, dentistry, veterinary medicine, the great Lick Observatory and the Wilmerding School of Mechanical Arts, so closely affiliated with it as to be practically, if not quite, parts of it, our State University takes rank among the greatest universities of the United States.

Leland Stanford Junior University is, next to our State University, also the object of our State educational pride. And, taken together, these two great institutions of learning place California in the front rank of States which foster the higher education.

The University of California gives to every aspiring, ambitious, determined young man or young woman, rich and poor alike, the opportunity to acquire an education which will benefit not only him or her, but also the State. And I think it may be safely stated that the State derives its greatest benefit and return from the money it invests in the University from those students whose pecuniary means would not allow them to graduate from it were it not a free institution. In fact, I have in mind a classmate of mine, who worked his way through the University, and, by means of the free education he there received, was enabled to perfect certain mining processes which, in themselves, have saved to the State of California many times the whole cost of the University.

It is to be hoped that the people of the State will continue to have that love for the University, of which they are now possessed. And it is also to be hoped that the University will, in its turn, not forget that it owes everything to the State, and that it will continue to earn and deserve the good will of the people who so cheerfully support it.

WATER AND FOREST INVESTIGATIONS.

Public sentiment in California favors a broad policy in the development of the resources of our great State. We should not be afraid to make investments on which the returns may be delayed beyond the immediate present. It is our duty to be State builders, not only that we may enjoy the benefits of a wise foresight, but that our children's children may be sharers in such rewards.

California is full of undeveloped resources and our continued prosperity is dependent upon their continued development. Unfortunately, there are certain of our resources which are menaced with waste if not with destruction, and an intelligent self-interest demands that we pursue such a course of action as will conserve them.

The Federal Government has entered upon a liberal policy in regard to the development of the West by the reclamation of arid lands, and California can well afford to meet these advances half way by cooperating with the National Government in measures designed for the benefit of our people.

In this belief, the last Legislature passed an Act appropriating $80,000, to be expended in conjunction with, at least, an equal sum appropriated by Congress for the purpose of making investigations into our water and forest resources. We were offered the services of the experts employed by the United States Geological Survey and Department of Agriculture in making these inquiries, with a prospect that the data secured might ultimately result in the expenditure in California of some of the millions which the enactment of the Arid Land Law made available for reclamation work. After less than two years of preliminary and collaborative work, it already appears that this expectation is to be abundantly fulfilled.

The Topographic branch of the United States Geological Survey has been engaged in mapping the Sacramento Valley and other important areas. This is considered to be the first prerequisite to a solution of irrigation and flood reclamation problems.

The Hydrographic branch of the Geological Survey has been conducting two especial lines of related work: Explorations and surveys of reservoir-sites and the gauging of the flow of streams. The first is a prerequisite for the conservation of waters, the second for determining the quantity of water to be conserved.

The United States Bureau of Forestry has carried on investigations covering twenty-one million acres of forest lands in California. The data obtained will be used in preparing forest maps, in determining what areas should be reserved by the National Government as a protection to the flow of streams, and in framing such a report as may form the basis for a State forest policy.

The fourth line of investigation carried on in collaboration with the United States Government is that of water distribution for agricultural purposes, and it is being conducted by the Department of Agriculture.

A Policy in Respect to Irrigation.—California has suffered much for want of a well-ordered and definitely settled policy for the use of water for irrigation. At the last session of the Legislature, efforts were made to secure an improved code of irrigation laws, but the draft of such a code submitted proved unsatisfactory to the Legislature, and one of the reasons why it was opposed was that the data on which it was based were inadequate. When the Department of Agriculture shall have completed the investigations in hand it can not be doubted that some Legislature in the near future will be in possession of the knowledge necessary for formulating a wise, beneficent, and just code of irrigation laws. Pending the completion of this investigation, it may be well for the Legislature to refrain from attempting irrigation legislation of a radical character.

At the recent meeting of the National Irrigation Congress in the city of El Paso there was adopted a resolution favoring coöperation between the Reclamation Service of the Federal Government and State and local authorities in the planning and execution of irrigation works which are undertaken by districts organized under general laws, and the proposal seems a practical one.

Large Enterprises Undertaken.—There is reason to hope that, with the powerful aid of the Federal Government, reservoirs for the impounding of flood and irrigation waters will be constructed on a scale of magnitude that will insure the reclamation of great areas otherwise doomed to partial if not total aridity. "It is believed," declares one of the Government experts employed in this work, "that the Sacramento Valley is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, latent opportunities for irrigation development in arid America."

Much success has attended the effort to find reservoir sites in northern California, and such as have been found on government land have been withdrawn from entry. The greatest of these projects is one to utilize Big Valley on Pit River, which, if dammed to a height of 110 feet, would afford the enormous impounding capacity of 3,200,000 acre-feet, or sufficient to cover that number of acres with water to the depth of one foot. The total aggregate capacity of all the reservoir sites so far surveyed in northern California is 4,800,000 acre-feet.

At the extreme southeastern and extreme northeastern ends of our State two reclamation enterprises of great extent are proposed. One of these is for the irrigation of more than 300,000 acres of land situated near the Colorado River, and for this an allotment of $3,000,000 has been obtained from the National Reclamation fund.

The other undertaking, one to which legislative attention will doubtless be invited, is likely to prove still more remarkable and important. The Klamath basin, situated partly in California and partly in Oregon, contains several lakes and both overflowed and arid districts. A way has been found so to increase the flow of the Klamath River as to drain two important lakes and reclaim to cultivation the greater part of their areas. To do this the consent of both California and Oregon will be needed.

It is proposed that California shall cede to the National Government her interests in the lands which will be laid bare by the lowering of the water in the lakes; but as these lands will be sold only to actual settlers and the proceeds used, together with other funds, to meet the expenses of the undertaking, it would seem that this State can well afford to give its assent if Oregon will do likewise, as it is believed that it will. There are 300,000 acres, two thirds in California and one third in Oregon, which, it is claimed, can thus be reclaimed and irrigated. To accomplish this it will be necessary to draw water from Upper Klamath lakes in Oregon to irrigate lands in California and, likewise, from Clear Lake—a smaller body of water lying to the east of Rhett Lake, in California—to irrigate lands across the line in Oregon. The different levels of the lakes relative to the areas they are expected to irrigate make necessary this reciprocal arrangement, and it can not be doubted that the two commonwealths ought to coöperate heartily in what is likely to prove so great a common advantage.

Forestry Legislation.—It is well known that the cutting of large areas of timber, and the purchase by speculators of still larger areas, with the presumed intent of felling and marketing the lumber product, threaten the premature exhaustion of one of California's most precious resources. In view of these facts, California could have entered upon no wiser course than it did in providing for the serious study of her forest problems.

Our civilization rests upon the right of the individual to have and to hold property, real, personal, and mixed. This right needs to be jealously guarded and yet such rights are not recognized as absolute. Each owner must "so use his own as not to injure another's property." Especially is it true that no individual or generation of individuals can be permitted to destroy an inheritance. Regard must be had for the welfare of generations yet unborn. We, who are here now, will in time pass away, but the commonwealth of California will endure, and it is for an enduring commonwealth, rather than for a present generation, that you gentlemen are called together in order that you may legislate.

There will be laid before you a carefully drawn bill providing for a definite forest policy for California. Without venturing to pass upon its merits in advance of thorough public and legislative discussion, I commend it to your careful consideration. The coöperative forestry work carried on during the last two years by the State in collaboration with the United States Bureau of Forestry has proven highly beneficial in an educational sense, and I respectfully recommend that it be carried on for two years more under the same arrangement.

In fact, I am led to hope that the obtaining of expert knowledge as to how to deal with forestry problems, including the prevention of forest fires and the rehabilitation of deforested areas, and the giving of a wide publicity to that knowledge, may, of itself, go far toward evolving a useful, though voluntary, policy of forest preservation.

In the event that the Legislature is unable to see its way clear to adopt a perfected forest-preservation policy at this time, may it not be wise to attempt at least tentative legislation looking to that end?

THE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE.

The extension of the work of the College of Agriculture of the University is a subject which will probably engage the attention of this Legislature, as it engaged that of the last. The importance of agricultural education is now recognized everywhere, even in quarters where it would have received little consideration a few years ago; and increased provision for such education is being made in all the great States, the leading industries of some of which have been reorganized and made more profitable than ever through the work of agricultural scientists.

No other State, perhaps, has in this subject so deep an interest as California, whose products, soils, and climates are so varied, and whose special problems are so numerous. The successful employment of irrigation and the growing of the specialized crops, which the local conditions make possible, call for a higher standard of scientific information among tillers of the soil than is requisite for the production of ordinary staples in other sections of our country. While the holding of Farmers' Institutes and the publication of bulletins from the State Agricultural College may considerably inform the adult farming population, there is a growing feeling among thoughtful persons that our educational system should be the means of rearing up a generation of young persons attracted by intelligent interest to agricultural pursuits.

Already the State has profited largely by the investigations and experiments conducted by the College of Agriculture, which has done a great deal of valuable research-work and has educated a number of specialists of high standing. The equipment of the college in buildings and facilities, however, is inadequate to meet the demands laid upon it.

But the enrollment of students in the College of Agriculture falls below the enrollment in other colleges, and this has led to the complaint that, however successful in scientific researches, the institution has not been doing the work it should along the lines of practical instruction. The lack of a farm as an adjunct to the University has been the main reason for whatever failure there may have been in this direction, for farming can only be taught on the farm. Neither is there any opportunity to have a farm in close proximity to the University at Berkeley, and this is a misfortune, since to have the farm at a distance from the University involves an increase of expense and other disadvantages. The time has arrived, however, when a farm should be acquired, and it should be found in a region where the soil and climate are fairly typical of our largest agricultural areas. The locality should be one carefully selected with a view to working out the various problems in agronomy, horticulture, dairying, animal industries, and other branches of farming.

But wherever the farm is located, and whatever the course of instruction established thereon, there should be no separation from University control, the experience of other States showing that the duplication of courses and conflicts of interests where colleges of agriculture and State universities are independent of each other are bound to be injurious to both. Neither are the so-called colleges of agriculture which are conducted apart from universities generally successful in attracting large numbers of students in agriculture, the engineering and other scientific courses usually leading in popularity the purely agricultural courses. Concentration, not dispersion, is the true educational policy, and in no educational field is it more necessary to bear this in mind than in agricultural instruction, which, on account of the equipment required, is confessedly more expensive than almost any other.

In what way the courses of instruction on the farm can best be organized is a question that must be determined when the time comes, but it is likely that they will be largely popular in character. They must be so if they are to draw large numbers of students, for in no agricultural college or department is the number of full four-year course men very large, while the most successful schools of agriculture and the short courses draw many students, and meet the needs of a majority of those who will become actual farmers.

THE HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE.

The burden of the expense of caring for the insane in the State hospitals, which amounts now to about $900,000 per annum, has been growing year by year, and will, of course, continue to grow with the increase of population; but there is hope that hereafter it will grow at a less rapid rate than formerly. There has been a material falling off in the average annual rate of increase of patients, due not to fewer admissions, but to a larger number of deaths and discharges. The increased number of deaths is explained by the greater average age of the patients, while the more numerous discharges may be explained in part by more successful treatment, resulting in more recoveries, and in part by a change of administrative methods. A factor of considerable importance is the legalization of the parole system under the new law. There are now from two to three hundred patients out on parole all the time, and many of the discharges are made from among those whose fitness to go at large has first been tested in this manner.

The establishment of the Commission in Lunacy, seven years ago, did much to give the State a definite and permanent policy in the conduct of its hospitals. Previous to that time each of the five hospitals was governed entirely by its own board of trustees, and no matter how faithful the members of these boards might be, there could not be the same system in the management of the institutions as if there were supervision by a common authority. This the Commission in Lunacy has established, and the effect of its careful revision of estimates and scrutiny of accounts may be seen in the fact that since it was created there has never been a deficiency in the support fund of any one of the hospitals.

In future, if present policies continue to prevail, there will be an avoidance of both an increase in the number of hospitals and of the erection of very large buildings in addition to the accommodations of existing hospitals. Cottages can be built for the patients at less per capita cost, and this method of housing them is more in accord with the current medical opinion of what is most desirable. A number of cottages have already been constructed by applying to this use the contingent funds of some of the hospitals, and others will be provided for in the same way.

In the direction of specialization in the treatment of the insane, the principal innovations are the proposed hospital for the criminal insane, the erection of which at Folsom, after an appropriation had been made, was necessarily postponed on account of an unfortunate oversight committed in drawing the statute; the establishment of a separate department, in two detached buildings, at Agnews, for the acutely insane, and the adoption of the tent plan at Ukiah for the insane who are afflicted with tuberculosis. In each of these instances, the new departure is in a direction which is sanctioned by the best authority. The acutely insane can be treated with more hope of cure if cared for under the special conditions best adapted to them, and tent accommodations for the tuberculous insane are deemed the most healthful.

The collections on account of pay-patients are more closely made than formerly, through the methods introduced by the Commission in Lunacy. It was also owing to the Secretary of that body that a very serious shortage in the accounts of a former clerk in the Southern California State Hospital was discovered, and since then a checking system has been devised which is expected to remove the opportunities for such frauds.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

Having been either a member of or greatly interested in the National Guard of California since 1872, a period of over thirty-two years, and having risen in it from the lowest to the highest rank, I think I can reasonably say that I have some knowledge of it.

Upon the proper support of the National Guard of the various States depends, to a very great extent, the safety of this nation, in its relations with foreign powers. For, in the event of a foreign war, it is necessary for the United States to have an army either for foreign service or to repel invasion. If there were no National Guard, it would be necessary for the Government to do either one of two things, viz., to support a large standing army, or to rely upon raising the necessary volunteer armies from a raw, untrained, undrilled, undisciplined people. A large standing army is, for many reasons, undesirable. On the other hand, to rely upon raising, equipping, drilling, and disciplining, out of totally inexperienced volunteers, an army to fight against the trained troops of other nations would be disastrous.

In the late war with Spain it was demonstrated that the National Guard can be depended on to fight our country's battles. The First California (to take an example with which we are all familiar) took the field reasonably well armed, equipped, drilled, disciplined, officered, and rendered service that made us all proud of every man on its roster.

An Army Quickly Recruited.—To have newly recruited this regiment out of totally inexperienced volunteers would have required several weeks. To have officered, armed, equipped, drilled, disciplined it, would have required many more weeks; and, in the meantime, disaster might have resulted to our cause. But with many National Guard regiments, like the First California, from the various States, to draw from, the United States was able quickly to put into the Philippines and Cuba armies which brought the war to a swift decision in our favor, saved many, many lives, which, with a long-drawn struggle would have been sacrificed, to say nothing of the millions of treasure that, otherwise, would have been necessary and the disturbance of business and trade that would have resulted.

Where would we have been in that war, had we not had a navy with Dewey, Schley, and Sampson in command? We could neither have beaten Spain nor invaded Cuba nor the Philippines, even had we the best army in the world. And, without our National Guard, from which quickly to form armies of invasion, Dewey's victory at Manila Bay and Sampson's and Schley's destruction of Cervera's fleet would have netted us only a modicum of what resulted from our swift and sure attacks on sea and land.

Therefore, I am of the opinion that those of our fellow-citizens who deprecate the existence of the National Guard, and would abolish it, have not given the matter sufficient thought.

Our flag, our national honor, our citizens, and our trade and commerce must be protected. To do this requires a navy and either a great standing army (which God forbid!) or a sufficient number of our people trained quickly to form efficient armies. And there is, I think, but one way to do this, and that is by supporting, encouraging, and maintaining State National Guards, in which shall be preliminarily trained in the art of war the youth of the country.

The Value of Discipline.—Not only so, but there is great need that the youth of the country shall be taught discipline and a cheerful obedience to constituted authority. For in our Land of Liberty there is liable to arise in the mind of the individual an idea that he owes nothing to his fellow-citizens, his city, his county, his State, his country, or his flag. No other where than in the National Guard is the individual so well taught to respect the authority of those who, for the moment, may be his superior officers. No other where than in the National Guard does he come into such close contact with the flag of his country, and learn to look upon it as the symbol of his political and personal liberties. No other where does he so well learn that "in union there is strength," that he is one American citizen, whose life, liberty, pursuit of happiness, and property are safest only when those of all his fellow-citizens are also safest. He comes out of the National Guard a better, safer citizen, loving his country better; more jealous of, because he knows them better, his rights and privileges as a citizen of this great nation; more impressed with, because he has learned something of them, his responsibilities toward those who, like him, are also Americans; with greater respect for the law and those empowered to enforce it, and, above all, impressed with the idea that, after all, there is no greater, purer, more patriotic duty than to serve his country in her hour of greatest need.

Therefore, I am of the opinion that it is the duty of every American citizen, who loves the flag and our institutions, to encourage every young man to become a member of the National Guard, and thus somewhat fit himself to defend his flag and his country if the occasion should require. And I have but little sympathy with those who, from shortsightedness, ignorance, or any other cause, desire to see it abolished. And, therefore, I recommend to the Legislature to provide a sufficient sum for the support and maintenance of the National Guard of California, and to render it, already reasonably efficient, still more so.

THE PRISONS AND THEIR NEEDS.

At the last session of the Legislature there were submitted several committee reports upon the condition of the two State prisons, and in one of these, which was made by a select committee of the Assembly, the following language was employed:

"Our two prisons are no credit to the State. California boasts its place in the front rank of States, but her prisons lag a generation behind the better class of Eastern penitentiaries. The two prisons are schools of vice and universities of crime. * * * Boys and young men, guilty of one offense against the laws, but not yet hardened in crime, are sent to these prisons not to be reclaimed, but to be systematically seduced and debased by utterly degraded convicts. Associated for a term of years with men whose villainy is their boast, young men graduate from these institutions fully equipped enemies of society. Thus the State trains its criminals. * * * The responsibility of this great wrong rests primarily not with the Wardens, nor with the Board of Prison Directors, but upon the people of California, who have followed a false idea of economy and, steeped in neglect of public affairs, have failed to find means for the proper conduct of these institutions."

If this language is to be regarded not as rhetorical exaggeration, but as expressing the deliberate judgment of the legislators who framed the official report quoted from, it constitutes a serious arraignment of the prisons in which the State now confines twenty-four hundred convicts. Yet this report does not differ greatly from a number of other reports, which, from time to time, have been presented by Senate and Assembly committees and by investigating commissions. There are no other State institutions which have been so often investigated and for whose betterment so many recommendations have been made, and yet the progress of improvement has been very slow.

The main defects of our prison system—which may be summed up as lack of classification and segregation of the convicts, lack of cell and yard accommodations, and lack of intelligent adaptation of means to ends in reformatory treatment—have been not only recognized but quite well understood for a long time. They were pointed out by a Joint Senate and Assembly Committee in 1872—thirty-three years ago—as clearly as by the committee of 1903 whose report I have already quoted, and the most important recommendation recently made by the State Board of Charities—which was that one of the prisons be converted into a reformatory—was anticipated as long ago as 1876, when a legislative committee reported sentimentiously: "Establish a reformatory in connection with the State prison at as early a day as possible."

Indeed, it seems to have been one of the original ideas with which Folsom Prison was established that either it or San Quentin would be made a prison for first offenders and conducted on reformatory lines, while the other would be used for the isolation and punishment of hardened criminals. Yet, disregarding the opportunity, which the existence of two prisons has given for differentiation in their uses, we have gone on for thirty years committing young and old, confirmed recidivists and first offenders, indiscriminately to both prisons, thereby helping to make both "schools of vice and universities of crime." This long persistence in a radical error, when it could have been avoided by a simple change in the law, appears, like some other things in the history of our dealings with penal problems, not to reflect credit upon our intelligence. In the past there has been a vast amount of talk about the defects of our prison system, and, as I have already shown, there has been no real difference of opinion in regard to the things to be done; it has only been when it came to the essential matter of doing them that a paralysis has fallen upon us. But has not the time at last arrived when there should be action, and not much else? It would seem so when we contemplate the fact that the two prisons have, combined, but 878 cells and rooms for nearly 2,400 prisoners, and that at San Quentin the herding in the restricted yard is almost as bad as the overcrowding in the sleeping quarters.

Appropriations for Prison Buildings.—The main reason for delay in improving the condition of the prisons has been, as the Assembly committee reported two years ago, that of expense. Money in liberal sums has been appropriated for support, and occasionally, when forced so to do by the absolute necessity of the situation, the Legislature has provided means to expand prison accommodations; but appropriations of the latter class have always been so long delayed that when finally furnished they have not made the facilities equal to the demands upon them. If the grossest forms of vice run riot in the prisons, it is because the deficient cell accommodations render herding necessary, and the obvious remedy is to give each prisoner his separate cell. If no educational work worthy of the name is done in either prison, it is because the lack of facilities puts it out of the question.

The most memorable event of the past two years was the outbreak of July 27, 1903, at Folsom, when the Warden and other officers were overpowered, one officer was killed and thirteen prisoners escaped, they afterwards killing two members of a military company who were trying to effect their capture. This deplorable affair, which cost the State dear in money and dearer in the lives of citizens, may also be attributed to lack of a properly executed building plan, since such an emeute would have small chance for success in a well-walled and well-arranged prison.

With regard to the futile attempt to escape which was made a few days since by a number of desperate convicts, who paid dearly for their temerity, it can only be said that under different circumstances it might never have been made, and that its speedy frustration shows that the discipline and effectiveness of the prison forces have been greatly improved during the last year and a half.

It is not a pleasant duty to recommend the expenditure of large sums of money upon State prisons. It is natural to feel that money will be better spent in supporting schools and colleges, or in building public highways, or in any one of a dozen other ways. Nevertheless, it is a short-sighted policy, because in the long run a very costly one, to support prisons which foster crime rather than abate it, and enlightened statesmanship demands that California shall do what other States have done, and spend money enough upon the prisons to equip them properly. I feel it my duty to say that the present session of the Legislature ought not to close without a substantial beginning having been made in the necessary work of prison reform.

It is the judgment of the Board of State Prison Directors, as expressed to me, that building improvements should be commenced at once at both prisons and continued until the present and immediately prospective prison population has been fully provided for. Folsom Prison should also be supplied with a wall, as contemplated by the original plans. Nearly all the work on buildings and wall can be performed with convict labor, and the cost can be kept down accordingly. At Folsom, where granite is abundant, the new cell-house can be constructed of that material, and the wall also. If the cost of transportation would not be too great, granite could also be quarried there for the new buildings at San Quentin. But there must be a liberal appropriation for the purchase of materials other than stone, and for the incidental expenses of building.

How soon it will be possible to convert one of the two prisons into a reformatory depends largely upon the progress of the necessary reconstruction, which must precede everything else. It would be well, however, for the Legislature to reach a decision as to which of the two prisons shall become the reformatory and which shall remain an ordinary penitentiary, as, until that question is settled, a proper building plan can not be adopted.

The Problem of Prison Industries.—Only second to the reformation problem in our prisons is the industrial one. California has been less fortunate than Missouri, Minnesota, and a number of other States which make their prisons self-supporting, or even operate them at a profit; nor is it to be expected such results can be achieved under the conditions prevailing here. Indeed, it is doubted by many if anywhere the operation of a prison at a profit is consistent with the highest regard for the interests of the prisoners or of the public. But Folsom Prison has no productive industry except the crushing and sale of macadam rock, which has returned a profit of only a few thousand dollars a year, and even this business is now threatened by the exhaustion of the quarry.

The strongest argument for the establishment of a prison at Folsom was the industrial one, since it was anticipated that the granite quarries would be the basis of a remunerative industry. This expectation was never fulfilled, the sales of granite in former years seldom exceeding $10,000 per annum and never going above $21,000. For some years the sale of prison-cut granite has been forbidden by law. If new buildings and a wall are constructed, the employment problem will solve itself for some time to come, but eventually a new industry, or industries, must be found for this prison. At San Quentin the jute mill gives employment to about 800 of the 1,500 prisoners, and runs at a profit, ordinarily, of $40,000 or $50,000 a year.

It costs the State about $250,000 annually to maintain its prisons, and it is desirable that the prison earnings should be as large as they can properly be made, in order that the taxpayers may be spared, but profit does not appear to have been considered desirable when the laws fixing prices of prison products were framed. The selling price of jute bags must be not more than one cent per bag in excess of actual cost, not counting the value of convict labor, and macadam rock is to be sold at not more than ten per cent above the cost of production. The price actually charged is thirty cents per ton. A valid objection to this policy is that it renders it impossible to afford prisoners an opportunity to earn a little money on their own account, which they may save and receive when they are discharged, and thus go out with some experience of the habits of voluntary industry and thrift.

It seems probable that the best solution of the prison labor problem will be found in the New York system of manufacturing necessary articles for State institutions, whereby employment can be diversified, and at the same time direct competition with free labor be avoided.

WHITTIER AND PRESTON SCHOOLS.

These two schools constitute the present reformatory institutions of California, as distinguished from the penal. There is some increase in numbers of the youths committed, but not out of proportion to the numerical increase of the population of the State. Indeed, we may look with hopeful anticipation to a decrease in the number of commitments as our systems of juvenile courts, detention homes, and probation officers become more generally and efficiently organized. The aim of those in authority, and especially of parents, should be to keep children away from such institutions rather than to encourage their commitment. The best place for an erring, if not incorrigible or criminal, lad or lass is in the paternal home, or, lacking this, in the home of some reputable citizen possessed of a rugged will accompanied by reasonable forbearance. There are few higher claims which considerations of humanity impose upon good citizenship than that of redeeming to honorable and fruitful living our wayward youths and children.

If California is to perform this service collectively it must adequately capitalize and equip the institutions established for that purpose. This has not been fully done. The schools at both Lone and Whittier are inadequately supplied with teachers and apparatus, and it is my judgment that both of these schools should be made essentially agricultural in theory and in practice. It would be possible on the school farms as they now exist, with the proper instructors and equipment, to teach the lads committed to them at least the elements of scientific agriculture, including dairying, poultry-raising, fruit-growing, and market-gardening, and to these ends the industrial features should mainly tend. I believe that the most fortunate results would attend such a policy, but some additional means will be required to carry it out.

In relation to the redemption of wayward girls, I can not speak with so much confidence. That problem is essentially different from the reclamation of a wayward boy, and I am not sure that a public institution can bring to bear upon the subject in hand all those personal influences which make for the salvation of those under its charge. It may be that a better way would be to commit such young women to benevolent institutions provided for that purpose, choice to be made in the discretion of the court, the expense to be borne by State and county as now, such institutions to be subjected to State and judicial inspection. The expense to the taxpayers would be one half less per capita than at present, and the results are not unlikely to be more fortunate.

In the event of such a course being found advisable, the buildings now constituting the Girls' School at Whittier could be made available for boys of a certain grade, thereby facilitating a much needed further gradation and distribution of the boys with regard to their ages and degrees of delinquency.

Investigations at Whittier.—In the performance of its duties the State Board of Charities and Corrections recently made some investigations into the management of Whittier State School and reported its conclusions regarding certain charges, which I have since caused to be further investigated. I think that I can safely absolve the management from the implication of deliberate intent to convert public property to private and personal advantage, but a most unfortunate and regrettable laxness of method of doing public business has been made manifest in many ways. A seeming necessity, or even convenience, has prompted the evasion of laws and regulations in order that ends which could not be accomplished directly might be attained by indirection and circumvention. It is not a satisfactory excuse that all of these things were done for the benefit of the school, or of the pupils in the school, or that what was converted to private advantage in one instance was more than made good in another by personal service or personal expenditure. It is essential that the laws be obeyed and that those methods of doing business which time and custom have sanctioned as orderly and wise be followed without deviation.

It is not sufficient that a public official shall attend to public business as he would attend to his own. He must attend to public business as the laws require, and guard its details with a more exemplary circumspection.

PARDONS AND COMMUTATIONS.

Appended to this message will be found the list of pardons, commutations, and reprieves granted from January 7, 1903, to January 1, 1905, which are reported as required by law. As there stated, there have been eight pardons, twenty commutations, and fifteen reprieves. In all, two or three hundred clemency applications have been presented to me. Three of the pardons were granted to persons who had already served their terms of imprisonment and were free men when pardoned, the object being to effect their restoration to citizenship, they having shown themselves worthy of it. In this connection I suggest that Section 1593 of the Penal Code, which authorizes the Governor to grant restoration by a simple executive order to a prisoner who is about to be discharged, be so amended as to authorize restoration in a similar manner to one who after discharge has made a sincere effort to be a good citizen.

While the pardoning power is universally recognized as a necessary one, and has been provided for under all forms of government, the extent and manner of its exercise are matters concerning which much difference of opinion exists. In the view of one class of citizens, who usually have had little personal contact with crime or criminals, almost any interference with the full execution of sentences imposed by the courts is an evidence of weakness on the part of the executive, though it might be added that when persons of this class become interested in the case of a single lawbreaker, they become sympathetic to such a degree that they want him liberated at once, and can not understand why the Governor, who probably has received a hundred applications equally meritorious, should refuse such a request.

Some of the substantial reasons why pardons or commutations should be granted come to be understood by those who are brought into direct contact with the problems of practical penology either as Warden, Prison Director, or Governor. It is the testimony of all prison officials, I believe, that an occasional pardon or commutation, if given to the right person, is one of the most effective stimulants to discipline, because it keeps hope alive in the convict and gives him an incentive to good conduct. The same is true of the credit system, by which all convicts for terms of years can abridge their periods of confinement, and the parole system—two modifications of former laws which are among the most important advances in penology in California, although both Acts were severely criticised when passed.

Another good ground for the occasional extension of executive clemency is found in the number of instances in which judges write to the Governor to tell him they have discovered that they erred in fixing the degree of punishment for a crime. There are other instances of simple blunders such as are bound to occur everywhere in the administration of law. One man whose sentence I commuted had pleaded guilty to a felony, though, as was afterwards found, he could not have been guilty of a greater offense than misdemeanor. Again, several prisoners are now serving life sentences in this State because of an error in a statute which said that a person convicted of robbery who should have been previously convicted of a misdemeanor should be so punished, although the same requirement was not made where the previous conviction had been for felony. This peculiar blunder of the statute was corrected by amendment two years ago.

Yet, a Governor can not use the pardoning power to correct all the injustices of unequal sentences, even when their inequality is gross and palpable, though such inequalities are well understood by convicts and are a cause of much sullen discontent within prison walls. It is impossible that a Governor should undertake to review judicial proceedings and equalize all punishments, and more harm than good would result from the attempt to do it.

I have assumed that a conditional commutation, which will be a restraint upon future conduct, is better than a commutation which is unconditional, and, with this in mind, I have inserted in such documents a provision that if the person be subsequently convicted of felony he must serve out the unexpired portion of his former term of imprisonment, as well as his new one. This makes the commutation, or pardon, in effect, a kind of parole. This condition is one that has seldom, if ever, been attached to pardons or commutations of sentence in this State, but I believe the wisdom of it as a deterrent cannot be questioned. That this policy is not unreasonable, or mere surplusage, is confirmed in the case of William Grider, who received, for services rendered on the occasion of the Folsom break, a conditional commutation of sentence. A few months after his release he was again convicted of a felony and sentenced to a term in San Quentin Prison. The confidence reposed in him was misplaced, and he will be compelled to serve out the remainder of his old sentence as well as the sentence last imposed upon him.

AID TO DEPENDENT CHILDREN.

One of the largest, and at the same time most beneficent, expenditures of our State government is that for the partial support of orphans, half orphans and abandoned children. Wanting official machinery for a thorough State administration of this fund, it has been necessary mainly to depend for its proper distribution upon the good offices of the orphanages and boards of supervisors through whose hands it passes. I have every reason to believe that this trust is almost always conscientiously and efficiently executed; and yet this form of administration does afford some opportunity for persons actuated by the spirit of mendicancy to impose upon the State unnecessary burdens.

In dealing with this class of claims renewed efforts have been made, and are making, to eliminate from the roll all claims which represent an attempt to impose upon the public generosity, and I am glad to be able to say that substantial success is being attained in this direction. For the fifty-fifth fiscal year the expenditures under this head were $38,000 less than for the fifty-fourth. This saving represents the results of the investigations made, and new methods employed, by the late Walter S. Melick, Secretary of the State Board of Examiners, and to him the credit primarily belongs.

I am glad to say that, in most of the orphanages supported in part by this fund, attention is given to the elementary training in useful employments of the children, and I suggest to the Legislature that it might be well to couple with the appropriations a provision requiring all institutions drawing from this fund to give to children of sufficient age to receive it some form of useful industrial or manual training, the standard of instruction to be made satisfactory to the State Board of Examiners.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

The report of the State Board of Health shows that the health of the commonwealth has, during the year just closed, if not during the whole of the year preceding, been quite free from injurious distempers and malignant contagion. I take this occasion to call to the minds of legislators the urgent need for affording the State Board such added facilities for work as it may require.

I have also to congratulate the State of California upon the cordial and confidential relations existing between our State and Municipal boards of health and the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service of the United States and the boards of health of the several States of our Union. There was a time when California stood in imminent peril of being universally quarantined against because of the existence of a few sporadic cases of Asiatic plague. Rigid remedial measures have been instituted, confidence has been reestablished, and the business of the commonwealth has been allowed to proceed unhampered. The health of the people within the State and without was in nowise impaired by reason of an incident which, inasmuch as California ports are dealing constantly, directly and increasingly with Asiatic ports, constituted merely one of the drawbacks inseparable from commercial and maritime pursuits. The best safeguard our people can have against serious consequences resulting therefrom is to maintain a fully equipped system for the preservation of the public health and for the dissemination among our people of reliable and timely information.

PUBLIC POLICY IN RESPECT TO WATER FRONTS.

During the preceding session of the Legislature I felt compelled to veto a series of bills intended to modify the law to give railroads rights of way through overflowed and other public lands of the State. I believed the bills as passed did not sufficiently guard the State's interests, and hence acted as above stated, although at the time it was urged on behalf of the measures that as the law stands there is no way in which a transportation company can acquire the right to occupy overflowed State land within an incorporated city, or within three miles of it, to be used for necessary wharves, piers, and other structures. Some time afterward it was reported that overflowed land belonging to the State of California in Oakland harbor was being filled in and that the title might be claimed by a corporation which was understood to be paying a dredging contractor to deposit the spoil on this land.

I decided to ask the Attorney-General of the State for an opinion, and I requested him to make it broad enough to clear up most of the questions involving the State's rights in and control over water fronts. He was asked to state by what means, if any, a railroad corporation can acquire rights of way over property such as above described; also, if such rights can be acquired, by what tenure the land will be afterwards held, besides other questions. The object of this request for an opinion was to ascertain what the law is, with a view to the correction of defects, or the supplying of omissions, if either exist.

After some delay, due to the large amount of legal work which he is at all times called upon to attend to, the Attorney-General furnished me with an opinion, in which he treated the questions asked as relating particularly to the situation in Oakland harbor.

In answering the question first raised, the Attorney-General, after citing various authorities, said:

"The result of all this seems to be that there is no procedure laid down in the codes of California by which a railroad corporation may acquire a right of way for the location and maintenance of roadbeds, tracks, wharves, piers, slips, or terminal facilities over submerged lands beyond the corporate limits of the city of Oakland, which limits are the ordinary low-tide line, and that the only method left for such a corporation to pursue is to obtain a special grant from the Legislature."

If this state of facts obtains as to Oakland, it must also obtain as to any other city or town which is placed as Oakland is, and the need of a State policy in respect to water fronts appears to be indicated. Such a policy should be carefully considered, in order that laws framed in accordance with it may be liberal enough to encourage enterprise and yet conservative enough to prevent monopolization of valuable privileges and to protect the rights and interests of the State in water-front property. Commercial opportunities are beneficial only as they are utilized, and the building of wharves, piers, and docks promotes the general welfare. There should, therefore, be some well-guarded law under which the right to occupy submerged State land, within or near, incorporated cities, for these purposes may be facilitated and regulated.

As the lands under navigable water are held by the State only in trust, for the promotion of commerce, it can never entirely alienate such lands, and it is a question to be determined by the State government what the tenure of the occupants shall be. Some States, like the State of Washington, on this coast, and the State of Massachusetts, on the Atlantic coast, grant leases for long terms of years, and charge rentals. If legislation should be had on this subject, and it should be determined that the leasehold policy is the most expedient one for California, the rentals should not be fixed so high as to deter enterprise. The primary aim should be to develop commerce; the collection of revenue from this source, while desirable in itself, is secondary.

In referring to the filling in of State land by the deposit of dredgings, the Attorney-General expresses the opinion that lands raised above the water by artificial means are not subject to the principle that controls accretion, and no legal title can be based on such act.

PHARMACY BOARD INVESTIGATION.

Several newspapers having published articles making charges that the examinations of candidates for licenses by the State Board of Pharmacy were not fairly conducted, I decided to order an investigation. For this purpose, Hon. John F. Davis, Code Commissioner, Hon. G. R. Lukens, a member of the Senate, and Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals, were appointed a special commission, and instructed to inquire, in a general way, into all transactions of the Board. On August 15, 1904, the commission assembled in San Francisco, and began the investigation, which continued from day to day, until August 23d. The members of the Board of Pharmacy, a number of persons who had been candidates at recent examinations, and others were examined, and the report of the committee, with a transcript of the testimony taken, has recently been put in my hands.

In brief, the conclusions reached by the commission of investigation are that the State Board of Pharmacy has served the purpose of its creation by regulating the practice of the profession; that the charges made in the newspaper articles before referred to had little foundation so far as they alleged intentional unfairness or discrimination between different candidates; that, nevertheless, sufficiently strict regulations to exclude the possibility of improper practices at examinations had not been made and enforced; that it is a mistake to maintain the office of the Board of Pharmacy in the building of one of two rival colleges of pharmacy; that it is unjust, if not illegal, to collect, under the name of arrearages, a charge of $2 a year from former licentiates for all the years they may have been out of practice, or practicing in some other State, before they are allowed to recommence practice here, and, finally, that there are a number of amendments to the law which it would be very desirable to make.

JUDGMENTS AGAINST THE STATE.

In accordance with the law which prescribes that it shall be the duty of the Governor to report to the Legislature at each session, all judgments rendered against the State and not theretofore reported, the following list of judgments is submitted, all of them being "coyote scalp" cases:

From the report of the Attorney-General, I learn that a money judgment was finally obtained against the State in an action entitled Lucy Jane Harvey vs. Board of Trustees of Whittier State School et al., a suit which was instituted many years ago and was decided against the State in the lower court. An appeal was prosecuted, and on March 17, 1904, the Supreme Court affirmed the judgment. The action was one for damages on account of the violation of a lease, and the amount of the judgment is $1,035, with interest and costs. I am informed by the Board of Trustees of the Whittier School that there are no available funds from which this judgment can be paid, and that, in the opinion of said Board, an appropriation by the Legislature will have to be made to meet the same.

The only other actions in which judgments against the State have been affirmed are what are commonly known as the "coyote scalp" cases. The Superior Court for Sacramento County, in the year 1902, gave judgments against the State in some forty-six suits—the aggregate amount of the judgments being $212,720. At its last session the Legislature appropriated the sum of $204,610 to pay these judgments, the appropriations to be available January 1, 1905, provided that, at that time, the judgments should be standing, not reversed or vacated, and that no appeal should be pending.

The acts of appropriation passed by the Legislature in this form appeared to contemplate appeals to the Supreme Court, and I concurred in the opinion that the State should exercise its privilege of appeal, as any private individual would be likely to do. The appeal was taken, and was prosecuted to final judgment, stipulations being entered that the other cases should stand or fall with the appealed case. On September 19, 1904, the Supreme Court affirmed the judgment of the Superior Court in the case of Bickerdike vs. State, and in pursuance of the stipulation judgment in the other cases became final. As the appropriations were unavailable until January 1, 1905, the claimants suffered no delay in payment by reason of the appeals being taken.

The judgments which no appropriations were made to pay were for the following persons and amounts:

Abe Darlington.....	$165 00
John F. Pryor.....	3,350 00
C. A. Weaver.....	815 00
L. C. Waite.....	410 00
E. Weisbaum.....	2,085 00
N. Weisbaum.....	590 00
N. Weisbaum.....	640 00

EXTRADITION EXPENSES.

For a number of years the expense of arresting criminals without the State and returning them for trial has been increasing, while the appropriations have remained the same, being made at the rate of $2,500 per year. The consequence has been the incurring of deficiencies, which recently have tended to equal or exceed the amount of the appropriations.

I have endeavored to impress upon District Attorneys the advisability of refraining from making applications for extradition, except in cases of serious crimes, and upon sheriffs and police officers, acting as State agents, the necessity for rigid economy in their expense accounts. In cases which appeared unimportant I have refused to issue requisitions, and, in a few instances, I have issued requisitions only upon the condition that the arrest and return of the fugitive should be without expense to the State.

At the same time, it would be an encouragement to crime and to criminals not to send for murderers, forgers, and embezzlers who flee to other States, and the expense of doing this is properly a public one, which individuals or corporations can not be expected to assume. I respectfully recommend that the appropriation made for this purpose be increased to $10,000 for the next two years.

INSURANCE OF STATE PROPERTY.

One of the business practices of the State which is of questionable expediency is the refusal to insure its property (with some exceptions) against loss by fire. Because in former years abuses were discovered in connection with the placing of policies, the Legislature passed an Act prohibiting insurance, and it has remained the law for fourteen years. Moreover, the biennial appropriation bill usually contains a prohibition against the expenditure of any money to buy insurance.

Since the enactment of the law of 1891 the State has been fortunate in escaping any very heavy losses by fire; but buildings have burned, and there have been a number of narrow escapes from the destruction of some of the most expensive structures. During the past year one of the buildings of the Preston School of Industry was burned, causing considerable inconvenience, and if one of the larger and more costly State buildings, or one of the hospitals for the insane, should suddenly be swept away, the lack of insurance would make rebuilding a serious problem.

Whether it be wise to continue the prohibition of insurance is a question the Legislature might profitably consider; but should the prohibition be removed, it would be well to require the assent of the State Board of Examiners to each insurance policy accepted.

It may be that the conditions are such as to justify the State in carrying its own risks; but, at least, there should be some provision made to meet sudden calls for funds to make good losses sustained through fire. To that end, I recommend the establishment of an insurance fund to be made up of a moderate sum set apart from the proceeds of taxation each year. The State Board of Examiners might be authorized to invest this fund in the same class of securities in which the permanent school fund is invested, and also to sell these securities and apply the money to rebuilding when fires occur during a recess of the Legislature.

STATE BOARD OF CHARITIES.

The State Board of Charities and Corrections, which was created by the last Legislature, and given investigative and advisory authority, entered upon the discharge of its duties eighteen months ago. The members accepted the theory, as stated in their report, that their relations toward the various State institutions should be those of assistance and coöperation, rather than of criticism, and such shortcomings as they have discovered they attribute to inadequate facilities or other unpropitious conditions more than to the remissness of boards of directors or officers. A number of important recommendations for the improvement of the prisons and the Whittier and Preston schools have been made and may be found in their biennial report.

All of the county jails have been inspected by members of the board, and the discovery is reported that in many counties the State laws with respect to separate rooms for the confinement of different classes of prisoners, of children and adults, and of men and women, are being violated. On the other hand, the county hospitals, which, also, have been visited, are found to be in better shape and generally serve very well the purpose for which they were created, although these hospitals are not all equally good, and in many there is much room for improvement.

A census of the inmates of jails, hospitals, and infirmaries was made January 1, 1904, and another July 1 of the same year. It was found that at the date first mentioned the jails contained 1,886 persons, while six months later the number had been reduced to 1,256. This marked difference between the winter population of the jails, and that of the summer, emphasizes the conclusion announced by the board that some form of work ought to be found for county jail prisoners.

Of unfortunates condemned by poverty or old age and sickness to be inmates of hospitals and infirmaries, there are no less than 4,042 in the State, and they are divided between custodial and hospital cases in about the proportion of two to one.

THE CAPITOL AND THE ARCHIVES.

In the report of the Secretary of State attention is called to the necessity for making an appropriation which will render it possible to execute some of the needed repairs to the State Capitol. This is a noble building, and a great credit to earlier generations of Californians, but in its plumbing and heating systems it is sadly antiquated, besides being out of repair in a good many ways. The report of the State Board of Health declares the present condition of the building dangerous to the health of its inmates.

I wish also to indorse the suggestion of the Secretary of State that better facilities for the keeping and proper arrangement of the archives are urgently needed.

LABOR AND OTHER STATISTICS.

In the biennial report presented by the Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics will be found industrial and social data of a good deal of interest. It is shown, on the evidence of the figures of the last census, that the number of the unemployed is smaller in this State than the average in the country at large. In the cities there has been during the past several years a general shortening of the working day for mechanics and several other classes of employes, with an increase in pay. The number of women and children who are breadwinners is increasing in California as well as elsewhere, although the proportion of this class of workers is smaller than in other parts of the country. Labor organizations have increased rapidly during the last two years, and include now more than eight hundred unions, whose membership is estimated to be over 100,000.

A special report on workingmen and university education shows that the number of students in the University of California who are sons or daughters of wage-earners is large and that these students make a fine showing; they comprise 20 per cent of the intrants, 28 per cent of the graduates, and 32 per cent of the honor men.

I recommend that the scope of the statistical work done by this Bureau be enlarged sufficiently to enable it to collect statistics of marriage and divorce and also of crimes, which could be accomplished at small expense, by requiring the coöperation of county and city officers.

HORTICULTURAL INTERESTS.

I am glad to be able to say that the new Horticultural Commission law, which received my approval March 25, 1903, has proven effective for the purposes intended, and, with some possible additions of power and resource, bids fair to continue to meet all reasonable requirements.

Perhaps the most important horticultural fact yet brought to light is that predaceous insects, while in their native habitat and attended by their natural adversaries, are never or seldom so injurious to plant life as to make any form of husbandry unprofitable. It is only when one insect is imported without the company of its natural enemy that the balance of nature is disturbed and injury is inflicted upon agricultural and horticultural production.

To such advantage has this fact been employed in California, and mainly through the assiduous efforts of the State horticultural office, that the once dreaded San José scale is now rendered almost powerless for evil and the various forms of orange scale are fast disappearing from the orchards. It is a reasonable estimate that the Scutellista cyanea, which is cleaning the trees of black scale, has proven itself worth a round million dollars to our commonwealth, and it is hardly too much to say that the Vedalia cardalis rescued the great citrus fruit industry from imminent danger of destruction through the cottony cushion scale.

Through an arrangement effected by the Horticultural Commissioner with the government of West Australia, Mr. George Compere, the entomologist, was sent, during the past year, upon an extended journey in South America, Europe, and Asia Minor, at the joint expense of these two States. His principal mission, so far as this State is concerned, was to discover a parasite of the codling moth, an insect so destructive that it has been estimated it takes annually forty per cent of the pear and apple crops. Mr. Compere thinks he has found parasites which will destroy the codling moth, and he has sent to Commissioner Ellwood Cooper colonies of these insects, which are now being bred and will be placed in the orchards next season. If the results hoped for are secured, every dollar expended in this enterprise will be returned a thousand-fold.

The citrus industry being now menaced by the threatened introduction of the Morelos orange-maggot, which infests the orange-growing districts of Mexico, the importation of the fruit from that country has been prohibited. But since this does not entirely remove the danger that the pest may be brought in, it is proposed that California shall cooperate with Mexico with a view to discovering some means of combating the insect in the Mexican orchards.

OUR MINING INTERESTS.

An industry that has added to the wealth of the State an aggregate value of $418,851,853 in seventeen years, should not lose its proper place in the consideration of the people of the commonwealth or the Legislature which represents them. California is not only rich in precious metals, but in other mineral products of equal, if not of greater, value, and our State is so rich in all these that the exploitation of them thus far has, with the exception of placer mining, left them comparatively untouched. With the completion of the new mining building at the State University it is to be hoped that more young men of spirit and enterprise will have their attention attracted to mining as a life work and to California as a proper field for the exercise of their powers, however great they may prove to be. There are hard problems still to solve, but it can not be doubted that ways will be found for extracting the precious metals from their hiding places without rendering arable areas, upon which humanity must depend for its food supply until time shall be no more, unfitted for human habitation.

PRINTING STATE REPORTS.

The State Controller has submitted the recommendation that a certain sum shall be appropriated and placed at the disposal of the State Board of Examiners to be expended in printing the reports of boards, commissions, and officers whose publication has not been otherwise provided for. It appears to be necessary either to do this, or to make separate appropriations for general printing and for publication of reports for the boards and officers referred to, since under the existing conditions some of them are unable to have their reports printed in the State Printing Office until deficiency appropriations have been made for them. It would be most unwise, however, to go back to the old practice of making a lump sum appropriation for all State printing, because the present plan of making separate appropriations for each office, as recommended by Governors Budd and Gage, has proved to be much more economical.

RIVER CONTROL AND RECLAMATION.

One of the matters of greatest magnitude which the Legislature will be called upon to consider is that of control of the floods of the Sacramento River and its tributaries and the reclamation of the basin lands. Fully twenty millions of money, public and private, have already been expended to accomplish this object, but the results have been unsatisfactory, and in recent years the opinion has been growing that the solution of the problem could be found only in a comprehensive system of channel development and bank protection, such as is beyond the power of accomplishment by land-owners acting individually or through the local district organizations. The previously gradual development of this sentiment received a great impetus from the disasters of last spring, when river floods occurred which inflicted a damage amounting to several millions of dollars and demonstrated the need of a unified public control of the levee system.

Almost before the full extent of the damage had been ascertained, the owners of river lands, manifesting their usual indomitable spirit, held a convention, formed an association, and enlisted the coöperation of the commercial organizations. Out of this movement there eventually came the employment by the Commissioner of Public Works of three eminent engineers, Messrs. T. G. Dabney of Mississippi, H. B. Richardson of Louisiana, and H. M. Chittenden of the United States Army, who, with Mr. M. A. Nurse, were constituted a board to study the whole problem and report a plan of relief. The report, which has recently been submitted, is an able document, and shows great boldness in its conception of a system of control of the rivers.

In its analysis of the causes of the floods the report demonstrates that the immediate cause, though not the primary one, is the inadequacy of the channel of the middle and lower river to carry off the floods poured in from above and from both sides. The most striking proof offered of this is the fact that at Iron Cañon, near Red Bluff, the channel capacity of the river is equal to 200,000 cubic feet per second, while at Collinsville, near its mouth, the maximum flood flow is but 185,000 cubic feet. The primary cause of the channel conditions before mentioned is, of course, the topography of the valley, which from Stony Creek down to Suisun Bay offers such a very gradual descent that the river, unaided by sufficient levees, does not cut a deep channel, as it does nearer its source. In times of high floods the channel from Stony Creek southward has always been insufficient to carry all of the water, and in recent times there has been a serious channel deterioration from the mouth of Feather River to the bay. At all times the river, in flood periods, has relieved itself of surplus waters by discharging them over the banks, or through sloughs, into the depressed areas, called basins, by which it is bounded on both sides.

The basic principle of the plan of relief suggested is concentration, in order that channel improvement may be secured, and the means by which concentration is to be obtained consist, in large part, of levee construction. Not only is the Sacramento River, throughout its course from Stony Creek to Collinsville, to be leveed, but also the Feather, Yuba, Bear, and American rivers and other tributaries are to be so treated. Even the small creeks are to be lined with levees, and the hill drainage is to be collected and carried off in canals. Through the great basins there are to extend waterways for drainage, and during the period when the channel improvement is being effected, these waterways will operate as by-passes to receive and carry away the spill from the river. An essential feature of the project is cutting off bends and straightening the river between the mouth of the Feather and the city of Colusa, it being proposed to reduce the present length of this part of the stream, which is almost seventy miles, to forty-seven miles. In order to increase the scour of the river in its lower reaches, it is proposed to close the sloughs through which a part of the discharge now enters the San Joaquin. To make this safe, there must first be created below Rio Vista a channel capacity of 250,000 second feet.

Such are the general outlines of the plan of relief now proposed, which in its main features agrees fairly well with the conclusions reached by other commissions and engineers. The members of the present commission testify to the value of the work performed by their predecessors, and admit that without the data previously collected they could not have prepared this report. They add that before the details of the project now submitted can be worked out it will be necessary to make many new surveys and arrive at accurate determinations concerning a number of minor problems.

The estimate of cost, made on a liberal basis, is $23,776,022. While this is a very large amount of money, the advantages to be derived from the successful execution of the enterprise would be so vast that the price to be paid is relatively small. In times of extreme flood 1,700 square miles, or more than 1,000,000 acres, of fertile lands are flooded, and of this area 750,000 acres now have comparatively small values, because they can not be safely cultivated. If absolutely protected from floods this area would be made worth, at a conservative valuation, from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000, and an additional area of 250,000 acres, now protected against ordinary floods, would be largely enhanced in value. Therefore, the permanent reclamation of this vast extent of overflowed lands, assuming it could be accomplished at an expense of $24,000,000, would be the most profitable kind of business undertaking. It would create a great amount of new wealth, add to the productive power of the State, and cause a large increase of population.

To accomplish these grand results seems to require the coöperation of the State and United States governments, combined with a large degree of public spirit and private enterprise on the part of the individuals who will be most directly affected. Such extensive changes in the regimen of the Sacramento River as are proposed may not be made except the assent of the United States Government is first secured, and presumably that will not be given until the whole project has first been reviewed and approved by a board of Federal engineers organized for the purpose. It would, therefore, be well, I think, for the Legislature to take action looking to the appointment, by the proper authority, of such a board, which would naturally be composed of eminent engineers, whose conclusions would constitute a valuable check upon the work of the State's commission. If the theories and estimates of the latter should be sustained and verified, there would be added confidence felt in the practicability of the enterprise on the lines which have been laid down. At the same time, such a Federal commission would lay the foundation on which an appeal could be made to Congress for aid in executing the work.

The benefits which the State will derive from the improvement of the river and the reclamation of 1,700 square miles of fertile land are so great that it will be sound public policy for it to assist in every way in which it can do so. But in what manner it can best act is a question calling for thorough and intelligent consideration before a decision is reached. The loan of the State's credit to assist the work of a great reclamation district, as well as a liberal appropriation of money to aid in the river improvement, has been suggested, but I feel that the subject has not yet been sufficiently discussed to render it possible to make a positive recommendation. But in view of the vast amount of new wealth which will be created, the land itself will naturally be called upon to assume a burden of expense, and, so far as possible, in just proportion to the increment of values.

GEO. C. PARDEE, Governor.

APPENDIX A.

LIST OF PARDONS, COMMUTATIONS, AND REPRIEVES.

During the period between January 7, 1903, and January 1, 1905, I have exercised executive clemency in forty-three cases, of which eight were pardons, twenty commutations of sentence and fifteen reprieves of sentence. Of the eight pardon cases, three were merely executive orders of restoration to citizenship to persons who had served out their full terms in prison some time previous to my action, but who had not obtained an order restoring them to citizenship. In two other cases of pardon the prisoners were clearly not guilty of the crime for which they were imprisoned. Two more were issued for meritorious service at the time of the outbreak of prisoners at Folsom, and one represents a case of insanity where the condition attached was that the prisoner should be removed from the State and remain therefrom.

Of the twenty commutations, six were granted on account of excessive sentences; two were cases of insane Chinese convicts and were granted upon condition that they be deported to China; four were issued for services on the occasion of the Folsom outbreak; two were granted because the prisoners were shown not to be guilty of the crimes for which they were imprisoned. The other cases of commutation stand upon distinct grounds which are set forth in the synopsis below.

Six persons, as I have before stated, were extended executive clemency for services on the occasion of the outbreak of prisoners at Folsom Prison in the month of July, 1903. The facts of each case were carefully investigated by the State Board of Prison Directors, who transmitted their findings to me with the recommendation that the prisoners named therein be released in recognition of, and as a reward for, the valuable aid rendered by them, and for the disciplinary effect of such releases upon the general body of prisoners. Each order of release was granted upon the condition that the same should become void if, after his discharge, the prisoner shall be convicted of any felony, and that in such event he should serve the remainder of his unexpired term in addition to the sentence received upon such subsequent conviction. The prisoners so released upon the recommendation of the Prison Directors are:

1. John Martinez, conditionally pardoned October 16, 1903. He was committed from Los Angeles County in 1895, having been convicted of the crime of rape, and sentenced for a term of twenty years. On the occasion of the outbreak, Martinez went to the assistance of Gatekeeper Chalmers when the latter was assaulted by the escaping convicts, and shut and locked the "outer gate" and put the key in his pocket. He then rang the alarm bell. He also rendered valuable assistance to the wounded prison officials, Guard Cotter and Turnkey Cochrane.

2. Joseph Casey, conditionally pardoned October 16, 1903, was committed from Colusa County in 1890, having been convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to life imprisonment. It appears from the report of the Prison Directors that for twelve years continuously Casey had been in charge of the "inner gate," and that during this period he had never been absent a day from his post of duty. At the time of the outbreak, Casey, in the face of some five hundred advancing convicts, closed and locked the "inner gate," thus, in the language of the report of the Prison Directors, "preventing what might have been a general prison delivery."

3. Oliver C. Clark, granted a conditional commutation of sentence October 16, 1903. He was committed from San Francisco in 1890, having been convicted of the crime of forgery and sentenced for a term of twenty years. Clark gave a general alarm of the outbreak. He also telephoned immediately to Folsom for extra medical assistance, whereby the life of Turnkey Cochrane was probably saved, and he rendered other valuable services to the wounded prison officials. As required by law in the case of persons more than once convicted of felony, a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court approved and recommended the release of said Clark.

4. Wm. H. Grider, granted a conditional commutation of sentence October 16, 1903. He was committed from San Joaquin County in May, 1903, having been convicted of burglary in the second degree and sentenced for a term of five years. Just previous to the occurrence of the outbreak of prisoners at the said prison, said Grider endeavored in every way possible to impart to the prison authorities knowledge of the contemplated outbreak, which knowledge had come to him by reason of his being a cell-mate of convict Eldridge, one of the ringleaders in the outbreak. He was prevented by fellow-convicts from so imparting said knowledge in time to prevent the outbreak, but he did impart it to a prison official a few minutes before the actual outbreak. Grider being a second-termer, a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court approved and recommended his release from prison. As before stated, Grider was convicted of felony soon after his release, thereby violating the condition of his commutation, and he will therefore be compelled to serve the remainder of his unexpired term in addition to the sentence imposed for his last offense.

5. Charles Abbott, granted a conditional commutation of sentence October 16, 1903. He was committed from San Francisco in 1883, having been convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree and given a life sentence. Abbott went to the aid of the prison officials who were attacked and wounded, and by his prompt action helped to save the life of Turnkey Cochrane. It also appeared that Abbott had served twenty years of his sentence, and in the language of the Prison Directors, "He has been a model prisoner, has worked exceedingly hard for the benefit of the State, and has never shirked any work assigned to him during the last ten years."

6. Porfirio Alviso, granted a conditional commutation of sentence December 2, 1904. He was committed from San Luis Obispo County in 1895, having been convicted of robbery and sentenced for a term of fifteen years. Alviso communicated information of the outbreak before the same occurred, but it was delayed in transmission, and was not received by the prison officials until shortly after the break. The Prison Board say: "We feel that under the circumstances Alviso did all in his power to aid the officers, and to prevent the disastrous results that followed, and that he is fully deserving of consideration at your hands." At the time of his release, Alviso had served all but a few months under his sentence of fifteen years.

PARDONS.

In addition to the pardons mentioned above, the following pardons were granted:

John M. Herbert, pardoned July 6, 1903. He was committed from Fresno County in 1884, having been convicted of robbery and sentenced for a term of twenty years. He served out his term, but, upon his discharge, did not obtain a restoration to citizenship. It was to remedy this omission that the pardon was granted, and satisfactory evidence was produced showing that since his release he had been a respectable, law-abiding citizen, and that he had inherited a large estate which he desired to manage without any doubt as to his civil competency so to do.

Bernard McQuaid, pardoned August 25, 1903. He was committed from Yuba County in November, 1900, having been convicted of robbery and sentenced for a term of five years. In April, 1902, McQuaid was adjudged insane and was transferred to the State Hospital at Ukiah. It was certified by Dr. E. W. King, Superintendent at said hospital, that in his opinion McQuaid was then insane and was also irresponsible at the time he committed the offense; and his release was recommended by E. A. Davis and E. P. McDaniel, the Judge and District Attorney respectively, who officiated at the trial. Upon the guarantee of the father of McQuaid that he would take his son back to Minnesota and care for him, a pardon was issued, the condition being that McQuaid should never return to the State.

John English, pardoned December 7, 1903. He was committed from Sacramento County in April, 1903, having been convicted of burglary in the second degree and sentenced for a term of two years. This pardon was granted upon the recommendation of the State Board of Prison Directors and upon the representation of Judge E. C. Hart and District Attorney Seymour that English was not guilty of the crime of which he was convicted. It appears that English was charged with being accessory to the crime of burglary alleged to have been committed by one Burton, as principal, while in truth, as was afterwards ascertained, Burton was not guilty of burglary, but of petit larceny, a misdemeanor. At the time of his pardon English had already served over six months in prison, the maximum imprisonment for a misdemeanor.

J. M. Bridges, pardoned December 15, 1903, to effect a restoration to citizenship. Bridges was committed from Fresno County in July, 1898, having been convicted of receiving stolen property, and sentenced for a term of four years. He was discharged from the prison on July 8, 1901, having earned the full allowance of credits. Upon a showing that his prison record was good and that he had, since his discharge, lived as a respectable, law-abiding citizen, the pardon was granted.

Walter H. Williams, pardoned February 2, 1904. He was convicted in Santa Clara County in September, 1903, of a misdemeanor, viz.: defrauding an innkeeper, and was sentenced to the county jail for a term of six months. Williams was convicted without trial upon a plea of guilty, being without advice of counsel or friends, and being ignorant of his rights. It was represented by S. F. Leib and M. H. Hyland, Judges of the Superior Court, and by James H. Campbell, District Attorney, that under the facts of the case there was clearly no intent to defraud any one, and that Williams was not guilty of the crime charged. These facts were also admitted by Mrs. Josephine Meyer, the prosecuting witness.

Thomas Griffin, pardoned July 27, 1904, by Lieutenant-Governor Anderson, the Acting Governor, in order to effect a restoration to citizenship. He was committed from Contra Costa County in August, 1897, having been convicted of attempt to rape and sentenced for a term of five years. He was discharged on March 21, 1901, having earned the credits allowed by law for good conduct in prison. It was satisfactorily shown that since his discharge Griffin had led an industrious and exemplary life at his home in Contra Costa County.

COMMUTATIONS OF SENTENCE.

In addition to the commutations of sentence mentioned as having been granted for services rendered at the outbreak of prisoners at Folsom, the following were also issued:

Sindia Chipp, an Indian woman, whose term was commuted to cease November 16, 1903. She was committed from Modoc County in June, 1903, having been convicted of grand larceny and sentenced for a term of one year and a day. The commutation was granted upon the certificate of Warden Tompkins that said Sindia Chipp on her receipt at said prison was pregnant, and, according to the testimony of the prison physician, was expected to be delivered before the expiration of her term. It was also represented by the District Attorney of Modoc County that there were extenuating circumstances connected with the crime. She had served over half her sentence at the time of her release.

Pedro Yanes, committed from San Diego County in November, 1888, having been convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. His term was commuted to expire in December, 1906. At the time of the crime Yanes was but a boy of fifteen years. He is now thirty-one years of age. The evidence upon which he was convicted was circumstantial, and it appears that, if guilty, he was prompted to the act by a momentary impulse, without any previous deliberation or malice, and without a full appreciation of the enormity of the offense, which consisted of the shooting of his employer. He comes from a respectable Mexican family and had previous to the crime been a dutiful son and faithful employé and had during his confinement shown no criminal or vicious tendencies, but on the contrary had acquired a character which gives promise that upon his release he will become an industrious and law-abiding citizen. Hon. Edwin Parker, who was judge at the trial, strongly recommended the release of Yanes, saying: "At the time of passing sentence I reminded him (Yanes) of his youth, and the probable long term of life imprisonment of one so young, and held out to him the probability that if he properly conducted himself in prison he might after a while receive a pardon; and it appears to me that if he is ever to be so pardoned, it should be done now while his freedom may be of some benefit to the community and to himself." The release of Yanes was recommended also by Hon. J. L. Copeland, who, as District Attorney, conducted the prosecution of the case.

Foo Yock, committed from San Francisco in 1881 for robbery, and later in 1883, while in San Quentin Prison, convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. His term was commuted to expire on December 23, 1903, upon the condition that he should within ten days after discharge be removed to China and never return to the State of California. At the time of his release Foo Yock was an inmate of the State Hospital at Stockton, and was incurably and hopelessly insane, according to the certificate of Dr. Asa Clark, Medical Superintendent. Within the ten days stipulated Foo Yock was on his way to China. As required in cases of second-termers, a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court approved and recommended his release upon commutation.

Emma Wingate, convicted in June, 1904, in Oakland, Alameda County, of vagrancy, and sentenced to a term of thirty days in the county jail. Her release on commutation was recommended by Dr. Charles L. Tisdale, County Physician; Mortimer Smith, the committing Judge, and John N. Bishop, Sheriff, who represented that she was suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis and that the lives of fifteen other female prisoners who were confined in the same room with her were endangered thereby. They urged that her sentence be commuted so that she could be sent to the county infirmary for proper treatment. It appeared that there was no other room in said county jail to which she could be removed and no other county building within the Sheriff's custody in which she could be placed.

Charles Taylor, a negro, committed from Butte County in June, 1886, having been convicted of the crimes of burglary and grand larceny upon a plea of guilty to four several informations. He was sentenced to an aggregate imprisonment of forty-two years. It appears from the statement of Hon. John C. Gray, who, as District Attorney, conducted the prosecution of Taylor, and from statements of other reputable citizens of Butte County, that the crimes were of a petty nature, consisting in stealing hogs and robbing hen-roosts and other outbuildings, and that the punishment imposed was, perhaps, due to an inflamed public mind, growing out of a succession of grave crimes committed in the community. The State Board of Prison Directors, by resolution, recommended the release of Taylor, and they were joined by a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court. Taylor had served in expiation of his offenses a term equivalent to a sentence of twenty-three years. He was released April 4, 1904.

Lee Chuck, a Chinaman, committed from San Francisco in March, 1890, having been convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced for a term of fifty years. Thereafter, in 1892, he was adjudged insane and sent to the State Hospital at Agnew. It was certified that he was hopelessly and incurably insane. His sentence was commuted to expire May 30, 1904, upon condition that within twenty days he be deported to China and never return to California. Because of the refusal of the Federal authorities to allow his deportation in the absence of guaranty that he would be allowed to land in China, the above condition was not fulfilled, and the prisoner was remanded to the custody of the Warden of San Quentin Prison, where he is now confined.

James J. Thornton, committed from Solano County in 1891, having been convicted upon an information charging robbery and a prior conviction of burglary, and sentenced to life imprisonment. The commutation of sentence ordered the release of the prisoner on June 27, 1904, and was approved by a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court and strongly recommended by Hon. A. J. Buckles, the committing Judge, who stated the reasons therefor, as follows: "At that time Section 667 Penal Code was construed by myself, the District Attorney, and counsel for defendant, to mean that where a defendant was convicted of robbery, having suffered conviction for a prior felony, he must be sentenced to life imprisonment. This was probably an error, for reading the first part of said Section 667 it would appear that the Judge passing sentence would be left with no discretion only where the prior conviction was for petit larceny, or for an attempt to commit a felony. However this may be, had I not been under the impression that I must send him up for life, the sentence would not have exceeded imprisonment for a term longer than ten years. This section (667) was repealed by the Legislature of 1903, so that now no person must be sentenced for life simply because he has suffered for a prior conviction. It seems to me this is a very strong case calling for executive clemency." At the time of his release Thornton had served in expiation of his crime a term equivalent to a sentence of twenty-one years.

Douglas Berry, convicted of indecent exposure upon a plea of guilty in the Police Court of Oakland, Alameda County, and sentenced for a term of one hundred days in the county jail. It satisfactorily appeared by the testimony of Dr. A. A. Stafford, Judge Stephen G. Nye, and other reputable citizens that Berry had been a great sufferer from kidney troubles and weakness of the bladder, and that the act charged was committed while under severe physical suffering; that he was an old man, sixty-four years of age, and had never before been charged with any infraction of the law, having always borne an excellent reputation in the community. He had served about a month in jail before his release upon commutation of sentence.

John Bryan, committed from Sonoma County in April, 1896, having been convicted upon two charges of burglary and given two separate sentences of ten years each. His term was commuted to expire July 11, 1904. At the time of his discharge he had served a term equivalent to a sentence of twelve years, which, under the circumstances, was ample punishment for the crime committed. At the date of the crime Bryan was but seventeen years of age. Hon. S. K. Dougherty and Hon. Emmett Seawell, who officiated as Judge and District Attorney respectively at the trial, and other prominent citizens of Sonoma County, strongly argued that executive clemency be extended in this case, representing that a rumor current at the time to the effect that said Bryan was concerned in a still more serious crime which had lately been committed in the community, contributed to the severity of the sentence imposed, which rumor was afterwards found to be without foundation. The State Board of Prison Directors, by resolution, recommended the release of said Bryan, and a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court also approved and recommended the commutation of his sentence.

Richard Dalton, committed from Fresno county in November, 1901, having been convicted of grand larceny and sentenced for a term of six years. It appears from the representations of George E. Church and O. L. Evarts, who officiated as Judge and District Attorney respectively at the trial, that the crime consisted in the stealing of a bicycle of small value; that Dalton was in an intoxicated condition when the crime occurred; that he did not appropriate the bicycle to his own use, but gave it to a stranger standing near, who later turned it over to an officer; that the severity of the sentence was due to the fact that at the time of the trial Dalton was reported as having been an old offender, while in truth, as was afterwards ascertained, he had never before been convicted of any crime. At the time of his release on commutation Dalton had already served a term equivalent to a sentence of five years, which, under the circumstances, was more than ample punishment for his offense.

Jack Brooks, committed from Fresno County in 1899, having been convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. Brooks's term was commuted to expire in August, 1906, by which time he will have served a term equivalent to a sentence of twelve years. The commutation in this case was granted because it was satisfactorily shown from facts brought to light since the trial and conviction of said Brooks that he was not guilty of the crime charged, although culpable in a lesser degree in his connection with the crime. The crime for which Brooks was imprisoned consisted in the shooting and killing of one Donnelly in the city of Fresno, in a running fight, in which, besides said Brooks, one Rice, a police officer, and one Ardell, also took part, and also fired shots at Donnelly. After the conviction of Brooks, Rice and Ardell were separately tried and were both acquitted, and at said trials new evidence came to light which clearly established the fact that the fatal shot was not fired by Brooks. In fact, the defense of Rice went upon the assumption that he (Rice) fired the shot, but was justified as an arresting officer in so doing. The State Board of Prison Directors presented a review of the facts of this case and says: "The Board, after duly examining the case, is of the opinion that Convict No. 4926, Jack Brooks, is innocent of the crime charged against him. * * * This Board does most respectfully recommend to the Governor of California that he do pardon the said Convict No. 4926, Jack Brooks. These findings and recommendations are approved by the affirmative votes of Directors Devlin, Wilkins, Ray, and Felton." This recommendation was joined in by E. W. Risley, who presided as Judge on the trial of Brooks; H. Z. Austin, who presided as Judge at the trial of Ardell; O. L. Evarts, the District Attorney, who prosecuted both Brooks and Ardell; J. D. Collins, Sheriff of Fresno County; and by Frank H. Short, who defended Rice.

Turrisio Fiorivanti, convicted in April, 1904, in Placer County of assault with a deadly weapon and sentenced to the county jail for eighteen months. The sentence was commuted by Lieutenant and Acting Governor Anderson to expire in July, 1904. This was done upon the recommendation of J. E. Prewett and A. K. Robinson, who officiated as Judge and District Attorney respectively on the trial, who represented that since the trial of said Fiorivanti a condition of facts had been disclosed showing that the assault grew out of a quarrel among Italian laborers at Lincoln, in which many took part and the responsibility for which was not confined to any one person; that Fiorivanti made the assault under fear that his brother's life and that of his own were in danger. It was urged that in any aspect of the case the four months served by the prisoner was more than ample punishment for his connection with the trouble. The recommendation of Judge Prewett and District Attorney Robinson was joined in by F. P. Tuttle, who assisted in the prosecution of Fiorivanti; Charles Keena, Sheriff of Placer County; T. B. Harper, Justice of the Peace, who conducted the preliminary examination, and by A. J. Gladding, of the firm of Gladding & McBean, by whom the prisoner had been employed.

Charles Bird, committed from Los Angeles County in January, 1901, having been convicted of burglary in the first degree and sentenced for a term of five years. Bird had all but served his sentence—the last day of his term being August 14, 1904. He was released by Lieutenant and Acting Governor Anderson upon a commutation of sentence on August 11, 1904, three days before the expiration of his term, upon the representation of Warden Yell that the mother of said Bird, who was residing in another State, was dying and greatly desired the presence of her son.

Natale Rossi, committed from Marin County in July, 1883, having been convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced for life. On account of extenuating circumstances surrounding the crime and as a reward for his faithful conduct as a prisoner, the State Board of Prison Directors on December 28, 1901, released him upon parole. Since his parole Rossi has been employed by the Novato Land Company in Marin County, and the officers of said company certify that "ever since his release Rossi has led a most exemplary life, has been sober, industrious, honest, peaceable, and law-abiding, and is one of the most reliable and trusted employes of the company. He has sent to Switzerland for his wife, his two sons, and the wife of one of his sons, all of whom are now living happily with him at Novato, California." The State Board of Prison Directors, under date of October 12, 1904, passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Governor be respectfully petitioned to exercise executive clemency and issue a pardon to one Natale Rossi, a prisoner of San Quentin Prison, who has been out on parole for about four years, and whose conduct during this period of time has been such as to merit a pardon."

This recommendation was joined in by Thomas J. Lennon, Judge of the Superior Court; Thomas P. Boyd, District Attorney of Marin County; and George Mason, ex-Sheriff of Marin County. At the time of his release upon parole the said Rossi had served a term equivalent to a sentence of twenty-seven years.

John J. Baker, committed from Sacramento County in February, 1900, having been convicted of robbery and sentenced for a term of thirty-five years. His term was conditionally commuted to expire December 14, 1904, upon the recommendation of Judge E. C. Hart, who presided at the trial of Baker, and of C. W. Baker, who as District Attorney conducted the prosecution. They represent that R. M. Gordon and A. B. Spellman, two hardened criminals, were the leaders in the robbery and that Baker was more a spectator than a participant; that Baker, who was under twenty-one years of age at the time, pleaded guilty to the crime under the name of Spellman to prevent the fact of his disgrace becoming known to his family, and that on this account no effort was made to consider his case separately from the other two. The new light thrown upon the case is indicated by the statement of Judge Hart, which is in part as follows:

"I have since been convinced that this young man bore a very good reputation prior to his arrest upon the occasion referred to. When he pleaded guilty he made no statement with a view of mitigating his punishment, and I assumed, from the fact of his having been found in such bad company, that he was also a man with a bad record, which the officers at that time were unable to learn anything about. For this reason I gave him a heavy sentence. If, after you have investigated the facts, you feel justified in commuting Spellman's (Baker's) sentence, I can assure you that such a course on your part will meet with my unqualified approval. I think that young Spellman's (Baker's) worst crime was in permitting himself to become associated with these men—Gordon and the other Spellman. But I understand that he met them for the first time in Sacramento on the day of the evening upon which the robbery occurred, and it is very likely that he did not know the dangerous character of the men with whom, unfortunately, circumstances brought him into association. Again I say if I had the sentencing of this young man to do over, I would not, in any event, give him over seven years."

The parents of Baker, who are people of respectability and good standing in another State, advanced funds to enable him to return home immediately upon his release, and have given assurance that he will be furnished useful employment, and will never return to this State.

REPRIEVES.

Bert Ross, committed from San Luis Obispo County in November, 1901, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on January 10, 1902. Ross appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States; thereby staying the execution. His sentence was reprieved by successive orders of Governor Gage until February 16, 1903, in order to avoid the necessity of having Ross again brought before the Superior Court of San Luis Obispo County for the purpose of resentence. Because of the prolonged pendency of this appeal I reprieved Ross's sentence four successive times, the date last set for execution being Friday, December 18, 1903. The appeal was decided adversely to Ross, and upon that date he was executed.

Leung Ock, committed from Siskiyou County in October, 1903, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, April 22, 1904. Upon the certificate of Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals, and Dr. Asa Clark, Superintendent of the Stockton State Hospital, dated April 19, 1904, that Leung Ock's mental condition was very doubtful, and recommending a reprieve to enable them to make further observation and reach a definite conclusion, I reprieved his sentence to and until January 24, 1904. On June 20, 1904, said medical experts reported to Hon. Alden Anderson, Lieutenant and Acting Governor, that there was evidence to justify further careful and prolonged observation. They recommended that he be reprieved for six months and be transferred to Mendocino State Hospital. His sentence was thereupon reprieved to August 26, 1904, and later, for the same reasons, he was again reprieved to and until February 24, 1905.

Ung Ting Bow, committed from Kings County in April, 1903, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, May 27, 1904. On May 24, 1904, Dr. F. W. Hatch and Dr. J. D. Young, Assistant Physician at Stockton State Hospital, reported that after an examination they believed the prisoner to be insane, and recommended that he be reprieved for a period of six months in order that he might be placed in one of the State Hospitals for treatment and observation. Upon this showing, his sentence was reprieved to and until November 27, 1904. Before the expiration of the last reprieve I recommended to the Warden at San Quentin Prison that the procedure provided for in Sections 1221 to 1225, inclusive, of the Penal Code be employed. These sections provide that if a prisoner under judgment of death is supposed to be insane, the Warden, with the concurrence of the Superior Judge of the county, may summon a jury to try the fact. If it be found that the prisoner is insane, the Warden must suspend the execution and transmit the findings to the Governor, who may, when the prisoner becomes sane, issue a warrant appointing a day for the execution of the judgment. This recommendation on my part was made to obviate the issuance of further reprieves, the experts still being in doubt as to Leung Ock's mental condition. Upon the representation of the Warden that the time was too short to proceed under these sections, the sentence of Ung Ting Bow was again reprieved to and until December 23, 1904. Before that date the inquisition provided by the Code was held, and Ung Ting Bow was found to be insane. The death sentence will be stayed thereby until it be found that he has recovered his sanity.

Francisco Ochoa, committed from Kern County, in September, 1899, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, May 27, 1904. The sentence was reprieved to June 10, 1904, upon representations by the Mexican Consul at San Francisco and by other respectable persons that certain material testimony given at the trial was false, and that the fact that such falsity was discovered so recently as not to afford time to present the proper affidavits and statements to the Governor before the day set for execution. The statements so furnished were not sufficient to establish the contention made, and Ochoa was executed on the day set in said reprieve.

Charles Lawrence, an Indian, committed from Sacramento County in January, 1903, having been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, August 12, 1904. The sentence was reprieved to October 7, 1904, for the reason that the retrial of Charles Padilla, who was charged jointly with Lawrence, was set for September 5, 1904, and it was claimed that new evidence was likely to be produced at such retrial tending to establish the innocence of said Lawrence. The expected new evidence was not produced, and Lawrence was executed on the date set in the reprieve.

William Buckley, committed from San Francisco, having been convicted in April, 1902, of murder and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, October 7, 1904. Buckley's sentence was reprieved four successive times, the day last set for execution being December 16, 1904. The reprieves were granted upon affidavits to the effect that Buckley could be shown conclusively to be innocent of the crime charged, if time were given to prepare and present certain newly discovered material evidence brought to light since his conviction. Each reprieve succeeding the first was granted upon a sworn statement that additional time was required to prepare and present said evidence, although the utmost diligence had been used since the granting of the last reprieve. Before the day last set for the execution, an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States was perfected, which, during its pendency, will have the effect of staying the execution of the sentence.

The President pro tem. shall, in the absence of the President, take the chair and call the Senate to order at the hour of the meetings of the Senate, and have the same power as the President; but the President pro tem. shall vote only as any other member of the Senate.

10. The Duties of Secretary.

1. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate to attend every session, call the roll, read all bills, amendments, resolutions, and all papers ordered read by the Senate or the presiding officer.
2. To superintend all copying and work to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all attachés and employés of the Senate. 12. Sergeant-at-Arms.

A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during all its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate, from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof as shall be directed to him by the President. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms, for every arrest, for each day's custody and release, and the traveling expense for himself and special messenger, going and returning, shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators, to prepare checks, and, if required to do so, draw the money on such checks for the Senators (the same being previously signed by the President, and indorsed by the Senator, or person to whom check is made), and pay over the same to the Senator or person entitled thereto.

No Senator shall absent himself from the service of the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators, as the majority of such Senators present shall agree, at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for non-attendance shall be made as the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall judge sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum thereof, shall have the power to issue process directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process, unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation), so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing.

19. Voting.

When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

20. Printing.

Five hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator at his desk, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

26. Printing for the Senate.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary. 27. Introduction and Reading of Bills.

1. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his place and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same; and the title shall be announced from the Secretary's desk, shall be read the first time, when it shall be referred to a standing committee. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless, in case of urgency, two thirds of the Senate shall, by vote of yeas and nays, dispense with this provision), and the last reading shall be at length. The President shall give notice, at each of the second and third readings, which reading it is, and no bill shall be read at either reading until the Senate has so determined by a vote (should any Senator object to such reading). Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be read but once, unless the Senate, by a majority vote of all the Senators present, otherwise directs.

2. The titles of all bills, when introduced, shall be inserted in the Journal.

28. Order of Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

All bills ordered engrossed shall be delivered to the Engrossing Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate, and the receipt, in writing, of the Engrossing Clerk taken therefor; and all said bills shall be engrossed in the order of their receipt by said Engrossing Clerk. And all Senate bills shall, after their final passage by and receipt from the Assembly, be delivered to the Enrolling Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate in the order of their receipt from the Assembly, and the receipt in writing of said Enrolling Clerk taken therefor; and said bills shall be enrolled by the Enrolling Clerk in the order of their receipt from the Secretary of the Senate.

29. Engrossed Bills to be Examined and Reported.

All bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment; the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly with proper indorsements, and the original retained by the Senate.

30. Assembly Bills to be Read First Time.

All Assembly bills shall be read the first time, when taken up in Assembly messages, and then referred to the proper committee; provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the provisions of which are identical with those of a Senate bill which has already been considered and reported by a committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill (the latter being considered withdrawn), shall take a place upon a special file, and be considered as having received the same recommendation of the Senate committee; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal.

Committee on Finance.

1. Bills or resolutions appropriating money from any fund within the control of the State shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time.

Committee on Education.

1. Bills shall act upon all bills as soon as practicable, and when acted upon, shall be reported back to the Senate forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Senate may at any time order a bill reported back from any committee by a majority vote.

Each standing committee shall determine its own quorum; provided, that not less than one third of the number of members constituting such committee shall in any case constitute such quorum.

34. Leave of Absence to Committee.

When leave of absence shall be granted to any committee, special or standing, to visit public buildings or institutions, or for any other purpose, such leave shall be granted only by two-thirds vote, and no expense or mileage of attachés shall be allowed.

35. Claims on Contingent Fund Must Go to Committee on Contingent Expenses.

No claim shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate until the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

36. Executive Communications and Nominations to Committee.

When executive communications or nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Executive Communications, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

The members of the Senate from the City and County of San Francisco shall constitute a standing committee, to be known as the San Francisco Delegation.

38. The General File: Its Hours—Special Order of Bills on File.

The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may hereafter set, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

39. Bills "Passed on File," Placed at Foot of File.

40. Engrossed Bills Have Preference.

All bills, after the second reading (if the same be not committed, then upon being reported), shall be placed upon a general file, and shall be taken up for consideration and passage in the order of their being placed on file.

41. Order of Questions on Motion to Refer.

When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject, and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

42. Order of Questions Under Debate.

When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

43. Motion Not to be Debated Until Seconded and Announced.

No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated.

44. Reading of a Paper, if Objected to, Determined Without Debate.

When the reading of a paper is called for (except petitions), and the same is objected to by any Senator, it shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

45. Amendments and Substitutes—When in Order.

Substitutes may be offered at any time when a bill or resolution is open to amendment, previous to engrossment; and when adopted shall take the place of the original bill or resolution, and shall be open to amendment.

46. Amendments and Substitutes Must be Germane.

No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment or substitute.

47. Least Sum and Shortest Time in Filling Blanks.

In filling up blanks, the least sum or number and the shortest time shall be put first.

48. Short of Final Question, Two-thirds Vote Not Requisite on Propositions to Amend Constitution.

When an amendment to the Constitution, or any bill requiring the concurrence of two thirds of the Senators, is under consideration, the concurrence of two thirds shall not be required to decide any question for amendment, or extend to the merits, being short of the final question.

49. Notice of Reconsideration.

On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and it shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill, concurrent or joint resolution has been passed or defeated, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed or defeated. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

50. Reconsideration of Bills Sent to Assembly.

When a bill, resolution, amendment, order, or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative, shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

51. Secretary, Upon Notice of Reconsideration, Not to Report Bill to Assembly.

If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not report the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment, to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has been transmitted to the Assembly.

52. Motion to Reconsider May be Debated.

A Senator, after a notice of motion to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 49, may, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same may be debated by the Senate, provided that the subject-matter is debatable.

53. Amendments to Original Question.

1. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

2. If the question in debate contains several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. But the rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. And motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

54. Final Question on Second Reading of Bill—No Amendment on Third Reading, but May Commit.

The final question on the second reading of every bill originating in the Senate, and requiring three readings previous to being passed, shall be: "Shall the bill be engrossed?" And no amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment under special instructions to amend.

55. Special Orders.

Any subject may, by vote of two thirds of the Senators present, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

56. Form of Previous Question—Call of Senate.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the Senate to a vote on the subject under discussion. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

57. Ayes and Noes; Members Must Answer—No Vote After Announcement of Vote.

When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, his assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

58. Rules in Senate and Committee of the Whole.

The rules of the Senate shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as may be applicable, except limiting the number of times a Senator may speak, and except that the ayes and noes shall not be taken.

59. Suspending and Changing Rules.

No standing rule or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two thirds of the members-elect, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two thirds of the Senators-elect, except that portion of Rule 27 relating to the final passage of bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, without debate.

60. Executive Session.

On a motion, made and seconded, to close the doors of the Senate on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of Senate, Secretary, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper to withdraw, and during the discussion of said motion the doors shall remain closed; and every member and officer of the Senate shall keep secret all such matters, proceedings, and things whereof secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

61. Messengers—When Introduced.

Messengers may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes or noes are being called, while the ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

62. Smoking.

No smoking shall be allowed within the Senate Chamber.

63. Cases Not Provided for, Cushing to Govern.

In all cases not provided for by these rules, the Senate shall be governed by the laws and practice as laid down in Cushing's Law and Practice of Legislative Assemblies.

14. Doorkeeper.

It shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper to prohibit all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such reporters as have seats assigned to them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless upon written invitation of the President or a Senator; provided, that no visitor shall be allowed upon the floor of the Senate during a session. The Sergeant-at-Arms is authorized to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found engaged in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate.

15. Attendance, Duties, and Obligations of Senators.

No Senator shall absent himself from the service of the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators, as the majority of such Senators present shall agree, at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for non-attendance shall be made as the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall judge sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum thereof, shall have the power to issue process directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process, unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

16. Senators Must Address the President.

1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation), so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no questions shall be asked him, except those directed through the presiding officer.

4. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

17. The Senator Entitled to Floor.

When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

18. Senator, When Called to Order, Must Sit Down.

When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing.

19. Voting.

When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

20. Printing.

Five hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator at his desk, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

21. Number of Copies to be Printed.

Five hundred copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered, unless the Senate especially directs a different number.

22. Number of Copies to be Printed of Journal.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall print five hundred copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of the Senate, and one copy of the same shall be placed upon each Senator's desk, and a sufficient number sent to the Assembly to supply each Assemblyman with one copy; he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly pagged, to bind in book form as the Journal of the Senate, at the end of the session, as required by law.

23. What Shall be Printed in the Journal.

Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), titles of bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments shall be printed in the Journal in full.

24. Petitions.

Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate shall be entered in the Journal.

25. When Not in Committee of the Whole, Proceedings Must be Entered in the Journal.

The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as Committee of the Whole, shall be entered in the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

26. Printing for the Senate.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary. The Secretary may, when necessity requires, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business, under a specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

27. Introduction and Reading of Bills.

1. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his place and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same; and the title shall be announced from the Secretary's desk, shall be read the first time, when it shall be referred to a standing committee. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless, in case of urgency, two thirds of the Senate shall, by vote of yeas and nays, dispense with this provision), and the last reading shall be at length. The President shall give notice, at each of the second and third readings, which reading it is, and no bill shall be read at either reading until the Senate has so determined by a vote (should any Senator object to such reading). Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be read but once, unless the Senate, by a majority vote of all the Senators present, otherwise directs.

2. The titles of all bills, when introduced, shall be inserted in the Journal.

28. Order of Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

All bills ordered engrossed shall be delivered to the Engrossing Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate, and the receipt, in writing, of the Engrossing Clerk taken therefor; and all said bills shall be engrossed in the order of their receipt by said Engrossing Clerk. And all Senate bills shall, after their final passage by and receipt from the Assembly, be delivered to the Enrolling Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate in the order of their receipt from the Assembly, and the receipt in writing of said Enrolling Clerk taken therefor; and said bills shall be enrolled by the Enrolling Clerk in the order of their receipt from the Secretary of the Senate.

29. Engrossed Bills to be Examined and Reported.

All bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment; the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly with proper indorsements, and the original retained by the Senate.

30. Assembly Bills to be Read First Time.

All Assembly bills shall be read the first time, when taken up in Assembly messages, and then referred to the proper committee; provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the provisions of which are identical with those of a Senate bill which has already been considered and reported by a committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill (the latter being considered withdrawn), shall take a place upon a special file, and be considered as having received the same recommendation of the Senate committee; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal.

31. Reference of Bills to Finance Committee.

All bills or resolutions appropriating money from any fund within the control of the State shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time.

32. Committees—When to Report.

All committees shall act upon all bills as soon as practicable, and when acted upon, shall be reported back to the Senate forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Senate may at any time order a bill reported back from any committee by a majority vote.

33. Standing Committees, Quorum of—What Constitutes.

Each standing committee shall determine its own quorum; provided, that not less than one third of the number of members constituting such committee shall in any case constitute such quorum.

34. Leave of Absence to Committee.

When leave of absence shall be granted to any committee, special or standing, to visit public buildings or institutions, or for any other purpose, such leave shall be granted only by two-thirds vote, and no expense or mileage of attachés shall be allowed.

35. Claims on Contingent Fund Must Go to Committee on Contingent Expenses.

No claim shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate until the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

36. Executive Communications and Nominations to Committee.

When executive communications or nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Executive Communications, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

37. San Francisco Delegation.

The members of the Senate from the City and County of San Francisco shall constitute a standing committee, to be known as the San Francisco Delegation.

38. The General File: Its Hours—Special Order of Bills on File.

The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may hereafter set, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

39. Bills "Passed on File," Placed at Foot of Files.

40. Engrossed Bills Have Preference.

All bills, after the second reading (if the same be not committed, then upon being reported), shall be placed upon a general file, and shall be taken up for consideration and passage in the order of their being placed on file.

41. Order of Questions on Motion to Refer.

When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject, and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

42. Order of Questions Under Debate.

When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

43. Motion Not to be Debated Until Seconded and Announced.

No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated.

44. Reading of a Paper, if Objected to, Determined Without Debate.

When the reading of a paper is called for (except petitions), and the same is objected to by any Senator, it shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

45. Amendments and Substitutes—When in Order.

Substitutes may be offered at any time when a bill or resolution is open to amendment, previous to engrossment; and when adopted shall take the place of the original bill or resolution, and shall be open to amendment.

46. Amendments and Substitutes Must be Germane.

No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment or substitute.

47. Least Sum and Shortest Time in Filling Blanks.

In filling up blanks, the least sum or number and the shortest time shall be put first.

48. Short of Final Question, Two-thirds Vote Not Requisite on Propositions to Amend Constitution.

When an amendment to the Constitution, or any bill requiring the concurrence of two thirds of the Senators, is under consideration, the concurrence of two thirds shall not be required to decide any question for amendment, or extend to the merits, being short of the final question.

49. Notice of Reconsideration.

On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and it shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill, concurrent or joint resolution has been passed or defeated, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed or defeated. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

50. Reconsideration of Bills Sent to Assembly.

When a bill, resolution, amendment, order, or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative, shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

51. Secretary, Upon Notice of Reconsideration, Not to Report Bill to Assembly.

If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not report the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment, to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has been transmitted to the Assembly.

52. Motion to Reconsider May be Debated.

A Senator, after a notice of motion to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 49, may, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same may be debated by the Senate, provided that the subject-matter is debatable.

53. Amendments to Original Question.

1. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

2. If the question in debate contains several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. But the rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. And motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

54. Final Question on Second Reading of Bill—No Amendment on Third Reading, but May Commit.

The final question on the second reading of every bill originating in the Senate, and requiring three readings previous to being passed, shall be: "Shall the bill be engrossed?" And no amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment under special instructions to amend.

55. Special Orders.

Any subject may, by vote of two thirds of the Senators present, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

56. Form of Previous Question—Call of Senate.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the Senate to a vote on the subject under discussion. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

57. Ayes and Noes; Members Must Answer—No Vote After Announcement of Vote.

When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, his assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

58. Rules in Senate and Committee of the Whole.

The rules of the Senate shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as may be applicable, except limiting the number of times a Senator may speak, and except that the ayes and noes shall not be taken.

59. Suspending and Changing Rules.

No standing rule or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two thirds of the members-elect, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two thirds of the Senators-elect, except that portion of Rule 27 relating to the final passage of bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, without debate.

60. Executive Session.

On a motion, made and seconded, to close the doors of the Senate on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of Senate, Secretary, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper to withdraw, and during the discussion of said motion the doors shall remain closed; and every member and officer of the Senate shall keep secret all such matters, proceedings, and things whereof secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

61. Messengers—When Introduced.

Messengers may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes or noes are being called, while the ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

62. Smoking.

No smoking shall be allowed within the Senate Chamber.

63. Cases Not Provided for, Cushing to Govern.

In all cases not provided for by these rules, the Senate shall be governed by the laws and practice as laid down in Cushing's Law and Practice of Legislative Assemblies.

PETITIONS.

The President presented the following petitions, and, on motion of Senator Wolfe, the same were ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Honorable President of the Senate, California Legislature, Thirty-sixth Session, Sacramento, California:

The California Viticultural Club, composed of grape-growers and manufacturers of wine, with representatives from all parts of the State of California, in convention assembled, respectfully petitions your honorable body to direct, by proper order, the Senators and to request the representatives of the State of California in the National Congress at Washington, to energetically and unalterably oppose the enactment into law of that portion of the recommendation of Commissioner Yerkes, of the Internal Revenue Bureau, made in his annual report to the Congress of the United States, wherein he recommends, "The levying of a minimum tax upon the grape brandy now used in the fortification of sweet wines manufactured within the United States amounting to twenty-five cents per proof gallon."

We unreservedly declare our opposition to this proposed measure and declare that such a tax is equivalent to not less than five cents per gallon on the sweet wine manufactured and that this imposition would work incalculable injury to an industry of this State in which there is invested, directly and indirectly, over eighty millions of dollars, and that the enactment into law of such a measure would injure the business of California many million dollars and would wipe out and would absolutely destroy that portion of the viticultural interests of this State.

We declare our ability and our ready disposition to furnish proofs of these assertions and declarations to your honorable body, or any committee thereof, whenever requested or called upon so to do.

For your favorable action on this matter, your petitioners will ever pray.

Respectfully submitted.

Sacramento, California.

Committee on Resolutions, acting under instructions, of the California Viticultural Club.

Dated: San Francisco, California, January 5, 1905.

OFFICE OF THE CLERK OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,
CITY HALL, SAN FRANCISCO, January 6, 1905. }

Hon. Alden Anderson, President of the Senate, Sacramento, California:

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to direction of the Board of Supervisors, of the City and County of San Francisco, I have the honor to transmit to you the enclosed copies of Resolutions Nos. 5416 and 5417 of said board, adopted January 3, 1905, the subject-matters of which resolutions relate to the submission of a constitutional amendment to the electors of the State of California regarding depositaries for public funds subject to certain conditions, and to the extension of the statutory time wherein claims may be filed for the refunding of taxes illegally collected.

Favorable consideration and support is requested of the members of the Legislature on these measures, and therefore it was deemed advisable that your attention be called to the matters.

Yours very truly,

CHAS. W. FAY,
Clerk Board of Supervisors, San Francisco.

RESOLUTION No. 5417.

WHEREAS, The Board of Supervisors did, by Ordinances Nos. 520, 521 and 523 of the Board of Supervisors, levy an emergency tax for the construction of a new City and County Hospital and new schoolhouses, which emergency tax was subsequently declared invalid by the Superior Court of the City and County of San Francisco, and appeal from said decision was waived by the Board of Supervisors; and

WHEREAS, Many of the taxpayers of the City and County of San Francisco, believing such tax to be a meritorious and just one for the purposes intended, failed to pay their taxes under protest and to commence an action within the time required by law, or to file with the Board of Supervisors a claim within six months of the date of payment as required by Section 3804 of the Political Code of the State of California; and

WHEREAS, The Board of Supervisors has expressed itself on several occasions in favor of returning these taxes, provided the same could be legally done; and

WHEREAS, The City Attorney in his communication (filed December 24, 1904), advises that refunds cannot be made in many cases, excepting the statutory time prescribed by Section 3804 of the Political Code is extended for a period of three years to permit the filing of all claims; now therefore

Resolved, That the Legislature of the State of California be and is hereby memorialized to amend Section 3804 of the Political Code as follows:

"AN ACT

"To amend Section 3804 of the Political Code of the State of California, relating to the refunding of taxes illegally or erroneously collected or paid more than once, and limiting the time therefor.

"The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

"SECTION 1. Section 3804 of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 3804. Any taxes, penalties, or costs thereon heretofore or hereafter paid more than once, or heretofore or hereafter erroneously or illegally collected, or any taxes heretofore or hereafter paid upon an assessment in excess of the actual cash value of the property so assessed, by reason of a clerical error of the assessor, as to the excess in such cases, or any tax heretofore or hereafter paid upon an erroneous assessment of improvements on real estate not in fact in existence when said tax became a lien, may, by order of the Board of Supervisors, be refunded by the County, City and County, or City Treasurer. Whenever any payment shall have been made to the State Treasurer, by the County, City and County, or City Treasurer, as provided by Section 3865 and Section 3866 of this Code, and it shall afterwards appear to the satisfaction of the Board of Supervisors that a portion of the money so paid should be refunded as herein provided, said Board of Supervisors may refund such portion of the said taxes, penalties, and costs so paid to the said Treasurer to the person entitled to the same out of the general fund, and upon the rendering of the report required by Section 3668 of this Code the Auditor shall certify to the Controller, in such form as the Controller may prescribe, all amounts so refunded, and in the next settlement of the County, City and County, or City Treasurer with the State, the Controller, if satisfied of the legality of such refunding, by the said Board, shall give such Treasurer credit for the State's portion of the amounts so refunded as prescribed in Section 3871 of this Code; provided further, that where the taxes, penalties, and costs herein referred to are levied in behalf of any school district, municipality, or other public or municipal corporation, and said corporation has money in the county, city and county, or city treasury, said order to refund shall not be made except upon a certified copy of an order of the governing body of such corporation authorizing said repayment, in which case the amount refunded shall be paid by the County, City and County, or City Treasurer from the county fund of such school district, or from the appropriate fund of such corporation; provided further, however, that no order of the Board of Supervisors to refund taxes, penalties or costs shall be made except upon a verified claim therefor filed within three years after the making of the payment sought to be refunded.

"SEC. 2. All acts or parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this are hereby repealed.

"SEC. 3. This Act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage."

Further resolved, That the Clerk of this Board be and he is hereby directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to his Excellency the Governor of the State of California, to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly.

AN ARTICLE ORDERED PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL.

Senator Lukens presented the following article, and on motion, the same was ordered printed in the Journal.

THE "SWEET WINE" ISSUE.

BY GEORGE W. PELTIER, MANAGER CALIFORNIA STATE BANK.

The measure proposed by Internal Revenue Commissioner Yerkes to put a tax on all the brandy used in the manufacture of sweet wines in the State of California is one of the worst blows that has ever been directed toward one of the great interests of the State of California. If it is carried out it will annihilate and lay prostrate the viticultural interest of the State, which is one of the great factors in our commercial fabric.

Port, sherry, angelica, muscatel and madeira are known as sweet wines, because during the process of fermentation some of the saccharine originally contained in the grape is allowed to remain in the juice. It is the saccharine that imparts the sweet taste.

In order to keep the sweetness, have the wine remain sound, and avoid the use of antiseptics it is necessary to fortify these wines up to an average of twenty per cent; that is, twenty per cent of their volume must be grape brandy. If any less the wines will not remain sound. The sugar left in the wines will ferment, the wines will change entirely in character, they will have then lost their commercial value, and finally the wine-maker finds his product in great danger of turning sour.

The added amount of brandy is put in under the supervision of the Government. The law provides that grape spirits, when sold as brandy, must be taxed $1.10 a gallon for internal revenue purposes. The spirits used in fortifying sweet wines are not taxed.

About three quarters of the brandy produced in the State is used in the manufacture of sweet wines. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue recommends a tax on brandy used for fortification purposes of at least twenty-five cents per proof gallon of brandy, or an average of from five to seven and one half cents per gallon for each gallon of sweet wine manufactured.

It need hardly be pointed out that the imposition of such a tax as this on sweet wines would practically destroy the California wine business, for it would mean that the business would have to pay an additional burden of over a million dollars per year before the Government would permit sweet wines to be made in this State.

The distance of California from its great consuming markets in the East and the heavy freight which it is therefore compelled to pay, both on coopeerage stock westward and on wine and coopeerage east, is already practically a tariff against California wines.

For years it has been a continual struggle to meet the competition of cheap sweet wines, made in the East without the use of fortifying brandy, which have sold as low as twenty three cents per gallon, coopeered, delivered in New York.

Now the freight on coopeerage stock west and wine and coopeerage east amounts to fully one half this sum, and if, as the Commissioner suggests, an additional tax of five cents per gallon were imposed on fortified wines it would practically put an end to the sweet-wine business.

You may imagine what it would mean to a wine-maker in California if, in addition to the cost of growing or purchasing his grapes, anterior to being permitted to fortify his wines, he were compelled to pay to the Government from $5,000, the minimum, to $20,000, the maximum, suggested by the Commissioner, on every thousand tons of grapes made into sweet wines.

In a great many cases this would be prohibitive and he would be forced to abandon the wine-making business and sell his grapes at the best prices obtainable to the few people who could afford to operate under such conditions.

This would very soon create a monopoly in the sweet-wine-making business in the more powerful hands, and while this might be to the temporary advantage of those who could command the capital necessary, it would finally result in the destruction of the individual California grape-grower.

On the other hand, it is conceivable that even capital would have no protection, for in the case of large vested interests they would have to adhere very strictly to the law and be careful that every gallon of brandy used paid the tax, because they could not afford to take any risks of running counter to the revenue laws, while on the other hand the small man doing his own work would practically be in the same position as the moonshiners of Kentucky. He would feel that self-preservation was the first law of nature, and that the tax making it practically prohibitive to him to make wines, thus throwing the whole business into the more powerful hands, was an invasion of his liberty, and that he was entitled, even by taking a few risks, to try and preserve his freedom and identity as a wine-maker.

We have again to consider the question of export. While the Government, of course, might so arrange that the wines sold for export should receive a drawback of the tax, nevertheless the tax imposed upon the maker in standing the interest, local taxes, insurance, and evaporation on the added cost of the wines, would practically shut the California wine-maker out of the markets of the world, for there is no country in the world which to-day imposes a tax upon the brandy used in wine-making. In fact, in France and Spain the wine-makers, in order to facilitate their operations, are permitted to use other spirits than those derived from grapes free of tax, and it would therefore put the wine-makers of California in an absolutely impossible position to compete in the markets of the world were any added burden put upon them.

The prosperity in the sweet-wine business which has existed for the last four years has been due solely to the fact that the production and demand have been kept very nearly equal. The heavy crops, however, of 1902 and 1903 have upset this equilibrium, and the heavy planting of new vineyards which, encouraged by the sweet-wine law, have been entered into makes it necessary for the prosperity of California that every outlet for her wines should be exploited. That means to say that the encouragement of cheapness in the consuming markets is necessary to encourage the consumption. The production is already larger than the present markets will absorb, and when the new acreage comes into bearing, as it will next year, the perplexities of the California wine man will be vastly increased.

Should the recommendation of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue prevail in Congress and a tax be placed upon the brandy used for fortification of sweet wines, it is not an exaggeration to say that it will cost the grape-growing interests of the State of California in the depreciated value of its vineyards over thirty million dollars. After having encouraged its citizens to enter upon a legitimate line of business like viticulture, that for the paltry sum of one million dollars a year added to the revenue of this great country the Government cannot afford to perpetrate the crime of bringing absolute ruin and desolation to the doors of honest and industrious cultivators of vineyards.

The probabilities are that the Commissioner desires to get more revenue. He will get no revenue if he destroys the industry.

Another serious proposition on the part of the Government is that in the event that the Commissioner's proposals are carried out it will clearly be a breach of faith on the part of the Government of the United States.

By the very fact of the Government permitting the wine-makers of the State of California to manufacture sweet wines, as they have been in the habit of doing, free of tax, there have been many millions of dollars of capital invested in the sweet-wine business, the basis of which was the very permanency of the policy of the Government.

Not only have there been wineries erected all over the sweet-wine districts of California, but the growers, who comprise a portion of the very best population of our State, the actual settlers, invited to come from all parts of the world under representations of the various chambers of commerce and public bodies of the cities of California, by virtue of the promises made by the Government of the United States, have been induced to plant large acreage of vineyard lands, with the varieties of grapes which are used for sweet wine purposes only.

Would it not be a clear breach of faith on the part of this Government to destroy the values of the many plants and vineyards by imposing such a prohibitive tax as is proposed by the commissioner?

Moreover, contracts have been made and entered into by and between the wine-makers on one part and the grape-growers on the other, covering a period of from five to ten years, upon prices based upon the conditions as they now exist.

The industry of grape-growing and sweet-wine making is one of the great interests of the State. It ranks fourth in commercial value, and the gross product, measured by dollars and cents, is greater than the value of the annual gold production.

As a matter of public policy and in the interest of temperance, the Government should encourage the manufacture of pure, sound wines cheaply, rather than discourage it.

The very fact that the Government has not heretofore taxed spirits for fortifying purposes has made it possible to manufacture and sell good, sound, pure California wines at very reasonable prices, putting them within the reach of the great middle and laboring classes.

No less a personage than the immortal Jefferson, the one citizen of the Revolution who was near to the heart of the masses, said:

"I rejoice as a moralist at a prospect of a reduction in the duties on wine by our National Legislature. It is an error to view a tax on that liquor as merely a tax on the rich. It is prohibition of its use to the middling classes of our citizens, and the condemnation of them to the poisonous spirits which is desolating their homes. No nation is drunken where wine is cheap; and none sober where the dearness of wine substitutes ardent spirits as its common beverage."

The law would affect all persons engaged in the wine industry. It would probably not go into effect until light stocks would have been turned over. The wine dealer and distributor would suffer the least and he would accommodate himself to the new conditions without any serious result. He makes quick turns and has no regard for quality.

There is a class, however, that is carrying large stocks of wines for aging purposes. New wines marketed have been one of the great drawbacks to the California wine business and have done more to retard its development than anything else. Old stocks should not be forced on the market. It would take out of California all the old holdings, and it would require several years before California could again furnish any more old wines.

The reputation of California for good old wines has been firmly established within the last few years, and it is on account of these old stocks being held that the name of California wines is synonymous with all that is good, pure, and wholesome in wines. The market could not absorb a large volume of old goods without great sacrifice and loss to the holders. It must be disposed of gradually, because the market will consume the more matured wines in small quantities only.

The serious sufferer would be the tiller of the soil, for if the industry was not entirely throttled, just in proportion to the amount of tax imposed would be the decline in the price per ton of grapes.

The minimum reduction would be $5 per ton for grapes. That amount less than the prevailing grape prices now would put him out of the business world and would end his career as a grower of grapes.

One of the great industries of California would become a thing of the past, many millions of capital lost, and a majority of the grape-growers who follow the business as an avocation become bankrupts.

SECTION 14. The Legislature of each State which is chosen next preceding the expiration of the time for which any Senator was elected to represent such State in Congress shall, on the second Tuesday after the meeting and organization thereof, proceed to elect a Senator in Congress.

SEC. 15. Such election shall be conducted in the following manner: Each House shall openly, by a viva voce vote of each member present, name one person for Senator in Congress from such State, and the name of the person so voted for who received a majority of the whole number of votes cast in each House shall be entered on the Journal of that House by the Clerk or Secretary thereof, or if either House fails to give such majority to any person on that day, the fact shall be entered on the Journal. At twelve o'clock M. of the day following that on which proceedings are required to take place as aforesaid, the members of the two Houses shall convene in Joint Assembly, and the Journal of each House shall then be read, and if the same person has received a majority of all the votes in each House, he shall be declared duly elected Senator. But

If no person receives such majority on the first day, the Joint Assembly shall meet at twelve o'clock m. of each succeeding day during the session of the Legislature, and shall take at least one vote until a Senator is elected.

Sec. 16. Sec. 17. Whenever, during the session of the Legislature of any State, a vacancy occurs in the representation of such State in the Senate, similar proceedings to fill such vacancy shall be had on the second Tuesday after the Legislature is organized and has notice of such vacancy.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President presented the following communications, which were ordered printed in the Journal:

ORANGE, CALIFORNIA, January 9, 1905.

HON. ALDEN ANDERSON:

DEAR SIR: I herewith enclose printed copy of resolutions adopted by the Farmers' Clubs' Institute, in session at Santa Barbara, January 3, 4, 5, and 6, 1905.

Hoping they will find your approval and that you will have them placed in the hands of the proper committees.

I am, respectfully,

ROY K. BISHOP, Secretary of Institute.

VITALLY IMPORTANT RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

RESOLUTION I.

WHEREAS, There is a widespread feeling that our schools educate our children away from our farms by ignoring the subject of agriculture; and

WHEREAS, This evil can best be corrected by giving instruction in the rudiments of agriculture in the earlier years of our public schools; therefore

Resolved, That we, the members of the Farmers' Club Institute, at Santa Barbara, respectfully request our legislators to pass a law making a knowledge of the first principles of agriculture requisite to graduation from our State normal schools.

RESOLUTION II.

Resolved, That we, the farmers and fruit-growers of Southern California, assembled at the Farmers' Club Institute in Santa Barbara, earnestly requests our representatives in the Legislature to enact a law to prevent the waste of artesian water from flowing wells and drainage canals.

RESOLUTION III.

Resolved, That this convention petition the Legislature to appropriate $10,000 annually for the maintenance of farmers' institutes, in order that this work, so valuable to the fruit-growing and farming interests of our State, shall be continued and made even more effective.

RESOLUTION IV.

WHEREAS, The fruit-growers of California appreciate the good work performed by the quarantine division of the State Commission of Horticulture in keeping new pests out of our State; and

WHEREAS, It is very apparent that owing to increased ocean traffic and large importation of horticultural products the present funds and inspection are inadequate to thoroughly guard our industry; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, fruit-growers assembled at Santa Barbara under the auspices of the farmers' institute, do recommend our representatives now assembled at Sacramento to do all in their power to protect our industry by giving us further aid in this valuable department

RESOLUTION V.

WHEREAS, It is generally admitted that all insectivorous, weed-seed-eating, and other birds that are not harmful to agriculture, and whose beneficial services to the farmers and fruit-growers have been established by investigations of the biologists of the Agricultural Department at Washington, are worthy of legal protection; and

WHEREAS, The State of California stands almost alone in giving practically no protection to her wild birds other than game birds; and

WHEREAS, Twenty-seven States and Territories of the Union have adopted comprehensive and effective laws for the protection of the non-harmful and beneficial non-game birds, which constitute about eighty per cent of our total bird life; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Farmers' Club Institute urges the enactment of a similar comprehensive State law for the protection of all non-harmful birds other than game birds, and respectfully requests the members of the General Assembly from Santa Barbara County to give such bill when presented their careful consideration and support.

Resolved, That we also approve of the following proposed amendments to the State game law: To prohibit the killing of the mourning dove during its nesting season; to reduce the season for legally hunting deer to a period not exceeding two months and to reduce the number which any one person may kill to not more than two in a season; to prohibit the sale of doves, snipe, and all other land birds; to protect the tree squirrels at all times; to reduce the day bag limit on all game birds to a number not exceeding twenty-five; to reduce the open season for quail to a period not exceeding two months, and to require a hunting license from all non-residents of the State of California.

RESOLUTION VI.

WHEREAS, Our brethren in the San Fernando Valley are threatened with the ruin of their ranches and the loss of their homes through the claim of the City of Los Angeles to all the water from the watershed of the Los Angeles River; and

WHEREAS, The establishment and enforcement of this claim would be disastrous to widespread and vital interests in Southern California; therefore

Resolved, That we regret exceedingly any apparent necessity for bringing this matter into the courts, and hereby respectfully express the earnest prayer and the hope that Los Angeles may find some way out of its dilemma without ruining the very sources of its own prosperity.

A lively discussion followed the reading of this resolution on the right of the City of Los Angeles to control the water of the San Fernando Valley and the watershed of the Los Angeles River. Mr. Griswold of Tropic, viewing the contention from the standpoint of the rights of the ranchmen settled in the valley, said that they were willing to concede to the city the right to develop the legality of their contention in the higher courts, but it is unfair to enforce an injunction against the ranchmen of the valley, depriving them of the use of the waters underlying their land. He added that they, as owners of the land in the valley, felt so secure of their position, that they were willing to risk their case before the highest courts.

RESOLUTION VII.

WHEREAS, The State of California now holds the chairmanship of the Committee on Irrigation, the importance of which to agriculture and the general welfare of our State is most vital, which chairmanship will be lost if Senator Bard is not reelected; and

WHEREAS, No candidate yet suggested has such knowledge of the problems that confront our agricultural and horticultural interests, and such experience with our irrigation systems; and

WHEREAS, No other candidate has greater ability, more unselfish devotion or cleaner character; therefore

Resolved, That the Farmers' Club Institute urges the reelection of Senator Bard to the Senate of the United States.

RESOLUTION VIII.

Resolved, That the hearty thanks of this institute be tendered to the committee of arrangements, to the chamber of commerce and especially to Mr. Kahlea, for their careful provision for the success of our meetings; to those who have furnished such excellent music; to the railroad and hotels for reduced rates, and to the competent leader of these institutes, and to all who have participated in these very helpful and improving meetings.

RESOLUTION IX.

WHEREAS, It seems necessary to us, the farmers and horticulturists of Southern California, assembled in a Farmers' Club Institute at Santa Barbara, that a State law be enacted protecting our forest areas; and

WHEREAS, The United States Bureau of Forestry has prepared such a law, entitled "An Act to provide for the protection and management of forest land within the State of California," be it

Resolved, That the Legislature is hereby strongly urged to pass the above entitled Act at the present session.

RESOLUTION X

WHEREAS, A comprehensive system of agricultural education, scientific and practical, should be available to our country-bred boys and girls; and

WHEREAS, Such system would tend to decrease the number now leaving their farm homes for the city, to their own and the State's harm, and greatly increase the efficiency of our productive classes; and

WHEREAS, The present provision is confined to the higher agricultural education, available to but a very small number of our farm youths; and

WHEREAS, The higher efficiency of our farm classes is demanded to develop our vast agricultural resources; and

WHEREAS, Great loss is constantly accruing to the State as well as to the individual from the lack of comprehensive field investigation, especially in our great fruit industries; and

WHEREAS, There are serious problems threatening the continued prosperity if not the very existence of the great citrus and walnut industries, which in the nature of the case cannot be solved except in their immediate vicinities; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the University Annual Farmers' Club Institute, in session at Santa Barbara on this 6th day of January, 1906:

1. That we favor the immediate purchase of a farm to be under the control of the University, of sufficient acreage, in the locality furnishing the best possible soil, climatic and other conditions for experimenting with the stock, grain, and plant industries of California, to be used as a model for farmers of the State, and also in connection with the educational work.

2. That we favor the construction on said farm, in connection with the farm buildings, of school buildings, and the maintenance thereon and therein of a school of agriculture of a secondary or high-school grade, so adjusted as to courses of instruction and length of terms as to attract our farm boys and girls, who yearly come from our rural public school and receive no further education and training in agriculture.

3. That we favor the purchase of sufficient land in Southern California a portion of which shall consist of a bearing orchard on which to conduct such investigation as to citrus fruits, walnuts, and other fruits and nuts specially suited to conditions south of Tehachapi, as cannot properly be carried on coöperatively in private orchards, and to propagate and acclimate new varieties of citrus and other fruits, also nuts and other products specially adapted to the locality, and which cannot be exploited in climatic and soil conditions best adapted to investigating general stock, farm, and northern fruit products.

4. That we favor the construction of said land and of a building suitable for laboratory purposes, to be equipped for efficiently investigating pathological culture and other problems of the citrus and walnut industries and to provide for thoroughly efficient experts to carry on this work.

5. That we favor an appropriation by the Legislature at its present session of the sum of $250,000 for the farm and equipment, and $75,000 for the pathological station and equipment.

Resolved, that we are deeply impressed by the work of the University, together with the Department of Agriculture at Washington, represented by Prof. Portier in the matter of irrigation, and commend it heartily to the liberal support of our Legislature.

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF GOOD TEMPLARS, DISTRICT LODGE No. 5,
OFFICE OF DISTRICT SECRETARY, SAN FRANCISCO January 10, 1905.

To the Honorable Senate of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

GENTLEMEN: On behalf of District Lodge No. 5, Independent Order Good Templars, and in the name of its twelve hundred and fifty members in the bay counties of California, we respectfully urge your honorable body to pass such measures as shall prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors within a limit of two miles of the Soldiers' Home at Yountville, Napa County.

This, we believe, is in the nature of a necessity, and the action is imperative if the lives and morals of the veteran inmates are to be preserved. We point you to the report of the Home's Board of Directors, the statements of the daily press, and the general demand of public opinion for the need and desire for this legislation.

Respectfully,

[Seal.]

Before awarding any contract for doing any of such work or furnishing any of such materials or supplies for the city, the Council shall cause notice to be posted conspicuously on or near the Council Chamber door for ten days, and published not less than five days in a daily newspaper published in the city, inviting sealed proposals for the said work or materials or supplies, provided, however, that if the cost of said work or materials or supplies is less than $800, notice inviting sealed proposals for said work or material or supplies may be given by posting notices for six days conspicuously in front of the Council Chamber door and the Superintendent of Streets' office, and in one other public place to be designated by the City Council; and provided further, that if the cost of any such work, material or supplies is less than $100.00, the contract for the same may be written or otherwise, and may be let without advertising for sealed proposals; but no piece of repair work or improvement, or bill of materials or supplies, or labor, or materials and labor on any piece of repair work or improvement, shall under any circumstances be subdivided for the purpose of bringing the cost within the limits heretofore in this section provided, and any claims so subdivided shall not constitute a legal charge against the city; and provided further, that should the city be in great and immediate danger from any cause, or the public safety so require, the Council may, in its discretion, contract for such work as may be necessary to avoid such danger, without said notices, posting or publication.

1. Said notice or advertisement and notice shall invite sealed proposals, to be delivered up to a certain day and hour, at the office of the City Clerk of the City Council, for furnishing the supplies and materials and for work to be done, the materials for the proposed work, or for doing said work, or both, as may be deemed best by the City Council, and shall contain a general description of the work to be done, the materials or supplies to be furnished, the time within which the work is to be commenced and when to be completed, and the amount of bonds to be given for the faithful performance of the contract, and shall refer to plans and specifications on file in the office of the Clerk of the City Council for full detail and description of said work and materials. The contract shall specify the time within which the work shall be completed, or materials furnished, and when to be completed, or during what time or when the supplies shall be furnished, as specified in the notice inviting proposals therefor. The City Council may extend said time, but in no event for more than ninety days beyond the time originally fixed for its completion, except by consent of seven members of the City Council. In case of failure on the part of the contractor to complete his contract within the time fixed in the contract, or within such extension of said time as is herein provided, his contract shall be void, and the City Council shall not pay or allow to him any compensation for any work done or supplies furnished by him under said contract beyond such sum as, in the judgment of the City Council, the work done or materials furnished are actually worth to the city, less the detriment suffered by the city by such loss of time in the completion of the same.  SAN FRANCISCO, January 21, 1905. }

HON. W. C. RALSTON, Senate Chamber, Sacramento, California:

DEAR SIR: I enclose herewith copy of a resolution which was unanimously adopted by this association last evening. I also enclose clipping from this morning's "Examiner," naming the clubs who are members of the association, and who were represented at the meeting.

Being more or less familiar with the situation, there may be some data in connection therewith which you would like to have, and if you will advise just what same is, it will afford us considerable pleasure to endeavor to supply same.

Many thousands who are interested in pure athletics, earnestly hope that the bill introduced by you will become a law.

Yours truly,

W. B. HINCHMAN, President,
 641 Market St.

WHEREAS, Amateur boxing as conducted in the State of California, particularly in the City and County of San Francisco, by the so-called amateur boxing clubs, is on a purely professional basis, the contestant receiving cash prizes in sums from $50 to $150 for each contest; and

WHEREAS, Under prevailing conditions, amateur boxing has become degraded and the coming generation of athletes is becoming so demoralized that if these conditions are not discontinued, clean amateur athletics will become a thing of the past; and

WHEREAS, It has been the experience of the Amateur Athletic Union, that it is impossible to conduct amateur boxing under the supervision of local Boards of Supervisors; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union heartily approves of Senate Bill No. 24, introduced by Hon. W. C. Ralston, appertaining to amateur boxing contests; and be it further

Resolved, That this Association commends the action of Senator Ralston in his efforts to promote the best interests of amateur athletics, and to suppress the evils of professionalism; and be it further

The President presented the following, which were referred to Committee on Federal Relations and ordered printed in the Journal:

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE MANUFACTURERS' AND PRODUCERS' ASSOCIATION OF CALIFORNIA, JANUARY 19, 1905.

WHEREAS, The present welfare of the manufacturers, producers, wholesalers, and jobbers of the Pacific Coast, and the future growth and development of their various and varied business interests depend largely upon a system of rate-making by the transcontinental railroads, by which the terminal rate to which the jobbing and manufacturing cities of the coast are justly entitled by reason of water competition is recognized; and

WHEREAS, Determined effort has been made in the past by the manufacturers, producers, wholesalers, and jobbers of other sections to do away with said terminal rates to Pacific Coast cities, and substitute therefor a system of rates based on distance or mileage, ignoring water competition; and

WHEREAS, The assistance rendered the manufacturers, wholesalers, and jobbers of the Pacific Coast by the transcontinental railroads in combatting said effort to establish rates, based on distance or mileage, satisfies us that the interests of the Coast will be best served by leaving the authority to make rates where it now is, in the hands of the carriers, who are familiar with the exceptional conditions on the Pacific Coast and the Northwest, subject to review by the Interstate Commerce Commission upon complaint of the shipper who feels that a given rate is wrong; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association of California, while expressing the highest respect, protest against any legislation whereby the said commission would be given the arbitrary right to make rates, as inexpedient and not to the advantage of business interests of this community, and that we recommend in lieu thereof that the commission be increased to seven members, and that in view of the vast commercial interests involved and the differences governing transportation on the Pacific Coast and in the Northwest, that the two members thus added to the commission should be appointed, one from the Pacific Coast and one from the Northwest, so that all geographical sections of the country would be represented; and be it further

Resolved, That the law under which the commission is at present operating is, in our judgment, a proper one, if proper measures are taken to expedite the hearing of cases upon appeal which would contemplate the establishment of a court of transportation, whose decision would be final except in cases where the constitutionality of the decree was questioned.

MANUFACTURERS' AND PRODUCERS' ASSOCIATION OF CALIFORNIA.

(Signed:) A. SBARBORO, President.
E. GUNSHHEIM, Secretary.

If, for any reason personal service of the notice mentioned in this section cannot be made, the publication of such notice once a week for two weeks in some newspaper published in this city shall be for all purposes service equal to personal service, and shall give the Council the power to hear and determine such charge.

In all proceedings before the Council it shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers.

18. To fix by ordinance the compensation of all officers and employés of this city not fixed by this charter, and the compensation of any elective officer so fixed shall not be diminished or increased during a term of such office.

SANTA ROSA FREE LIBRARY.

Sec. 33. The Free Library of the city shall be under the control and management of five Library Trustees, who shall be known as the "Board of Free Library Trustees." They shall be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the consent of the Council. The office of Library Trustee shall be honorary, and the members thereof shall serve without salary or compensation. Such trustees shall generally hold office for two years; provided, that the members of the first board appointed shall so classify themselves by lot that two of their number shall go out of office at the end of one year, and the other three at the end of two years. Such appointment shall take effect on the first Tuesday in July. Any person, male or female, over the age of twenty-one years, who is a citizen of the United States and of this State, and a resident of the city, shall be eligible to become a Library Trustee.

Sec. 34. The Council of the City of Santa Rosa shall levy and collect, as in other cases, annually, a special tax specified by the Board of Library Trustees, at a rate of not more than ten cents on the one hundred dollars for the purpose of maintaining the Free Public Library and reading rooms and purchasing such books, journals, and other publications and personal property as may be necessary therefor. This estimate shall be made on or before the second Tuesday in July of each year.

Sec. 35. All money and revenue paid, collected, or received for library purposes, whether by taxation, gift, devise, bequest, or otherwise, shall belong to and be known and designated as the "Library Fund," and shall be paid into the City Treasury and there kept separate and apart from other funds, and be drawn therefrom as hereinafter provided, but only to be used and applied to the purposes herein authorized. If such payment into the treasury should be inconsistent with the conditions or terms of any such gift, devise or bequest, the Board shall provide for the safety and preservation of the same, and the application thereof to the use of the library, in accordance with the terms and conditions of such gift, devise, or bequest.

Sec. 36. The Board of Free Library Trustees shall take charge of all property belonging to such library and reading rooms, or that may be acquired by loan, purchase, gift, devise, or otherwise. The Trustees shall meet for business purposes monthly at stated times, and at such other times as they may appoint, at a place to be provided for the purpose, and a majority of all their number shall constitute a quorum for business. They shall elect one of their number President of the Board, and one of their number Secretary, who shall keep a full statement and account of all property, money, receipts, and expenditures, and a record and full minutes in writing of all their procedures.

Sec. 37. Such Trustees, by a majority vote of all their members, shall have power:

1. To make and enforce all rules and regulations and by-laws necessary for the administration, government, and protection of such library and reading rooms, and all property belonging thereto, or that may be loaned, devised, bequeathed or donated to the same.

2. To exercise and administer any trust, declared or created for such library or reading rooms, and to provide memorial tablets and niches to perpetuate the memories of such persons as are determined upon by the Board.

3. To define the powers and describe the duties of any and all officers, determine the number and employ all necessary subordinate officers and assistants, and at their pleasure and without previous notice remove any officer or assistant.

4. To purchase necessary books, journals, publications and other personal property.

5. To order the drawing and payment upon properly authenticated vouchers, duly certified by the President and Secretary, of money from the Library Fund for any liability or expenditure herein authorized; and generally to do all that may be necessary to fully carry into effect the provisions of this Act.

6. To fix the salaries of the Librarian and assistants, to furnish and equip such rooms and buildings as may be necessary for such library and reading rooms.

Sec. 38. The orders and demands of the Board of Free Library Trustees, when duly made and authenticated as above provided, shall be paid by the Treasurer of the city out of the Library Fund.

Sec. 39. The Trustees of such library and reading rooms, on or before the second Tuesday of July in each year, shall make an annual report to the Council, giving the condition of their trust, with full statements of all property and money received, whence derived, how used and expended; the number of books, journals and other publications on hand, the number added by purchase, gift or otherwise, during the year, the number lost or missing, the number and character of those loaned, and such other statistics, information and suggestions as may be of general interest. A financial report showing all receipts and disbursements of money shall also be made by the Secretary of the Board of Library Trustees, duly verified.

REVENUES AND TAXATION.

Sec. 45. All taxes, licenses, fines, penalties, and all moneys received from any source, shall constitute the revenues of the city, and shall be collected and paid into the City Treasury. Taxes shall be due and payable the first Monday in October.

Sec. 46. A general tax shall be levied on all of the property subject to taxation at noon on the first Monday of March of each year. Said general tax for all purposes of municipal government, exclusive of a tax for library purposes, shall not exceed one dollar on each hundred dollars of the assessed valuation of all property subject to taxation. A tax shall be levied on all property assessable for library purposes not to exceed ten cents on each hundred dollars thereof. Also a tax shall be levied sufficient to meet the interest and principal of the bonded indebtedness against the city for the ensuing fiscal year.

Sec. 47. The Tax Collector is hereby authorized and required to collect annually the street tax of two dollars from all male citizens between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years residing within the city, and annually a tax of not less than two dollars from each person keeping or owning a dog within the city, when the same has not been collected by the City Assessor.

Sec. 48. All taxes of every kind shall be a lien upon the real estate of the person liable therefor. Such lien takes effect at noon on the first Monday in March.

THE RATE OF TAXATION.

Sec. 49. On the first Tuesday of August of each year, or as soon thereafter as may be, the Council shall fix the rate of taxes, designating the number of cents on each hundred dollars of the valuation of taxable property within the city. They must fix the rate of tax for general purposes, determining the amount to be apportioned to the street, sewer, and water works funds, and to any other fund which they may establish. They shall fix the rate of tax for the Public Library such as will raise in taxes for this purpose the amount specified by the Board of Library Trustees, not exceeding ten cents on each hundred dollars; they shall fix the rate of tax for the payment of interest and principal of all bonded indebtedness to be paid.

Sec. 50. As soon as the Council has fixed the rate of taxes for the fiscal year, the Clerk must complete and enter in a separate column in the assessment book the respective sums to be paid on the property therein enumerated, and foot up the columns, showing the total amount of taxes, and on or before the first Monday in September he must deliver said corrected and completed assessment book to the City Tax Collector, and charge the Collector with the full amount of the taxes levied.

The city shall have all the rights, claims and liens for the amount of such municipal taxes as may now or hereafter be given or exercised by the people of the State of Califor, and on account of the assessment of the State and County taxes levied in Sonoma County.

Sec. 51. It shall be the duty of the Assessor while assessing to collect the taxes on all personal property, when the owner of said property is not seized of real estate in said city sufficient to afford ample security for the collection of said taxes. In all such cases he shall be governed in fixing the amount of the tax by the rate of tax levy for the preceding year. Should the Board of Equalization reduce the valuation for the same year of the property so assessed, the sum collected in excess at said reduced valuation must be repaid to the person from whom the collection was made, or to his assigns. And if the valuation of said property should be increased by said Board, then the deficiency must be collected as other taxes on personal property are collected.

DELINQUENT TAXES.

Sec. 52. On the last Monday in November of each year, at five o'clock P. M., all taxes then unpaid shall be and become delinquent, and thereafter the Tax Collector must collect for the use of the city an addition of ten per cent thereon.

Sec. 53. All taxes not paid on or before the last Monday in November shall be delinquent, and there shall be added ten per cent on said delinquent taxes for delinquency. The Chief of Police shall immediately thereafter make out a list of all delinquent taxes, adding the percentage for delinquency thereto, and shall verify the same with his oath, and shall proceed to advertise and sell the property for such delinquent taxes, costs of advertisement and other costs, in the manner as near as may be (except as to the time and place of sales), as is provided by the laws of the State for the sales of property for delinquent State and County taxes by the Tax Collector of the county. If there be no purchaser for any property offered for sale at such sales, such property shall be sold to the city, and the Chief of Police shall make an entry opposite to such property "Sold to the City of Santa Rosa." Any person may be a purchaser at any such tax sales. The manner of proceeding under such sales shall be as near as may be in conformity to the laws of the State governing tax sales. The Chief of Police shall issue and deliver certificates of sale to the purchasers, and if the property shall not be redeemed within the time allowed by law or by any ordinance of the city, he shall execute, acknowledge and deliver a deed to the purchaser or to his assigns with such recitals as may be provided by law for sales for State and County taxes, or by any ordinance of the city. All deeds for land sold for taxes shall have the same force and effect as Sheriff's deeds and shall be received in evidence in all courts, and shall be prima facie evidence that all of the provisions of the Charter, laws and ordinances in relation to the assessment and collection of taxes have been fully complied with. The Chief of Police shall have a credit for all taxes not collected by him on such delinquent list, which he could not by the use of diligence collect, or which shall not be realized on the sales. The Council may, by ordinance, provide additional or other legislation for the collection of taxes or sales of property for delinquent taxes, or may provide a different procedure of manner for the collecting of delinquent taxes than is herein provided. The Council may direct the City Attorney to enforce the lien for delinquent taxes by suit in any court having jurisdiction, and have the said property sold in the manner required by law. The assessment list is authority for the Chief of Police to collect all taxes and to seize upon personal property for the collection of street poll tax or personal property tax not collected by the City Assessor, and to levy upon or seize and sell the property for such tax or any taxes unpaid and realize the money due therefor. All taxes, penalties and fines shall be payable in gold coin of the United States.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

Sec. 54. The Council shall meet at their usual place of holding meetings on the second Monday in July of each year, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, and sit as a Board of Equalization, and shall continue in session from day to day until their labors are completed. They shall have power to hear complaints and to correct, modify or strike out any assessment made by the Assessor, and may, of their own motion, raise any assessment upon notice to the party whose assessment is raised. The corrected list shall be the assessment roll or list for the taxes for said year.

Sec. 55. Authority is hereby conferred upon the Council, in lieu of the provisions of this Charter, or any ordinance, to adopt and accept for the assessment and collection of the taxes of the city the general law of the State entitled "An Act to provide for the levy and collection of taxes by and for the use of municipal corporations and cities incorporated under the laws of the State, excepting municipal corporations of the first, second, third, and fourth classes, and cities operating under a Charter framed under section eight, article eleven of the Constitution," approved March 2, 1894, and amendments thereto. The Council shall have power by ordinance to adopt, accept or come under the said general law and amendments thereto, or any law or provision which may be passed by the Legislature for the assessment or collection of taxes; and when so adopted, it shall be and become valid and binding as the law for the assessment and collection of taxes of the city, any law or ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding; and the Council shall pass all ordinances to carry out all of the provisions of such laws; and shall by ordinance provide all things requisite in the premises; and may reduce or abolish any salary or compensation for any officer charged with the duties of assessing and collecting taxes under this charter or under the ordinances of the city.

Sec. 56. Whenever the Council shall determine that the public interest requires the construction of any permanent municipal building, work, sewer, water or light system, purchase of property, or improvements of any nature, the cost of which, in addition to other expenditures of the city, will exceed the income and revenue provided for in one year, they may call an election and submit to the electors of the city a proposition to incur a debt for such purpose, and proceed therein as provided in section eighteen of article eleven of the Constitution of this State, and as provided in this charter; provided, that no bond issue therefor shall be disposed of otherwise than sold for cash at not less than par value, and to the highest bidder after advertising for sealed proposals therefor.

Sec. 57. The city shall be limited in the matter of bonded indebtedness to ten per cent of the assessed value of all property within the city limits.

INCURRING BONDED INDEBTEDNESS.

Sec. 61. If at any time the Council shall deem it necessary to incur any indebtedness in excess of the money in the treasury applicable to the purposes for which such indebtedness is to be incurred, they shall give notice of an election at a general or special election, by the qualified electors of the city, to be held to determine whether such indebtedness shall be incurred. Such notice shall specify the amount of the indebtedness proposed to be incurred, the purpose of the same, and the amount of money necessary to be raised annually by taxation for the interest and sinking fund for such purpose, as hereinafter provided. Such notice shall be published for at least two weeks in some newspaper published and circulated in the city. If, upon a canvass of the votes cast at such election, it appears that not less than two thirds of all the qualified electors voting on such proposition at such election shall have voted in favor of incurring such indebtedness, it shall be the duty of the Council to pass an ordinance providing for creating such indebtedness and of paying the same; and in such ordinance provision shall be made for the levy and collection of an annual tax upon all the real and personal property subject to taxation within the city sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof, within a period of not more than forty years from the time of contracting the same. It shall be the duty of the Council in each year thereafter, at the time at which other taxes are levied, to levy a tax sufficient for such purposes in addition to the taxes by this charter authorized to be levied.

FISCAL YEAR.

Sec. 62. The fiscal year of the city shall commence on the first day of July of each year and shall end on the last day of June of the ensuing year. The fiscal year shall be designated as the year of our Lord of the first half of such fiscal year.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

Sec. 63. All bills, claims and demands against the city shall be plainly stated in writing and verified by the oath of the claimant or some person in his behalf. The items of the claim shall be particularly stated therein. The said claim, unless otherwise provided in this charter, shall be filed by the City Clerk, who shall present it to the Council, and they shall allow or reject the same in whole or in part. No bill, claim or demand shall be allowed in whole or in part unless so made out and verified. No action shall be commenced against the city unless the said bill, claim or demand upon which it is founded shall have been first so presented in writing, by filing the same with the City Clerk, nor until three months after such filing; provided, that if the same is rejected in whole or in part suit may be at once commenced thereon, and if the same is not acted on by the Council within three months after the same is filed suit may thereafter be commenced, and if no more is recovered against said city than the amount so allowed, no costs shall be recovered against said city, but said city shall recover costs. If no action shall be commenced within six months after the expiration of said three months, the bill, claim or demand so filed, of whatever nature, shall be forever barred and incapable of ever being revived in any manner whatsoever.

Sec. 64. Warrants on the treasury shall be drawn by the City Clerk for all bills, claims or demands allowed by the Council, which shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the City Clerk, and shall be numbered and paid in the order of their numbers.

EMINENT DOMAIN.

Sec. 65. Whenever a petition praying for the establishing, laying out, extending, widening, altering or opening of any street, lane, road, sidewalk, public square or public park, or for acquiring land therefor, or for acquiring any water system plant, land, water, water rights, rights of way, pipes, conduits and any and all easements, rights, privileges or appurtenances, or for acquiring any electric or gas plants, land, buildings, grounds, poles, pipes, wires, easements, and any and all rights of way, privileges or appurtenances for the supplying or furnishing additional water or water plant, or electric-light plant, or lights either of gas or electricity for said city or the inhabitants thereof, or for putting in, establishing, erecting or carrying on any electric or gas works for the purpose of lighting said city, or furnishing the inhabitants thereof with gas or electricity, or for exercising the right of eminent domain for any other purpose or use, signed by twenty-five or more resident citizens of said city, shall be presented to the Council, it shall be read in Council, and the hearing thereof set for the next regular meeting of the Council, and all owners and claimants of the property affected by the said proceedings shall be given five days' notice of the pendency of such proceeding and of the time and place of the said hearing of the same, and at the time fixed for the hearing of said petition, or to which the hearing thereof may be adjourned, the said petition and any and all protests, if any, shall be read, considered and acted on in open session; and if the Council shall deem the proposed establishing, laying out, extending, widening, altering, or opening of the street, lane, alley, road, sidewalk, public square, or public park, or for acquiring land therefor, or for acquiring any water system, plant, land, water, water right, rights of way, pipes, conduits and any and all easements, rights, privileges, or appurtenances, or for acquiring any electric or gas plants, land, buildings, grounds, poles, pipes, wires, easements, and any and all rights of way, privileges, or appurtenances for the supplying or furnishing additional water, or a water plant or lights, electric-light plant, or lights either of gas or electricity for the city or the inhabitants thereof, or for exercising the right of eminent domain for any other purpose or use, prayed for in the petition, to be a public necessity, they shall so declare by resolution entered upon their minutes, and shall order a survey to be made by a competent person, who shall make a survey and diagram of the same and report it to the Council. The diagram and survey shall show the location and description of the particular rights, privileges or property which it is proposed to acquire for any of the purposes herein stated, and the land or property of each owner affected thereby, and the boundaries of the land and a general description of the property proposed to be taken.

Sec. 67. Upon filing said survey and diagram the City Clerk shall issue a notice directed generally to all persons interested, setting forth that such petition has been filed, and the action of the Council thereon, and that the survey and diagram has been made and filed, and that the same were in his office, open to the inspection of all persons interested and that proceedings would be instituted against non-consenting property owners for the condemnation of the property required for public purposes or public use. Said notices shall be served on the non-consenting property owners and may be served by any competent person above the age of twenty-one years by delivering a copy thereof to the person to be served, or by posting the same in a conspicuous place on the land of such non-consenting property owner, and by publishing the same in a daily newspaper published in the city for five days. If any such owner shall not, within ten days after such service of said notice, either donate, sell or relinquish such land to the city for the purposes proposed, proceedings for condemnation shall be commenced in the name of the city in the court having jurisdiction.

Sec. 68. Any and all occupants and owners, or persons having any interest in the land sought to be condemned, may be joined as parties in the suit; and one action shall be sufficient against all persons owning, claiming or having any interest in the land or property sought to be taken.

Sec. 69. The record of the passage of the resolution of the Council declaring the work a public necessity for public use, or if the land or property sought to be taken is already a public use or quasi public use that the purpose for which it is sought to be taken is of higher and greater public use, and that the taking of the land for the purposes, as herein provided, is a public use and is necessary, or that the taking thereof in such proceeding is of a higher and greater public use than that for which it is being used, shall be conclusive of the fact, and it shall also be conclusive that the petition was in due form and had been signed by the requisite petitioners; and it shall be prima facie evidence that the notices were in due form, and were served in all respects as required by law, and that the acts and things required to be done up to the passing of the resolution or making the order had been done in all respects as required by law. The right and jurisdiction to take and acquire any property rights as herein stated shall extend to and cover any such property rights, whether within or without the corporate limits of the city.

PUBLIC STREETS, COURTS, PARKS, SIDEWALKS.

Sec. 70. All streets, sidewalks, lanes, alleys, places, courts, public squares or public parks now open or dedicated, or which may hereafter be opened or dedicated to public use, and all that have been used by the public for five years without interruption, shall be deemed and held to be open public streets, sidewalks, lanes, alleys, places, courts, public squares and public parks, and the Council is authorized, empowered and has the right and jurisdiction to establish or change the grade of such streets, sidewalks, lanes, alleys, places, courts, public squares and public parks, and to fix the width and boundaries thereof, and to exercise full control over the same.

WORK UPON STREETS, SIDEWALKS AND PUBLIC PLACES.

Sec. 71. Whenever the public interest or convenience shall require, the Council is authorized and has the power and jurisdiction to order the whole or any portion of the streets, sidewalks, lanes, avenues, alleys, courts, public squares, places or public parks to be graded, graveled, or regravled, planked or replanked, paved or repaved, macadamized or remacadamized, piled or repiled, capped or recapped, or otherwise improved; and to order sidewalks made, placed or constructed, manholes, culverts, cesspools, gutters, tunnels, curbing and cross walks to be laid, repaired, or improved; or to order any other work to be done which shall be necessary to complete the improvement of the whole or any portion of said streets, avenues, sidewalks, lanes, alleys, courts, places, public squares or public parks.

WHEN WORK CAN BE DONE.

SEC. 72. Before ordering any of the work or improvement mentioned in Section 71 of this charter the Council shall pass a resolution of intention so to do, describing the work or improvements to be done, and a copy of said resolution, with the date of its passage, shall be posted in a conspicuous place on or near the front of the building in which the sessions of the Council are held, or published for five days in a daily newspaper published in the city, and notices of a passage of said resolution signed by the Street Commissioner shall be posted conspicuously along the line of said proposed work at not more than one hundred feet in distance apart, and not less than three notices in all. Said notices shall be headed "Notice of Street Work" in letters of not less than one inch in length and in legible characters, stating the fact of the passage of the resolution, date of passage, and briefly the work proposed to be done, and shall refer to the resolution for further particulars. Said notices shall be posted at least ten days. The owners of two thirds of the frontage of the property fronting on said proposed work, when the same is for one block or more, shall have twenty days from the first day of posting of said notice within which to make and file with the City Clerk written objections to the proposed work or improvement. Upon receiving such written objections the City Clerk shall endorse thereon the date of their reception by him, and such objections shall be a bar for six months to any further proceedings in relation to the doing of said work, unless the owners of two thirds or more of the frontage as aforesaid shall meanwhile petition for the same to be done. When not more than two blocks including street crossings or intersections remain ungraded to the official grade, or otherwise unimproved in whole or in part, and a block or more on one or both sides upon said street has been so graded or otherwise improved, said Council may order such work or improvement mentioned to be done upon said ungraded or unimproved part of said street notwithstanding such objections, and said work shall not be stayed or prevented by any written objections, unless the Council shall deem the same proper.

At the expiration of the said twenty days, if no written objections by the owners of two thirds of the frontage to the work of improvement in said resolution proposed to be done has been delivered to the City Clerk as aforesaid, or if in any written objections signed or purporting to be signed by the owners of two thirds of the frontage is disallowed by said Council, as not of itself barring said work, the Council shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to order any of the said work to be done, and all persons in interest shall be deemed to have had full notice and full opportunity to be heard, and shall be concluded from further hearing or objections. Before passing any order or resolution for the construction, making or doing of said work, plans and specifications and estimates of the costs and expenses thereof shall be furnished by the City Engineer.

STREET WORK IN CERTAIN CASES.

SEC. 73. If in the opinion of the Council the public necessity requires any of the work mentioned in Section 71 of this charter to be done, and that it is of more than local or ordinary benefit, the Council shall have power and jurisdiction in such case to order such work to be done, and to pay a portion or all of the costs and expenses thereof out of any available funds in the city treasury; but the Council shall have power to apportion the whole of the costs and expenses of such work or improvement against the owners of property fronting on the line of such work or improvement according to the frontage of lots or land owned by each respectively. And if a portion is paid out of the city treasury the remainder of such costs and expenses shall be apportioned to and charged against the owners of property fronting on the line of said work or improvements authorized in this section, according to the frontage of lots or land owned by each respectively. If a portion or all of the costs and expenses of the work is to be apportioned and collected from the owners of the lots or land fronting on such improvement, the Council shall comply with all of the provisions of Section 72 of this charter in relation to the passage of a resolution of intention, posting of notices, filing of written objections, giving notices of hearing, making the order, and the acts and things required in said section to be done shall be done and performed in the same manner as is required when the whole of the costs and expenses of the said work is to be paid by the owners of property fronting on the line of the work.

WHO MAY PETITION.

SEC. 74. The owners of two thirds of the frontage of lots and lands fronting on any street, sidewalk, avenue, lane, alley, place or court, or of lots of land liable to be assessed for the costs and expenses of the work which may be ordered, or their duly authorized agents, may petition the Council to order any of the work mentioned in this charter to be done, and the Council may order the work mentioned in this charter to be done; in which case the Council shall proceed under Section 72 of this charter, and all of the provisions of said Section 72 shall be complied with the same as though no petition for said work had been filed.

HOW COSTS ARE APPORTIONED.

SEC. 75. When all of the costs and expenses, or a portion thereof, for the work in this charter provided is for work done upon any street, lane, alley, or sidewalk, and the same is to be apportioned and charged against the owners of property fronting on such work, such costs and expenses shall be apportioned to, charged against and collected from the owners of the property fronting upon the line of the work ordered to be done, and such owners shall be liable for such costs and expenses for all of the work embraced in the resolution or order, and such costs and expenses shall be apportioned against and collected from the owners of property fronting on the line of said work. In all cases of apportioning the costs and expenses against the owners of property, it shall be according to the number of front feet owned by each respectively. The costs of such work on street crossings or street intersections shall be paid by the city.

SEALED BIDS OR PROPOSALS.

SEC. 76. Before ordering any contract to be let for any work provided for in this charter the Street Commissioner shall cause specifications to be made, one copy to be kept by the City Clerk in his office for the inspection of bidders, and cause a copy and a notice to bidders to be posted conspicuously for five days on or near the front of the building in which the sessions of the Council are held, inviting sealed bids for doing the work, and shall also cause a like notice to be posted up in at least two other public places in said city, and referring to the specifications posted or on file with the City Clerk. All bids offered shall be accompanied by a check, payable to the order of the Mayor, certified by a responsible bank, for an amount which shall not be less than ten percent of the aggregate of the bid. Said bid shall be delivered to the City Clerk, and the Council shall, in open session, examine and publicly declare the same. The Council may reject any and all bids, and shall have the right to select the lowest responsible bid and to award the contract to the bidder thereof. The checks accompanying all bids not accepted shall be returned to the bidders who gave them; but the checks accompanying the accepted bid shall be held by said Clerk until the contract for doing said work has been duly entered into and the bond required shall be given and accepted by the Mayor, or until the owners of a majority of the frontage on said work shall elect to take the contract at the same bid, which they may do in five days after the bid has been announced; but if the bidder fails, neglects or refuses to enter into contract to perform said work for three days after the expiration of the five days allowed to property owners to take the bid, then the said check accompanying his bid and the amount therein mentioned shall be declared forfeited to and become the property of the city.

The owners of a majority of the frontage of lots and land upon the line of said proposed work may, within five days from the declaring of the bid, elect to take said work and to enter into a written contract to do the whole work at the same bid, but should they fail to enter into a contract within the five days allowed for that purpose, then the successful bidder shall within three days thereafter enter into a contract with the city to do the work, and at the price specified in his bid. But should such successful bidder fail or neglect to enter into such contract in the time limited, the Council shall have the right to declare the bid off, and the certified check and the money thereunder shall be forfeited to and become the property of the city, and shall be paid into the treasury, and the Council shall again give notice for bids for said work as in the first instance, and shall award the contract to the then lowest responsible bidder. At the time of executing any contract for work as herein provided, each contractor shall execute a bond to the satisfaction of the Mayor, with two or more sureties, payable to the city, in such sums as the Council shall deem adequate, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract. The Mayor is hereby authorized, in his official capacity, to take and receive all written contracts and bonds authorized under this charter and to do and perform any act required in relation thereto.

SEC. 77. In case the Council is not satisfied with any bid or bids that may have been made for the construction and performing of the work it may, in case the owners of the majority of the frontage of lots and land do not elect to take said work and to enter into a written contract to do the whole thereof at a price agreeable to the Council, that then the said Council shall have the right to elect to do the work in the name of and for the city. And if for any reason the Council is of the opinion that better work will be done and better material furnished and that it will be for the best interests of the city to have the work done in the name of and by the city, that when the Council shall have the right, and it shall be its duty to do and perform such work and pay therefor out of the proper funds of the city, and the city shall have a lien upon all property fronting upon said street or streets, sidewalks or alleys where the said work shall be done, and the same shall be apportioned as in Section 75 set forth, and the same shall be collected in such manner as the Council shall direct.

SEC. 78. The Street Commissioner shall superintend any work herein authorized to be done which shall be commenced and prosecuted with diligence until completed, and the Council may, for good cause, extend the time. The work must be done under the direction and to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner. The materials used and the work done must comply with the specifications and to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner. Neither the city nor any officer thereof shall be liable for any portion of the costs or expenses of the work, nor for any delinquency of persons or property assessed or liable therefor, except as provided in Sections 73, 75, and 77 of this charter. The Council may by ordinance prescribe the materials to be used and the mode of executing the work under all contracts in relation thereto. The assessment and apportionment of the costs and expenses of all such work shall be made by the Street Commissioner.

SEC. 79. Where the work done is the building, making or laying of sidewalk and curbing thereto on one side only of the street, or is work done on one side of the center line of a street, lane or alley, the lots and land fronting on that side on which the work is done only shall be assessed.

SEC. 80. When the width and grade of any street and sidewalk has been established the owner or owners of property thereon may, by permission of the Council and under the supervision of the Street Commissioner, do the work of grading, graveling, macadamizing, paving or improving such street, and may grade such street to the established grade and gravel, macadamize, pave and put the same in order, and may make, lay and build sidewalks in front of their said property, if done to the satisfaction of the Street Commissioner, and in conformity to existing ordinances, rules and regulations and plans approved by the Council. The expense of such work in this section mentioned shall be borne by such owners of property according to frontage.

ASSESSMENT FOR WORK.

SEC. 81. After the completion of any work done under contract as in this charter provided, and where the owners of property fronting on the line of the work are to pay or be charged with the costs and expenses of the whole or a portion thereof the Street Commissioner shall make an assessment to cover the sum due for the work performed, including incidental and other expenses. Such assessment shall briefly refer to the contract, the work performed thereunder, the rate per front foot, the amount of each assessment and the amount each owner must pay and the name of the owner of each lot, if known; if not known, the word "Unknown" shall be written opposite to the number of the lot and the amount given thereon, the lot or portion of a lot and the front feet of each owner so far as can be ascertained, and the total number of front feet fronting upon the work, and liable for the assessment. The assessment shall have a diagram attached showing the location of the lots, the frontage of each owner, the street, cross streets and the number of feet assessed for said work. The said assessment shall have attached thereto a warrant signed by the Street Commissioner and may be substantially in the following form: "By virtue hereof, I (name), Street Commissioner of the City of Santa Rosa, County of Sonoma, State of California, do authorize and empower (name of contractor), or his assigns, to demand and receive the several assessments upon the assessment roll and diagram hereto attached, and this shall be his (or their) warrant for the same. (Date and signature.)" The assessment diagram and warrant attached shall be recorded in the office of the City Clerk, and shall be a lien upon the lots of land assessed respectively for one year from its date, and from and after the same shall be recorded all persons shall be deemed to have notice of its contents. If payment shall be made after such recording, satisfaction may be entered on the record thereof and the lien discharged. The lien, in any case, shall have no force or validity whatever after the expiration of said one year unless suit to foreclose the same shall have been commenced thereon within that time. At any time after the period of thirty days from the date of the warrant the contractor or his assigns may sue in his own name and foreclose the lien against the owner or persons having any interest in the lots or portion of lots of land assessed, and recover the amount of the assessment remaining unpaid, interest and costs, and also the sum of fifteen dollars as attorney's fees for foreclosing such lien. Such suit may be brought in the Superior Court of the County of Sonoma, State of California, and summons shall issue and be served in the manner required in other cases. Said warrant, assessment and diagram shall be prima facie evidence of the regularity and correctness of the assessment and the correctness of all of the proceedings, and of all of the acts, resolutions and orders of the Council, and like evidence of the right of the plaintiff to recover in the action, and the said court shall have power to adjudge and decree a lien upon the lots of land and premises for the whole amount due from each lot owner, and to order the same to be sold on execution, as in other cases of the sale of real estate by the process of the Court. Such sales shall be conducted in all respects in the same manner, as near as may be, and with like effect, as sales on execution, and the sections of the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California in relation to sales on execution, certificates of sale, redemptions, deeds, and all other proceedings thereon, are made applicable hereunder. Such premises, if sold, may be redeemed as is provided by law in other cases. The Code of Civil Procedure of California governing appeals to the Supreme Court in civil cases shall apply to such cases. All provisions of this charter regulating street work shall be liberally construed, and all presumptions shall be indulged in favor of upholding the proceedings. If the work has been done substantially as required by the contract, no irregularity, error or mistake in any of the proceedings, or any disregard, violation of or failure to comply with any of the requirements of this charter, or of any law or ordinance of the city, shall be a defense to the action to foreclose any lien provided for in this charter, or to any action to recover the amount of the assessment.

SEC. 85. The Council may by ordinance provide any other or different procedure for the collection of the amounts due under the assessment for work done under this charter.

SEC. 86. The Council shall have the power to acquire for the city and the inhabitants thereof by purchase, condemnation or otherwise, telephone lines, systems and appliances street, rail and other roads, electric-light works, water works, gas works, steam plants or other power plants, or any other public utility, and all appliances for operating the same, and to operate and carry on the same, to purchase or construct buildings necessary for the use and operation of the same, and all necessary machinery and appliances for any works belonging to the city, and shall have the power to lay wires, pipes and mains and construct all such appliances as may be needed in operating the same inside and outside of the city, for the city and the inhabitants thereof, and for sale to said inhabitants, and for sale outside the city, and to operate the same and to

The Council shall have power to construct, make, lay and build sewers, manholes, sinks, drainage cesspools and outlets. Contracts for all said work shall be based upon plans and specifications adopted by the Council, and shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, unless the Council shall elect to do the work in the name of and for the city. The Council shall provide by ordinance for the manner of letting contracts and the doing and completion of work under this section. The work mentioned in this section shall be done under the supervision of the Street Commissioner. The Council shall provide for the payment of the contract price for the work in this section provided for in accordance with the contract and upon approval by the Street Commissioner.

PETITION—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following petition was presented by Senator Coggins and ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Legislature of the State of California, Thirty-sixth Session:

I am in favor of extending the same right of suffrage to woman that is enjoyed by man, because she is as much an independent individuality as he; she is subject to every rule of law; she must pay its penalties and bear its burdens—man cannot be responsible for her in these things. Woman was placed in the world by a wise Creator as man's companion, his full mate and equal in life. Then why should man arbitrarily deny her that most delicate, and yet most potent means of self-protection, the ballot?

HON. E. V. SPENCER, of Lassen.

We, the undersigned citizens of Lassen County, hereby respectfully request that your honorable body submit to the voters of the State at the next election, an amendment to the State Constitution giving to women equal political rights with men.

On the day and hour fixed for the sale, all the property delinquent, upon which the taxes of all kinds, penalties, and costs have not been paid, shall, by operation of law and the declaration of the Tax Collector, be sold to the City of San Diego, and said Tax Collector shall make an entry "sold to the city" on the delinquent assessment list opposite the tax (and a duplicate certificate of sale shall be delivered to the City Auditor and filed by him in his office, and a like certificate shall be filed in the office of the City Clerk), and said Tax Collector shall be credited with the amount thereof in his settlement with the Auditor; provided, that on the day of sale the owner or person in possession of any property offered for sale for taxes due thereon, may pay the taxes, penalties, and costs due.

The Tax Collector must make out in duplicate a certificate of delinquent tax sale for each piece or tract of land sold, dated on the day of sale, stating (when known) the name of the person assessed, a description of the land sold, that it was sold for delinquent taxes to the city, and giving the amount and year of the assessment, and specifying when the city will be entitled to a deed. A redemption of the property sold may be made by the owner or any person in interest within five years from the date of the sale to the city, or at any time prior to the entry or sale of said land by the city, in the manner provided by law for the redemption of property sold to the State for State and County taxes, at the time such redemption is made; provided, that the estimate for such redemption must be made by the City Auditor instead of the County Auditor, and the receipt for money paid for such redemption must be given by the City Treasurer instead of the County Treasurer, and upon the production of such receipt and estimate, the City Clerk shall write upon the proper certificate as filed in his office the word "Redeemed," giving the date, and by whom redeemed. The Auditor's fee for such estimate shall be two dollars paid in advance, but the City Clerk shall receive no fee for marking the certificate redeemed. The Auditor's fee, as herein provided, as well as the amount to redeem, shall be paid to the Treasurer by the person redeeming, and such fee shall be apportioned to the salary fund of the city. If the property is not redeemed within five years from the date of the sale thereof to the city, the Tax Collector of said city, or his successor in office, must make to the city a deed to the property, reciting in the deed substantially the matters contained in the certificate, and that no person has redeemed the property during the time allowed for its redemption.

That Sections 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, and 27 of Chapter 1 of Article 6 of said charter be and the same are hereby repealed.

That Chapter 1 of Article VI of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered Section 32, which shall read as follows:

Section 32. Whenever it shall be provided by an Act of the Legislature of the State of California that any of the duties now performed, or hereafter to be performed by the Assessor of the City of San Diego, may be performed by the Assessor of the County of San Diego, and that the duties now performed, or hereafter to be performed, by the Tax Collector of said city, may be performed by the Tax Collector of said county, or the duties to be performed, or hereafter to be performed, by any other officer of said city, may be performed by any officer of said county, the City of San Diego, through its Common Council, may avail itself of the provisions of said Act by the adoption of an ordinance, ratified by a vote of the qualified electors of said city, as hereinafter provided, and provide that the duties of such officer or officers of said city, or any of such duties as are permitted by such general Act of the Legislature to be performed by such county officer or officers, may be performed by such county officer or officers of the said County of San Diego, at the times and in the manner and to the extent as provided in such General Act of the Legislature.

In case such ordinance shall provide that all the duties of the said Assessor of said city shall be devolved upon the Assessor of the said County of San Diego, or in case such ordinance shall provide that only part of the duties of the said Assessor of said city shall be devolved upon the Assessor of said County of San Diego, and the remaining duties of the said City Assessor shall be performed by such officer of said city as may be designated for that purpose by such ordinance, then upon the taking effect of such ordinance such office of the Assessor of said city shall cease to exist, and is hereby declared to be abolished.

In case such ordinance shall provide that all the duties of the said Tax Collector of said city shall be devolved upon the Tax Collector of the said County of San Diego, or if by such ordinance only part of the duties of the said Tax Collector of said city shall be devolved upon the Tax Collector of said County of San Diego, and the remaining duties of the said Tax Collector of said city shall be performed by such officer of said city as may be designated for that purpose by such ordinance, then upon the taking effect of such ordinance such office of Tax Collector of said city shall cease to exist, and is hereby declared to be abolished.

As to all duties so devolved upon any officer of said county, he shall be ex-officio an officer of the City of San Diego.

The Common Council shall have power to provide, by such ordinance, a system for the assessment, levy, and collection of all taxes of said city, not inconsistent with the provisions of this section, which system shall conform, as nearly as the circumstances of the case may permit, to the provisions of the said General Act of the Legislature and the laws of the State of California in reference to the assessment, levy, and collection of State and County taxes, to the end that the duties of the Assessor of said city may be performed by the Assessor of said county, and the duties of the Tax Collector of said city, as to the taxes thereafter to be collected, may be performed by the Tax Collector of said county. No such ordinance shall take effect until it shall have been submitted for ratification to the electors of said city at a general municipal or special municipal election, and ratified by a majority of all votes cast on the question of such ratification.

In the event that said city shall so elect to avail itself of the provisions of such General Act of the Legislature, the Auditor of said city shall, on or before the first Monday in August in each year, prepare and transmit to the said Common Council, accompanied with the estimates and reports of each department, which he shall require to be delivered to him from the heads of each department on or before the 20th day of July in each year, an estimate of the probable necessities of the city for the current fiscal year, as provided in Section 1, Chapter 1, Article VI, of this charter, and the Common Council shall, on or before the second Monday in September of each year, by ordinance, fix the rate of taxes to be levied and levy the taxes upon all taxable property both real and personal, in the city necessary to raise sufficient revenue to carry on the different departments of the municipal government for the current fiscal year; provided, that the rate of taxes so levied shall not exceed in any year one hundred and ten cents on each one hundred dollars upon the assessment roll, except for the payment of the principal and interest of the bonded debt of the city, and also excepting any special tax voted by the people, the tax for maintenance and improvements of public parks, or for school purposes; and for taxation, assessment, and all other purposes the fiscal year of said city shall begin on the first day of July, and the property subject to taxation as aforesaid shall be assessed at its full cash value, which, in the judgment of the Assessor, it had at twelve o'clock noon on the first Monday of March, and the lien of the annual city tax levy shall attach at that hour.

In the event said Common Council shall so elect to avail itself of the provisions of said General Act of the Legislature, and said fiscal year shall be changed, the said Common Council shall have power to provide by taxation for sufficient revenue to carry on the different departments of the municipal government of said city for the period of time from the end of the fiscal year, as it stood before such change was made, to the beginning of the new fiscal year by including the same in the next annual tax levy.

That Chapter 2 of Article VI of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended by adding thereto a new section to be known as Section 15, which shall read as follows:

Section 15. Whenever it shall be determined by the legislative body of said city that the public interest of said city demands the acquisition, construction, or completion of any municipal improvement, including bridges, water-works, water-rights, sewers, light or power works or plants, buildings for municipal use, fire apparatus, and street work, or other works, property, or structures necessary or convenient to carry out the purposes, objects, and powers of the city, the cost of which will be too great to be paid out of the revenues of the city, to be levied during the fiscal year or years during which said improvement is proposed to be made, a special tax not to exceed the sum of twenty cents on each one hundred dollars may be levied on the property assessed for the purpose of taxation within said city, which said rate of taxation may be in addition to the annual rate of taxation allowed by law to be levied thereon. Before said tax shall be levied by the said legislative body of said city, the question of the levy of such tax shall be submitted to the voters of said city at any general or special municipal election, or at a special election to be held for that purpose, and if two thirds of the votes cast for the proposition of levying such tax shall be in favor of the levy thereof, then the levy shall be made, otherwise the taxes shall not be levied. Upon the ballots used at such election the proposition to be voted shall be stated in appropriate words, and the same arranged so that the voter may indicate his choice upon the proposition. If a special election is held, the same shall be held as are other elections within the city. At least two weeks before such election is held, the said legislative body of said city shall adopt an ordinance calling and providing for the same, wherein it shall be stated:

First—The nature of the proposed improvement for the cost of which the special tax shall be levied.

Second—The total amount of money to be raised for such improvement.

Third—The rate of taxation to be levied.

At the time fixed by law for the levying of taxes within said city, the legislative body thereof shall include the special tax herein provided for, which shall be the rate specified in the ordinance calling said election. Nor shall it be levied for a longer period of years than shall be sufficient to raise the amount of money specified in said ordinance. The proceeds for such special tax shall be set apart in a special fund, and shall only be expended for the purpose of making the improvements stated in said ordinance; provided, any balance left, after such improvement shall have been fully completed and paid for, shall be transferred to the general fund of said city.

That Section 2 of Chapter 2 of Article 6 of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2. All demands, bills, and claims which may arise against the city, including the payroll of all employes of the city, whether under regular monthly salary or not (except salaries of city officers fixed by this charter), shall be duly verified as hereinafter provided, and be filed with the Secretary of the Auditing Committee, who shall file and number the same in the order of presentation, and refer the same to the Auditing Committee for action, whose duty it shall be to allow or reject the same, in whole or in part, and if allowed, designate the particular fund from which they are to be paid, and endorse upon the back of each bill the date of its allowance or rejection, the amount allowed for, and also the section of the charter, number of ordinance, number of contract, resolution, or order under which the said bill, or demand was authorized or contracted for. These endorsements to be verified by the signatures of the Chairman and Secretary of the Committee. No demand upon the treasury shall be allowed by the Auditing Committee in favor of any officer or other person, or any of their assigns, who is in any manner indebted to the city, without first deducting therefrom the amount of such indebtedness, or in favor of any officer or other person, or his assigns, having the collection, care, custody, or control of public funds, unless the accounts of such officer or other person have been passed, approved, and allowed as is or may be required by law; nor in favor of any officer or other person or his assigns who has neglected to make any oath required by law, ordinance, or other regulation of the Common Council; nor in favor of any officer, or his assigns, who has failed, to the knowledge of the Auditing Committee, to do any duty imposed upon him by law, or ordinance, or other regulation of the Common Council.

That Article VII of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE VII.

Section 1. The school system of the City of San Diego shall include primary, grammar, and high schools, and such evening schools, technical schools, and parental schools as now are established, or may hereafter be established by the Board of Education of said city in the San Diego School District under the General School Laws of the State of California. The boundaries of said San Diego School District shall be those now established or that may hereafter be established by and under the General School Laws of the State of California.

Section 2. The government of the San Diego School District shall be vested in a Board of Education, composed of eighteen persons, two of whom shall be elected from each ward, and each of whom shall have been for two years a resident of this city, who shall be styled, Members of the Board of Education. They shall serve without salary. They shall serve four years, or until their successors are elected and qualified. The members of the said Board of Education shall be elected at the same time and in the same manner as the municipal officers of the City of San Diego. Any vacancy in the body shall be filled by the Board from the electors of the ward in which the vacancy has occurred until the next general city election when a member shall be elected to fill the unexpired term.

Section 3. The duties and powers of the Board of Education shall be such as are now, or may hereafter be enjoined and conferred on Boards of Education in City and School Districts by the laws of the State of California.

That Article VIII of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII.

The public library and reading-room shall be governed and controlled by a Board of three Trustees, who shall be appointed by the Mayor from among the qualified electors of said city, subject to the approval of the Board of Delegates, and they shall hold office for four years; provided, that the terms of the Trustees first appointed shall commence on the first Monday in May, 1905.

Immediately upon their appointment they shall elect a President from among their number and so classify themselves that one of their number shall go out of office in two years, one in three years, and one in four years.

The Common Council of said city shall make an annual tax levy sufficient to raise at least six thousand dollars for the purpose of supporting and maintaining said public library.

In all other particulars said library and reading-room shall be governed and controlled by the provisions of the Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act to establish free public libraries and reading-rooms," approved April 24th, 1880; and the powers and duties of said Board of Trustees shall be as in said Act prescribed.

That Section 15 of Chapter 3 of Article 9 of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 15. The Board of Health may locate, establish, and maintain pest houses, and discontinue and remove the same whenever and wherever necessary for the preservation of the public health. Said Board may appoint and remove at pleasure such physicians and nurses (whose compensation shall be fixed by the Common Council by ordinance) for said pest houses as may be necessary to maintain the efficiency of the same; and may cause to be removed thereto and kept therein any person affected with any contagious or infectious disease.

That Section 2 of Article 10 of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2. Every officer, deputy, and clerk, except where otherwise provided in this charter or by ordinance, must have been, at the time of his election or appointment, both an elector of the city, and an actual resident therein for one year next preceding his election or appointment.

That Article I of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended by adding thereto a new chapter to be known as Chapter IV, which shall read as follows:

CHAPTER IV.

Section 1. The Common Council shall have power to submit to the electors of said city at any election any question required to be so submitted by the constitution, the law, this charter, or by ordinance; provided, that in case such question is required by said constitution, law, charter, or ordinance to be submitted at a special or other particular kind of election, it shall be so submitted, and not otherwise.

Section 2. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the Common Council by a petition signed by registered electors of the city equal in number to the percentages hereinafter required. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving his street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary the Common Council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the Clerk shall submit the same to the Common Council without delay.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, and contains a request that said ordinance be submitted forthwith to a vote of the people at a special election, then the Common Council shall either:

(a) Pass said ordinance without alteration within twenty days after the attachment of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition (subject to a referendary vote under the provisions of Section 2 of this Chapter); and if the ordinance shall be passed by the Common Council, but shall be vetoed by the Mayor, and on reconsideration shall fail of passage by the Common Council, then within five days after determination that said ordinance shall have so failed of final adoption, the Common Council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people; or

(b) Forthwith after the Clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the Common Council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

If the petition be signed by electors equal in number to at least five per cent but less than fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, then such ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted by the Common Council to a vote of the people at the next general municipal election that shall occur at any time after thirty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency attached to the petition accompanying such ordinance.

The ballots used when voting upon said proposed ordinance shall contain the words "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the ordinance" (stating general nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition, or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election in accordance with the provisions of this section; provided, that there shall not be held under this section of the charter, more than one special election in any period of six months.

The Common Council may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general city election, and should such proposition, so submitted, receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall be repealed or amended accordingly. Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required by this charter to be submitted to the voters of the city at any election, the City Clerk shall cause the ordinance or proposition to be printed, and he shall enclose a printed copy thereof in an envelope with a sample ballot, and mail the same to each voter, at least ten days prior to the election, but the Common Council may order such ordinance or proposition to be printed in the official newspaper of the city and published in like manner as ordinances adopted by the Common Council are required to be published, and may order that such publication shall take the place of the printing and mailing of the ordinance or proposition, and of the sample ballot as first above provided.

Section 3. No ordinance passed by the Common Council (except when otherwise required by the general laws of the State, or by the provisions of this charter, respecting street improvements, and except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the Common Council, but no grant of any franchise shall be construed to be an urgency measure, but all franchises shall be subject to the referendum vote herein provided), shall go into effect before thirty days from the time of its final passage and its approval by the Mayor; and if during said thirty days a petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least seven per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the Common Council, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the Common Council to reconsider such ordinance, and if the same is not entirely repealed, the Common Council shall submit the ordinance as is provided in Section 2 of this Chapter, to the vote of the electors of the city, either at the next general election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of said Section 2, except as to the percentage of signers, and be examined and certified by the Clerk in all respects as is therein provided.

Section 4. The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent. The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent sought to be removed, equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the entire vote for all candidates for the office, the incumbent of which is sought to be removed, cast at the last preceding general municipal election, demanding an election of a successor or the person sought to be removed, shall be filed with the City Clerk; provided, that the petition sent to the Common Council shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary, the Common Council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the Clerk shall submit the same to the Common Council without delay. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the Common Council shall order, and fix a date for holding the said election, not less than thirty days nor more than forty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate to the Common Council that a sufficient petition is filed.

The Common Council shall make or cause to be made publication of notice, and all arrangements for holding of such election, and the same shall be conducted, returned, and the result thereof declared in all respects as are other city elections. The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and, unless he requests otherwise, in writing, the Clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. In any such removal election, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. At such election if some other person than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes, the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor. In case the party who receives the highest number of votes should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of election, the office shall be deemed vacant. If the incumbent receives the highest number of votes he shall continue in office.

That all portions of the said charter in conflict with the foregoing provisions be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

That Section 1 of Chapter V of Article III of the charter of the City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

CHAPTER V.

OF THE CITY ATTORNEY.

Section 1. The City Attorney shall be elected by the qualified voters of the City of San Diego, California, at each general city election, and his term of office shall be two years.

WHEREAS, The City of Sacramento, in the County of Sacramento, State of California, contains a population of over ten thousand and less than one hundred thousand inhabitants, and has ever since the year 1891, and is now organized and acting under a freeholders' charter adopted under and by virtue of Section 8, of Article XI, of the Constitution of the State of California, which charter was duly ratified by a majority of the qualified electors of said city voting at a special election duly called and held for that purpose on the 17th day of May, 1892, and was duly approved by the Legislature of the State of California on the 7th day of February, 1893 (Statutes of 1893, page 545), which charter has never been amended; and

WHEREAS, Fifteen per cent of the qualified voters of the said City of Sacramento duly petitioned the Board of Trustees of said city to submit two certain proposed amendments to the charter of said city to the qualified voters thereof for approval, pursuant to Section 8, Article XI, of the Constitution of the State of California, and said Board of Trustees of the City of Sacramento, did thereafter, on the 24th day of August, 1903, duly submit the same to the qualified voters of the said City of Sacramento at the general city election to be held on the 3rd day of November, A. D. 1903; which said amendments are hereinafter set forth; and

WHEREAS, Said proposed amendments were, and each of them was published for twenty days in a daily newspaper printed and published in said City of Sacramento, and of general circulation therein, to wit, in the Sacramento Union, said publication ending on the 17th day of September, 1903; and

WHEREAS, A general municipal election was held in said City of Sacramento on the 3d day of November, 1903, (at least forty days after the publication of said proposed amendments for twenty days in said daily newspaper of general circulation in said City of Sacramento, to wit, the Sacramento Union), and said proposed amendments to said charter were duly submitted to the qualified electors of said city for their ratification at said general municipal election; and

WHEREAS, At said general election more than a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon, voted in favor of the ratification of said amendments and did ratify said amendments and each and both of said proposed amendments to said charter; and

WHEREAS, The Board of Trustees of said City of Sacramento at its first regular meeting thereafter, to wit, on the 9th day of November, 1903, duly canvassed the returns of said election and duly found, determined and declared that more than a majority of such qualified electors voting thereon at said election, had voted for and ratified each of said proposed amendments to said charter; which said amendments are in the words and figures following, to wit:

1. That a new section be added to said city charter to be known as section 231, which shall read as follows:

Section 231. The Initiative. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the Trustees by a petition signed by registered electors of the city equal in number to the percentage hereinafter required. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary the Trustees shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found sufficient, the Clerk shall submit the same to the Trustees without delay.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by the electors equal in number to fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, and contains a request that said ordinance be submitted forthwith to a vote of the people at a special election then the Trustees shall either:

(a) Pass said ordinance without alteration within twenty days after the attachment of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition (subject to a referendary vote under the provisions of Section 232 of this charter) and if the ordinance shall be passed by the Trustees, but shall be vetoed by the Mayor and on reconsideration shall fail of passage by the Trustees then, within five days after determination that said ordinance shall have so failed of final adoption, the Trustees shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people; or

(b) Forthwith after the Clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the Trustees shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

If the petition be signed by electors equal in number to at least ten per cent but less than fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, then such ordinance without alteration, shall be submitted by the Trustees to a vote of the people at the next general municipal election that shall occur at any time after thirty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency attached to the petition accompanying such ordinance.

The ballots used when voting upon said proposed ordinance shall contain the words "For the Ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the Ordinance" (stating general nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition and passed by the Trustees as provided in paragraph (a) of this section or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, cannot be repealed or amended, except by a vote of the people.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this section, provided, that there shall not be held under this section of the charter, more than one special election in any period of six months.

The Trustees may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general or special (unless the State law forbids the submission of such proposition at said special election) city election; and should such proposition so submitted, receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall be repealed or amended accordingly. Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required or authorized by this charter to be submitted to the voters of the city, at any election, the City Clerk shall cause the ordinance or proposition to be printed, and he shall enclose a printed copy thereof in an envelope with a sample ballot, and mail the same to each voter, at least ten days prior to the election, but the City Trustees may order such ordinance or proposition to be printed in the official newspaper of the city and published in a like manner as ordinances adopted by the Trustees are required to be published, and may order that such publication shall take the place of the printing and mailing of the ordinance or proposition and of the sample ballot as first above provided.

2. That a new section be added to said city charter to be known as Section 232, which shall read as follows:

Section 232 The Referendum. No ordinance passed by the City Trustees (except when otherwise required by the general laws of the State or by the provisions of this charter, respecting street improvements and except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the Trustees, but no grant of any franchise or concession shall be construed to be an urgency measure, but all franchises and concessions shall be subject to the referendary vote herein provided) shall go into effect before thirty days from the time of its final passage and its approval by the Mayor; and if during said thirty days a petition signed by the electors of the city equal in numbers to at least ten per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the Trustees, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the Trustees to reconsider such ordinance and if the same is not entirely repealed the Trustees shall submit the ordinance as is provided in Section 231 of this charter, to the vote of the electors of the city, either at the next general election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of said Section 231, except as to the percentage of signers, and be examined and certified by the Clerk in all respects as is therein provided.

Any ordinance or measure that the Trustees or the qualified electors of the city shall have authority to enact, the Trustees may of its own motion submit to the electors for adoption or rejection at a regular or special election, in the same manner and with the same force and effect as is provided in this charter for ordinances or measures submitted on petition. At any special election called under the provisions of this charter there shall be no bar to the submission of other questions to a vote of the electors in addition to the ordinances or measures herein provided for, if said other questions are such as may legally be submitted at such an election. If the provisions of two or more measures approved or adopted at the same election, under the provisions of this charter conflict, then the measure receiving the highest affirmative vote shall control.

ARTICLE VI.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Sec. 110. On or before the fourth Monday of April, 1905, the mayor shall appoint, subject to the confirmation of the common council, four members of the board of health, two of whom shall be practicing physicians in good standing of not less than three years residence in the city prior to their appointment. The fifth member shall be the present marshal of the city during the incumbency of his office, and thereafter the chief of police.

Sec. 111. The board of health shall serve without compensation.

Sec. 112. Regular meetings of the board of health shall be held at least once a month. Special meetings may be held at the call of the mayor, president of the board, or three members thereof. All meetings shall be public. Three members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but a less number may adjourn from time to time.

Sec. 113. The persons appointed members of the board of health shall meet within two weeks after their appointment and elect one of their number president who shall hold office at the will of the board. They shall appoint a competent person to be health officer who shall serve as secretary of the board, and shall have the powers of a police officer in matters pertaining to his office. They shall have power, in case of an epidemic of contagious diseases, to create a pest house, and appoint a competent person, or persons to take charge of the same. They shall have power to employ necessary help to carry into effect health regulations.

SEC. 114. The board of health shall exercise a general supervision over the health of the city, with full power to use all measures necessary to promote the cleanliness and sanitary conditions thereof; to prevent the introduction into the city of malignant, or infectious diseases; to remove, or otherwise dispose of any person, or animal attacked by such disease; and to adopt in reference to such persons or animals, any restrictions, regulations, or measures deemed advisable. Said board shall adopt and enforce such forms and regulations as in their judgment will secure reliable, vital and mortuary statistics, and shall have the supervision of all persons engaged, or appointed to carry out any of the powers conferred on said board.

SEC. 115. It shall be the duty of the mayor and common council to pass such ordinances as may be necessary to enforce the rules and regulations of the board of health.

ARTICLE VII.

The Initiative.

SEC. 120. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the common council by a petition signed by qualified and registered electors of the city equal in number to the percentage hereinafter required. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and such other identification as may be required by the registration law. One of the signers of each such papers shall make oath before an officer qualified to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition, the city clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary, the council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the clerk shall submit the same to the council without delay.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to thirty per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding city election at which a mayor was elected, and contains a request that said ordinance be submitted forthwith to a vote of the people at a special or general municipal election, then the council shall either—

(a) Pass such ordinance without alteration within twenty days after the attachment of the clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition (subject to the referendum vote), and if the ordinance shall be passed by the council, but shall be vetoed by the mayor, and on reconsideration shall fail of passage by the council, then, within five days after determination that said ordinance shall have so failed of final adoption, the council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people, or,

(b) Forthwith after the clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

The ballots used when voting upon said proposed ordinance, shall contain the words "For the Ordinance" (stating the general nature of the proposed ordinance), and "Against the Ordinance," (stating the general nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition, or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people obtained in like manner.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this section; provided, that there shall not be held under this section of the charter more than one special election in any period of twelve months.

The Referendum.

SEC. 121. No ordinance passed by the common council (except when otherwise required by the general laws of the State, or by the provisions of this charter, respecting street improvements and except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the council, but no grant of any franchise shall be construed to be an urgency matter, but all franchises shall be subject to the referendum vote herein provided) shall go into effect before thirty days from the time of its final passage and its approval by the mayor; and if during said thirty days a petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least thirty per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding city election at which a mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the council, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the council to reconsider such ordinance, and if the same is not entirely repealed, the council shall submit the ordinance proposed to the vote of the electors of the city either at the next general municipal election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of the first section of this article (The Initiative), and shall be examined and certified by the clerk in all respects as therein provided.

The Recall.

Sec. 122. The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent. The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by qualified electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent sought to be removed, equal in number to at least thirty per centum of the entire vote for all candidates for the office, the incumbent of which is sought to be removed, cast at the last preceding general municipal election, demanding an election of a successor of the person sought to be removed, shall be filed with the city clerk; provided, that the said petition shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence giving the street and such other identification as may be required by the registration law. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer qualified to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days after the date of filing such petition the city clerk shall examine, and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and, if necessary, the council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the city clerk's certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and, if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the clerk shall submit the same to the council without delay and the council shall thereupon order and fix a date for holding the said election, not less than thirty days, nor more than forty days from the date of the clerk's certificate to the council that a sufficient petition is filed.

The city council shall make, or cause to be made, publication of notice and all arrangements for holding of such election; and the same shall be conducted, returned, and the result thereof declared in all respects as other city elections. The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and, unless he requests otherwise, in writing, the clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. In any such removal election, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. At such election, if some other person than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes, the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor. In case the party who receives the highest number of votes should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of election, the office shall be deemed vacant. If the incumbent receives the highest number of votes he shall continue in office.

If any special election be ordered held and conducted, it shall be ordered, held, and conducted (except as to date thereof) and the result thereof made known and declared, in the same manner as herein provided for other elections.

ARTICLE VIII.

REVENUE AND FINANCE.

Sec. 130. On or before the last Monday in July in each year the city clerk shall transmit to the mayor and common council, accompanied with the estimates and reports of each department, an estimate of the probable financial necessities of the city government for the fiscal year, stating the amount required to meet the interest and principal on all bonded or funded indebtedness of the city, together with the amount needed for the salaries and probable wants of all the departments of the municipal government in detail, showing specifically the necessities of each fund in the treasury. Such estimate shall also show what amount of income and revenue will probably be collected from fines, licenses, and other sources of revenue, exclusive of taxes upon property, and what amount will probably be required to be levied and raised by taxation in order to meet the necessities of each specific fund for such fiscal year.

Sec. 141. The mayor and common council on or before the first Monday of January, 1907, and annually thereafter while any valid law exists for the assessment and collection of city taxes by officers of the County of San Bernardino, shall pass an ordinance electing to avail the City of San Bernardino of the provisions of an Act entitled: "An Act to provide for the levy and collection of taxes by and for the use of municipal corporations and cities incorporated under the laws of the State of California, except municipal corporations of the first class, and to provide for the consolidation and abolition of certain municipal offices, and to provide that their duties may be performed by certain officers of the county, and fixing the compensation to be allowed for such county officers for the services so rendered to such municipal corporation," approved March 27, 1896, and shall cause a certified copy of such ordinance to be filed with the auditor of said County of San Bernardino. If said act shall be amended, or some other law be substituted in its stead providing for the assessment and collection of city taxes by county officers, the mayor and common council shall conform to the provisions of such amended act or such law in order to avail the city of the privilege of having its taxes assessed and collected by such county officers. Such ordinances shall take effect immediately after their passage and shall not be subject to "The Referendum" as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 132. After the time of noon on the first Monday of March, 1907, if for any cause there shall not be in force any ordinance availing the city of the privilege of having its taxes assessed and collected by the officers of the county, and during the time that there shall be no such ordinance or provision in force, the city clerk shall be ex officio assessor, and the chief of police shall be ex officio tax collector; they shall perform respectively the duties and have all the powers prescribed by law or ordinance for assessors and tax collectors. While the city avails itself of the privilege of having its taxes assessed and collected by the county officers, the officers of the city assessor and city tax collector shall not exist. The mayor and common council shall have power, by ordinance, to provide for the compensation of the city clerk while acting as ex-officio assessor and of the chief of police while acting as ex-officio tax collector for such extra services. The taxes so levied and collected shall be apportioned by the treasurer to the several specific funds.

SEC. 133. Whenever the mayor and common council shall by ordinance determine that the public interest or necessity demands the acquisition, construction, or completion of any municipal improvement, the cost of which would be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of the city, they are hereby given the power and authority to call a special election and submit to the qualified voters of the city the proposition of incurring indebtedness to pay the cost of such improvement set forth in said ordinance. If said proposition be accepted by a two-thirds vote of the qualified electors voting at such election, the mayor and common council may issue bonds of said city in evidence of said indebtedness; provided, that such indebtedness, together with the unpaid and outstanding bonded indebtedness actually existing at the time such proposition is submitted to said voters, shall not exceed three hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

SEC. 134. The mayor and common council shall not create, audit, or allow or permit to accrue any debt or liability in excess of the available money in the treasury that may be legally apportioned and appropriated for such purposes.

SEC. 135. Every claim and demand against the city, except bonds, coupons for interest, claims payable from the school fund, or from funds not controlled by the mayor and common council, shall be verified and filed with the city clerk at least three days before the same shall be allowed or paid, and shall specify in detail the goods or materials furnished, in quantity and quality, the service performed, or other basis of the claim, and by what authority the goods or materials were furnished or the service performed, giving date of the same and the amount of the claim.

SEC. 136. After allowance by the common council, the city clerk shall present such claim or demand to the mayor, who, within five days thereafter, shall endorse thereon, or annex thereto his approval, or disapproval, and return it to the city clerk. The mayor may approve a claim in part, but when a claim is disapproved in whole, or in part, the reasons of the mayor must be given in full. The common council by the affirmative vote of four of its members may allow a claim, or such portion of a claim, as the mayor has disapproved, but not otherwise.

SEC. 137. Upon the allowance of any such claim a warrant shall be drawn on the city treasurer in favor of the person to whom the allowance was made, specifying for what the warrant is drawn, the fund out of which it is to be paid, and that it can be paid only from the money actually collected and in the fund. The warrant shall be signed by the mayor and countersigned by the city clerk.

SEC. 138. Every claim against funds in the city treasury which may have been incurred or authorized by the board of water commissioners, the board of education, or the board of trustees of the public library, shall be verified and presented to the board incurring or authorizing the indebtedness, who shall approve or disapprove the same. It shall require at least a majority of all the members of any board or commission voting in the affirmative to approve any claim. Each of such claims when so approved shall be paid by a warrant on the city treasury payable out of the proper fund for payment thereof and signed by the president and secretary of the board which shall have approved the same, or in case of the absence of such president, such warrants may be signed by the president pro tempore of the board. The form of the warrant shall be as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 139. No claim for commodities furnished, or service performed, shall be valid unless prior to furnishing such commodities or the rendition of the service, authority for the same had been given by the common council or some department of the city government having authority so to do. No member of the common council, or member of any department, and no city officer shall have power to create an indebtedness against the city, or to furnish the basis of a claim without said authority.

Sec. 140. No supplies, material, or other item of expenditure, for an amount exceeding $500, except for personal services, shall be ordered, or purchased by the mayor and common council, or any board, or department of the city, authorized to incur any expenditure, except after first advertising for sealed proposals and awarding a contract to the lowest and best bidder. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check in an amount not less than ten per cent of the sum bid, which check must be forfeited to the city upon failure of the person, firm, or corporation bidding to enter into the contract awarded. All contracts awarded by the mayor and common council shall be by ordinance, or resolution. A sufficient bond, payable to the city, with two or more sureties, or a surety company bond, shall be required to secure a faithful performance of each contract awarded.

Sec. 141. The revenue paid into the treasury shall be at once apportioned by the treasurer and kept in separate specific funds as hereinafter provided, and it shall not be lawful to transfer money from one fund to another, or to use the same in payment of demands upon another specific fund, except that money may be transferred from the general fund to any specific fund by resolution of a two-thirds vote of the common council, duly approved by the mayor.

Sec. 142. The several interest and sinking funds of the treasury authorized by law at the time this charter takes effect shall continue therein so long as there shall be occasion therefor, and the moneys therein, or which may belong thereto, shall not be used or appropriated for any purpose other than that for which the same were raised.

Sec. 143. There shall be opened by the treasurer the following specific funds, to wit: Hubbard water bond fund, Antil bond fund, old water bond fund, water fund, street fund, library fund, sewer fund, park-improvement fund, school fund, general fund, and such other funds as may be hereafter designated by ordinance or resolution duly passed by the mayor and common council.

Sec. 144. The mayor and common council, at the time of making the annual tax levy, shall levy for each of said specific funds an amount sufficient to meet the necessary expenditures therefrom. Said funds shall consist of moneys so levied and of such other moneys as may be apportioned thereto. All moneys paid or collected for fines, or fees, or licenses, and all moneys not directed to be paid into any other specific fund shall be paid into the treasury to the credit of the general fund.

Sec. 145. Out of the Hubbard water bond fund shall be paid all Hubbard water bonds and interest coupons thereof as they fall due; out of the Antil bond fund shall be paid all Antil bonds and interest coupons thereof as they fall due; out of the old water bond fund shall be paid the bonds and interest coupons thereof as they fall due.

Sec. 146. Out of the water fund shall be paid all warrants drawn thereon duly authorized by the board of water commissioners.

Sec. 147. Out of the street fund shall be paid all sums authorized to be paid for repairing and improving streets which shall have been accepted so as to become a charge upon said city; for cleaning streets, crossings, and sewers; for street sprinkling, or oiling; for all street work in front of, or assessable upon property owned by said city, or any department thereof, or by the government of the United States; for all repairs upon the public streets deemed of urgent necessity, and for all other expenditures on the streets and highways deemed necessary by the mayor and common council and authorized by any provision of this charter.

Sec. 148. Out of the library fund shall be paid all warrants drawn thereon duly authorized by the board of library trustees.

Sec. 149. Out of the sewer fund shall be paid all sums authorized to be paid for construction and repair of such sewers, or systems of drainage, as may be ordered by the mayor and common council, and which is not chargeable on private property.

Sec. 150. Out of the park improvement fund shall be paid all sums authorized to be paid for such materials, supplies, tools, machinery, appliances, labor and service, as well as for seeds, plants, vines, shrubs, trees, animals, and museums which the common council may procure for preserving, improving, and beautifying the public grounds and parks.

Sec. 151. All moneys received for the grammar, or high school, or any other school authorized by law, or school moneys received from any source, shall be paid into the county treasury, and be disbursed under the general school laws of the State.

Sec. 152. Out of the general fund shall be paid all claims not provided to be paid out of any other specific fund.

Sec. 153. Any demand against the treasury or against any fund thereof remaining unpaid at the end of the fiscal year for lack of money in the treasury applicable to the payment may be paid out of any money which may subsequently come into the proper fund from delinquent taxes or other uncollected income or revenue for such year. Such demands shall be paid out of such delinquent revenue, when collected, in the order of their registration.

ARTICLE IX.

WATER DEPARTMENT.

Sec. 160. There is hereby created a commission, consisting of three members, to be known as the board of water commissioners, to be appointed by the mayor, subject to the confirmation of the common council, and whose term of office shall be four years; provided, that the term of one of said commissioners first appointed shall expire on the second Monday of May, 1907, and the term of the other two of said commissioners first appointed shall expire on the second Monday of May, 1909. No more than two of the members of said board shall be of the same political party, and no person shall be eligible to appointment as a member of said board unless he shall have been a qualified elector of the city for the period of five years next preceding the date of his appointment.

Sec. 161. Before entering upon the duties of his office, each member of the board of water commissioners shall make and subscribe before some officer authorized by law to certify oaths, the same oath of office required of other city officers.

Sec. 162. The first board of water commissioners appointed hereunder shall, within one week after their confirmation by the common council, and thereafter their successors shall biennially meet and organize by the election of one of their number as president. And said board shall within a reasonable time thereafter, not to exceed thirty days, make an inventory of all the property of the city pertaining to the water department that is on hand and in use, consisting of lands, reservoirs, conduits, rights of way, pipes, pipe lines, hydrants, gates, engines, pumps, tools, wells, and private water service connection, and shall estimate the value of all such property to determine the whole amount the city has invested in its water system; and shall enter said inventory, together with such estimates, in a record book to be kept by said commission, and shall therein keep a record of all property belonging to the water service of the city, afterwards acquired, together with a record and account of the disposition of any property of said department which has been, or may be, sold, lost, destroyed or worn out.

Sec. 163. The board of water commissioners is hereby authorized and empowered as follows:

First—To establish and collect all water rates, collect all rentals from water bearing lands, and generally regulate, control, manage, renew, repair, and extend the entire water system of the city; provided, however, that no indebtedness shall be incurred by said board unless there shall be sufficient moneys on hand in the water fund of the city at the time the indebtedness is incurred to pay the same.

Second—To employ and discharge at will such help as the necessities of the water service may demand, and fix the compensation of any and all employes in said water service, and said employes to be paid out of the water fund; and said board shall have power to require of any employé in the water department an adequate bond for the faithful performance of his duties.

Third—To make rules and regulations governing the conduct of said board and the members thereof.

Sec. 164. The board shall have power to control and order the expenditure of all money received from sale or use of water, for the defraying of expenses for maintenance and repairs and operation of the water system, and for any expenses or additions to the same; and for supplying the city with water for any and all purposes; provided that all such money shall be deposited in the treasury of the city to the credit of a fund to be known as the water fund, and shall be kept separate and apart from other moneys of the city, and shall only be drawn from said fund upon demands authenticated by the signatures of the president and secretary of the board, or in the absence of the president, by the signatures of two members and the secretary of the board, except that the common council at the time of fixing the general tax levy, may in its discretion by ordinance or resolution, apportion and set apart out of the moneys then in said water fund in excess of two thousand dollars, an amount sufficient to meet all sums coming due for interest or principal, or for interest and principal, upon any or all outstanding water works bonds before the time for the next general tax levy; and the city treasurer shall thereupon transfer the moneys so apportioned to the proper bond fund, and shall use the money so apportioned to make the aforesaid payment and for no other purpose; and if there shall be a surplus remaining the same shall forthwith be re-transferred into said water fund.

Sec. 165. Said board shall cause to be kept in proper books provided therefor, a complete and accurate account of all the receipts and disbursements on account of said water system, and the same shall be kept open to the inspection of the public at any and all reasonable hours.

Sec. 166. Said board first appointed hereunder shall within a reasonable time after their appointment, cause to be made and drafted by a competent engineer a suitable map showing the entire water system of the city; its source of supply, reservoirs, mains, gates, stop-off cocks, size of pipe, hydrants and all individual water service connections; said map to be the official map of the water system of the city. And from time to time, as the water service of the city increases, said board shall cause to be made additional maps showing in detail the increased water service of the city.

Sec. 167. Not less than thirty days, nor more than forty days, prior to the fixing of the general tax levy by the common council, and at any other time when required by the common council, said board shall make and file with the clerk of said common council, a report, showing a full detailed statement of the financial condition of the water department; together with an estimate of the needs and requirements of said department for the ensuing year and the costs thereof. And whenever required by the common council said board shall make and file with the clerk of said common council, a full and complete detailed statement of all property of whatsoever nature or kind belonging to said water department.

Sec. 168. The city clerk shall be ex-officio secretary of said board, and shall keep a record of the proceedings thereof; and shall, whenever required so to do, certify such proceedings under his hand, the same to be authenticated by seal, if a seal is adopted and provided by said board for that purpose.

Sec. 169. The board shall hold regular stated meetings at the city hall at least twice in each month, and as often as the necessities of the water department require.

Sec. 170. The members of said board shall each receive a salary as compensation for his services, payable monthly out of the water fund of the city, as follows: The president, $300 a year, and each of the other members $150 a year.

Sec. 171. It shall be the duty of the mayor and common council to pass such ordinances as may be necessary to enforce the rules and regulations of said board of water commissioners.

ARTICLE X.

POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENTS.

Sec. 180. The police and fire departments shall be under the control and management of the mayor and common council who shall have power:

First—To fix and prescribe the salaries, qualifications, duties, rank, badges of office and uniforms of the officers, members and employés of said departments; to prescribe rules and regulations for the government and discipline of the same, and to prescribe and enforce penalties for the violation thereof;

Second—To hear and summarily determine all complaints of misconduct, inefficiency, or violation of rules or other charges against any officer, member or employé of said departments, and to take such action thereon as shall be most conducive to the maintenance and discipline and efficiency of such departments. In all investigations, or trials conducted by them, they shall have power to issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses, and the production of papers and documents before them, which subpoenas shall be signed by the mayor, or other presiding officer of the council, and served as required by law in case of subpoenas from the superior court, and the certificate of service of a subpoena by a policeman shall be proof thereof; and on failure, or refusal to attend as required by such subpoenas, the person, or persons, so offending shall be subject to the same penalties and punishment by said council as are prescribed by law for like offenses in the superior courts. The mayor, or any member of the council, may administer oaths, or affirmations, in the conduct of such investigation;

Third—To maintain a fire alarm and police telegraph or telephone, and manage, or control the same, and to appoint the superintendent thereof in like manner as other employés of the police and fire departments.

Sec. 181. The police department shall consist of a chief of police, and such officers and other policemen as the mayor and common council may determine, but the police force, other than the chief of police, and special policemen appointed for a limited time for a special purpose, shall not exceed one police officer for each one thousand and five hundred inhabitants of the city.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT.

Sec. 190. The school department shall comprise all the public schools of the City of San Bernardino school district as the boundaries now exist, including all that territory now in such school district lying outside of the boundaries of the city, and such outside territory shall be deemed a part of said city for the purpose of holding the general municipal election, and shall be an election precinct by itself, and its qualified electors shall vote only for the board of education and on questions submitted to a vote of the people pertaining to school matters; and said outside territory shall be deemed a part of said city for all matters connected with the school department, and the annual levying and collecting of the property tax for the school fund. The school department shall include primary and grammar schools and high schools, and may, at the discretion of the city board of education, include evening schools, kindergartens and technical or industrial schools. Provided, that no school moneys shall be used for kindergartens or technical schools when such use will prevent the board from maintaining free primary, grammar and high schools for nine months, and the necessary evening schools for four months in each year.

SEC. 191. The government of the school department is hereby vested in a city board of education consisting of five members, to be elected at large, who shall serve without compensation. The term of office of a member of the board of education shall be four years. Three members of said board shall be elected at the general municipal election in the year 1905, and every four years thereafter, and two members at the general municipal election in the year 1907, and every four years thereafter.

SEC. 192. No person shall be eligible to become a member of the board of education who is not at least twenty-five years of age, and who has not been a resident of the school district for five years next preceding his election.

SEC. 193. The board of education shall elect a city superintendent of schools who shall be ex officio secretary of the board, and he shall be a practical educator who has had at least five years' experience as a teacher in public schools in addition to the general qualifications for the employment of teachers.

SEC. 194. The board of education shall enter upon the discharge of their duties on the second Monday in May after their election, and the board shall meet upon said date and organize by electing one of their number president, and biennially thereafter. They shall hold regular meetings at least once each month at such place and time as may be designated by its rules. Special meetings may be called by the president, or by any three members. No business shall be transacted at such special meetings that has not been distinctly stated in the call. A majority of the members shall constitute a quorum, but an affirmative vote of three members shall be necessary to pass an order. The sessions of the board shall be public and its minutes open to public inspection. The board may determine the rules of its proceedings and the ayes and noes shall be taken and recorded when demanded, and they shall be taken and recorded on all questions involving elections, or appointments, or the expenditure of money.

SEC. 195. The powers and duties of the board of education are as follows:

First—To establish and maintain public schools, and to change, consolidate, or discontinue the same;

Sixth—To provide for the school department all necessary supplies, and incur such other incidental expenses as may be necessary for the welfare of the department;

Seventh—To build, alter, repair, rent, and provide school houses, and to furnish the same with proper school furniture, apparatus and appliances, and to insure any and all school property;

Ninth—To grade, fence and improve all school lots;

Tenth—To sue, or defend suits when necessary in administering the affairs of the school department;

Eleventh—To determine annually the amount of school tax necessary for the maintenance of free public schools, and for carrying into effect all provisions of law regarding the same, and the amounts so determined by said board of education shall be reported in writing to the mayor and common council. This report shall specify the proper items of the amount of money required, in addition to the state and county school moneys, to maintain grammar and primary schools; the amount required for the high school, and other city schools, and what will be required to pay all fixed and incidental expenses, including the cost of erecting new buildings, and of repairing old ones.

The mayor and common council are hereby authorized and directed to levy and collect as school tax an amount which, after making proper allowance for delinquencies, will produce a sum that, taken with the estimated amount to be received from the state and county, will make the amount sufficient to maintain the schools; providing, however, that such levy shall not exceed twenty-five cents on the hundred dollars exclusive of the levy for high school purposes;

Twelfth—To prohibit any child under six years of age from attending the public schools, except where kindergartens are established, and in kindergartens to prohibit the attendance of children under four years of age;

Fourteenth—The board of education shall be the trustees of all school property both real and personal, and shall have power to purchase such land as may be required for school buildings and school purposes, and may sell or otherwise dispose of such property as may not be required for the use of the schools; provided, however, that they shall not have power to sell or dispose of real property without submitting the same to a vote of the people at the next general municipal election and the approval thereof is given by a majority of the electors voting on the proposition; and provided further, that the sale of real estate shall be advertised by posting notices thereof thirty days prior to such sale in a conspicuous place at the postoffice building of the City of San Bernardino, and upon the property to be sold. Such sale shall be made to the highest bidder at public auction. The board of education may decline to accept such highest bid, provided in their judgment the same is less than the real value of such property;

Fifteenth—To exclude from the schools and school libraries all books, publications or papers of a sectarian, partisan or denominational character;

Sixteenth—To furnish books and stationery for children of parents unable to furnish them; and all books so furnished shall belong to the city and shall be kept in the libraries of the school when not in use;

Seventeenth—The board of education may provide for special examinations for positions in high schools, kindergartens or technical schools, and issue upon such examinations special certificates;

Eighteenth—To use and apply the school funds of the city for the purposes herein named, and for no other purposes whatever. And, generally, to do and perform such other acts as may be necessary and proper to carry into force and effect the powers conferred on said board, and to increase the efficiency of the public schools in the city.

Sec. 196. The superintendent of schools shall, at the regular meeting in the month of June of each year, submit to the board a detailed statement of the amount, as near as may be ascertained, of fuel, blanks, blank-books, books for indigent children, apparatus and such other school appliances as may be necessary for the use of the city schools and the board for the year following.

Sec. 197. They may do by advertising in some daily paper published in the city, or by sending notice that bids will be received as stated to the several San Bernardino dealers in the lines of the articles wanted. These bids shall be publicly opened in the office of the city superintendent, and the contracts awarded to the lowest and best bidder, and the board shall have power to reject any and all bids.

Sec. 198. No teacher shall be elected, or appointed to a position in the school department, except in technical, or industrial schools that may be established, or as special teacher of some branch, who does not hold a California primary, grammar grade or high school certificate, in full force, and who has not completed a course of study in an accredited normal school, university or college; provided, that this section shall not be construed as depriving any teacher of his position who is employed as a teacher in the schools of this city at the time of the adoption of this charter.

Sec. 199. The city superintendent of schools and each member of the board of education shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations in all matters connected with the department. And the board shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses in all matters of examination, or investigation before such board. In case of a vacancy in the board of education the remaining members shall fill any vacancy until the next general municipal election when a member or members shall be elected to fill the unexpired term or terms.

Sec. 200. All claims payable out of the school fund shall be filed with the secretary of the board, and before payment shall be approved by a majority of all the members elected to said board upon a call of ayes and noes, which shall be recorded.

CONSIDERATION OF DAILY FILE—SECOND READING OF BILLS.

Senate Bill No. 266—An Act amending Section 9 of an Act entitled "An Act creating a fund for the benefit and support of high schools, and providing for its distribution."

During the second reading of the bill, the following substitute was submitted by committee:

SENATE COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR SENATE BILL NO. 266.

An Act to amend an Act entitled "An Act creating a fund for the benefit and support of high schools, and providing for its distribution," approved March 2, 1903.

The people of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. There is hereby levied annually for the fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth fiscal years, ending respectively June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and four, and June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and five, an ad valorem tax of one and one half cents upon every hundred dollars of the value of the taxable property of the State, which tax shall be collected by the several officers charged with the collection of State taxes, in the same manner and at the same time as other State taxes are collected, upon all and any class of property, which tax is for the support of regularly established high schools of the State. And it is further enacted that, beginning with the fifty-seventh fiscal year, to wit: July first, nineteen hundred and five, it shall be the duty of the State Controller, annually, between the tenth day of August and the first day of September, at the time that he is required to estimate the amount necessary for other school taxes, to estimate the amount necessary to be levied for the support of high schools. This amount he shall estimate by determining the amount required at fifteen dollars per pupil in average daily attendance in all the duly established high schools of the State for the last preceding school year, as certified to him by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. This amount the State Controller, between the dates above given, must certify to the State Board of Equalization.

SEC. 2. The State Board of Equalization, at the time when it annually determines and fixes the rate of State taxes to be collected, must declare the levy and the rate of tax for the support of State high schools in conformity with the provisions of section one of this Act.

SEC. 3. MOTION.

Senator Selva moved that Mr. Corbin and his attorney be allowed the privileges of the Senate floor.

Motion carried.

The President directed the Secretary to read the following:

In the Senate of the State of California:

Permission having been granted the undersigned in the matter of the proceedings against him in the matter of an alleged contempt to appear at the bar of the Senate by counsel, I hereby authorize F. D. Nicol to appear for me as my attorney.

W. CORBIN.

January 30, 1905.

Mr. Nicol proceeded to address the Senate, and in concluding his remarks read the following affidavit:-

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO. } ss.

William Corbin, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

That he is the Secretary of the Continental Building and Loan Association. That he is the William Corbin who was subpoenaed to attend before a meeting of the Senate committee, called the Committee on Commissions and Retrenchment, on Thursday, January 26, 1905, at two o'clock P. M.

That previous to the service on him of said subpoena affiant had been informed and believed that the creation and institution of such committee had been at the suggestion of the San Francisco "Examiner." That the suggestion had for its purpose the persecution of Dr. Washington Dodge, Assessor of the City and County of San Francisco, and President of the Continental Building and Loan Association, who had given political offense to the "Examiner," and the persecution of this affiant.

That after the appointment of said committee four of the members thereof, to wit: Messrs. Bunkers, Emmons, Wright, and French, appointed an agent to act for said four persons for the purpose of blackmailing certain corporations and collecting tribute from the same. That during the week ending January 21, 1905, the said French and Bunkers, together with said agent, visited San Francisco, and the said French and the said Bunkers and said agent proceeded to attempt to collect large sums of money from said corporations; that said Bunkers and French agreed, for themselves and on behalf of said Wright and Emmons, that whatever corporation would pay an acceptable sum of money to said Bunkers, French, Emmons, and Wright would either not be examined at all or might prepare its own report. That said agent of said Senators made the statement that one of the purposes of this committee was to assist the "Examiner" in its attacks on Washington Dodge. Said agent for said Senators further stated that the "Examiner" had employed Emmons to manage its plans in the committee, and that Dent. H. Robert, editor of the "Examiner," had agreed that Eugene E. Schmitz, Mayor of San Francisco, should give Bunkers a municipal appointment in San Francisco, at a large salary, provided he would do his utmost against said Washington Dodge and the Continental Building and Loan Association. Said agent further stated that said Dent. H. Robert had said to Senator Bunkers that the Continental Building and Loan Association must be ruined at any cost. Said agent further stated that the "Examiner" had settled with Messrs. Wright and French, and had further agreed with said four Senators that arrangements made by them with other corporations would not be disturbed or attacked, provided the committee would "do up" Dr. Dodge, Corbin, and the Continental Building and Loan Association.

Said agent further stated, among other things, that certain "Examiner" reporters, among them Al. Murphy, commonly known as "Blinker Murphy," had been detailed by the "Examiner" to watch and assist said committee; but that no fears need be entertained in dealings with members of the committee of any exposures in the "Examiner."

Affiant further deposes and says that on Monday, the 23d day of January, 1905, there was sent from San Francisco to Sacramento, pursuant to agreement with said Bunkers, Emmons, French, and Wright, and their said agent, by divers persons and corporations, large sums of money.

That on Tuesday, the 24th day of January, 1905, a part of said money was paid to said agent for his personal use and for his services as agent for said four Senators. The remainder of said money was divided into four parts: one fourth thereof was paid to said Bunkers; one fourth thereof to said Emmons; one fourth thereof to said French, and one fourth thereof to said Wright.

That this affiant is ready and willing and prepared to prove to the Honorable Senate of the State of California, to any grand jury, or to the District Attorney of Sacramento County, or to any court, the things herein contained.

That this affiant stated the matters hereinbefore set forth to his counsel, Frank D. Nicol, Esq., and was by him advised that as the said four Senators, constituting a majority of said committee, were venal and corrupt, I should disregard said subpoena, and should, when cited to appear at the bar of the Senate of the State of California, make to the Honorable Senate a true and correct statement of the facts.

The reasons that actuated this affiant in not obeying the subpoena issued by your committee was no intended disrespect for or contempt of the authority or dignity of this honorable body, but the facts herein stated.

WM. CORBIN.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 27th day of January, 1905.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

The following reports of standing committees were received and read:

ON CODE REVISION.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 31, 1905.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Code Revision hereby respectfully makes a special report with respect to the thirty-three Code Revision bills now upon the Senate special file of Code Revision bills, which have been read the second time, and which have been correctly engrossed and are ready for third reading. The points covered, or changes made by these bills, respectively, are as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 14.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 7.

The purpose of the amendment is to make the section conform to the corresponding sections of the Civil Code and of the Code of Civil Procedure. The changes consist in the addition, line 8, of the words: "county" includes "city and county"; page 1, line 8, of the words "and typewriting"; and on page 2, lines 15 to 19, of the clause "provided, that when a signature is made by mark it must, in order that the same may be acknowledged or serve as the signature to any sworn statement, be witnessed by two persons who must subscribe their own names as witnesses thereto." The above changes made the above section conform to the corresponding subdivision in Section 17 of the Code of Civil Procedure and in Section 14 of the Civil Code. The definition of "night-time" and "day-time" are added in Subdivision XIII, following the definitions of Sections 450 and 463 of this Code, which confined the definition to the chapters in which they occurred. The word "canal-boats" in line 50 of page 2 is printed "canals, boats," in the official Statutes of 1873-4, page 421, amending the section, and is hereby corrected to conform to the manifest intention of the statute, and to the original form of the section as enacted in the Code of 1872. Subdivision XX is also added to correspond with a like provision in the other codes.

SENATE BILL No. 134.

PENAL CODE, SECTIONS 1572 to 1614.

The above named sections, which compose Title I of Part III of the Penal Code, with the exception of the last sentence of Section 1593, have been completely superseded by the Constitution of 1879 and the General Statutes in pursuance thereof. The portion of Section 1593 which is still in force has been incorporated into a bill to amend the Act of 1880, page 404, concerning the State prisons, Senate Bill No. 353, so that it will be preserved, notwithstanding the repeal of these superseded and therefore useless provisions.

SENATE BILL No. 120.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 27.

The amendment consists of a recasting of Subdivision 2, designed to make it punishable in this State to embezzle money in another State and bring the money embezzled or some part of it into this State. The section as it now stands authorizes the conviction and punishment of persons committing larceny or robbery outside of the State, who bring the property stolen into this State, but does not extend to the case of embezzlement.

SENATE BILL No. 136.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 76.

The charge consists in the addition of the clause "or willfully and unlawfully withhold or detains from his successor, or other person entitled thereto, any money or property in his custody as such officer," in lines 9 to 12, inclusive. The section as it now stands makes it punishable only for an officer to retain writings or records appertaining or belonging to his office, but does not extend to the manifestly graver offense above noted.

SENATE BILL No. 137.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 100.

The change consists in the omission of the word "said" before "superintendent" in line 1, the insertion of the word "chapter" in place of "act" in line 9, and the omission of the phrase "in any court of competent jurisdiction," at the end of the line, it being entirely unnecessary.

SENATE BILL No. 139.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 109.

The amendment is designed to make it punishable to assist the escape of inmates of reformatories, and to accomplish this end the following insertions have been made: In lines 4 and 5, the words "or jail, or reformatory"; in line 5, the words "or any person"; and in lines 7 and 8, the words "or jail, or public training school, or reformatory."

PENAL CODE, SECTION 110.

The change is in line with the proposed change in Section 109. In line 4 the words "jail, public training school, or reformatory" are inserted; in line 6, the words "or inmate" are added after "prisoner."

SENATE BILL No. 140.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 111.

The change consists of the insertion of the words "and of the execution of the sentence of such convict," after "convict," in line 9, and substitution of the words "judge of the superior court of such county" for "superior judge of said county" in line 11. It is manifestly proper that the county should be recouped for the expenses covered by the amendment.

SENATE BILL No. 155.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 74a.

This is a codification of the provision of the Act of 1871-2, page 951, with the following changes: the word "accepts" is inserted in place of "keeps" in line 4, and the phrase "for his own use" is added after "retains," in line 4.

SENATE BILL No. 141.

(Amended in Senate, January 26, 1905.)

PENAL CODE, SECTION 118a.

The object of this new section is to punish those who instigate litigation by making false affidavits respecting the facts to which they will testify, and is made necessary by the decision of the Supreme Court in People vs. Simpton, 133 Cal. 367.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 119.

The change consists of the substitution of the words "two sections" for "section" in line 3. The change is made necessary by the addition of Section 118a to the Code.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 121.

The matter following the word "manner" in line 4 is new. The object of the amendment is to cut off the defense sometimes successfully made in perjury cases, that the defendant did not in fact go before the officer and take oath, it being at the same time admitted that he sent the affidavit to the officer with the intention that he should certify to it and with the intention that it should be used as valid.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 124.

The change consists of the addition of the word "affidavit" in line 3. The purpose is of the same character as that of the amendment to the preceding section.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 129.

The object of the section is similar to that of the proposed amendment to Section 121. (See People vs. Simpton, 133 Cal. 367.)

SENATE BILL No. 152.

(Amended in Senate, January 26, 1905.)

PENAL CODE, SECTION 165.

The word "public" is inserted before the word "corporation" in line 5, as the section was undoubtedly intended to apply to bodies and authorities of a public character.

The words "of which is afterward to be considered by" are inserted in lines 7 and 8.

The words "upon any understanding that his official vote, opinion, judgment, or action shall be influenced thereby, or shall be given in any particular manner or upon any particular side of any question or matter, upon which he may be required to act in his official capacity," inserted in lines 10 to 14, were not in the report of the original Code Commission, but were inserted as a committee amendment two years ago.

The words "in addition to said punishment," inserted in line 17, were likewise inserted by said committee.

The first two changes, "public," are Code revision; the last two changes are, in a measure, new legislation, but we think them good.

SENATE BILL No. 151.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 161a.

This section, which is a new one, is self-explanatory.

SENATE BILL No. 142.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 159a.

The change consists in the substitution of the word "annulment" for "nullity," in lines 9 and 12, and the substitution of "section" for "act" in line 14.

SENATE BILL No. 376.

CODE CIVIL PROCEDURE, SECTION 1579.

The only change consists in the substitution of the word "ten" for "five" in line 51, to make this section correspond with the present form of Section 718 of the Civil Code, which was amended in 1903. Whoever amended the latter section at the last session of the Legislature forgot to amend this section of the Code of Civil Procedure to correspond with it.

SENATE BILL No. 375.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 666.

The amendment consists in the substitution, in line 11, of the word "five," for "ten." At the last session of the Legislature, Sections 666 and 667 were changed, the former being amended, and the latter repealed. Through a mistake in copying the proposed amendment to Section 666, the section, as it now stands, leaves a large class of cases unprovided for. The word "ten," on the fourth line of Subdivision 1, has been changed to "five" (line 11 of the bill), so that where the punishment for a first conviction would be six, seven, eight, nine, or ten years, some penalty shall attach for a second conviction for an offense punishable, say by seven, or even ten years, entails no penalty. Judge Carroll Cook called the attention of the committee to the error, and requested the amendment.

SENATE BILL No. 156

PENAL CODE, SECTIONS 178 AND 179.

These sections were, in the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Judicial District, explicitly held to be in violation of the Constitution of the United States, on May 22, 1890. (In re Parrott, 5 Pac. Coast L. J. 161.) They are now obsolete. An ordinance in somewhat similar terms was also held unconstitutional in ex parte Kerboch, 85 Cal. 274.

SENATE BILL No. 157.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 207.

Two amendments: inserting, in line 5, the words "or into another part of the same county," and inserting beginning with the word "and," line 15, and ending with the word "thereof," line 19.

The advisability of the first change is shown by the decision of the Supreme Court in ex parte Keil, 85 Cal. 309, where it was held that the forcible removal of a person from San Pedro, Los Angeles County, to Santa Catalina Island, in the same county, did not constitute kidnaping. These changes are asked for by the District Attorneys' Association.

SENATE BILL No. 162.

PENAL CODE, SECTIONS 269a AND 269b.

The Act to punish adultery (Stats. 1871-2, page 380) is codified in the two sections above named.

Should be referred to a committee of one to substitute the words "cohabitation and" for "fornication or," line 5, Section 1, and to insert the words "cohabitation and" after the word "notorious," line 4, Section 2, to make the codification exact.

SENATE BILL No. 161.

PENAL CODE, SECTIONS 266a, 266b, 266c, 266d, 266e, AND 266f.

The Statute of 1893, page 217, regarding the compulsory prostitution of women, is codified in the above-named sections. The penalties here set forth in Sections 266d, 266e, and 266f, are those of a felony, instead of the various penalties set forth in the corresponding sections of the Act codified.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 266g.

This section codifies the Statute of 1891, page 285, regarding the placing and keeping of married women in houses of prostitution.

SENATE BILL No. 153.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 169.

"Presentment" is stricken out and "information," line 5, inserted in its place, for the reason that under the Constitution of 1879 there is no prosecution by presentment, that portion of this section (originally passed in 1872) having been superseded by the Constitution.

SENATE BILLS Nos. 158, 159, AND 160.

PENAL CODE, SECTIONS 214, 218, AND 219.

Section 218 has been broken up into three sections, contained, respectively, in the three bills above named.

Penal Code, Section 214: In view of the criticism passed by the Supreme Court in the case of People vs. Thompson, 111 Cal. 242, upon Section 218, and the suggestion of that court that the section be revised, there has been taken out of that section the provision regarding robbery and the same has been amplified and made a new section, numbered 214, to be placed in Chapter IV, of Title VII, of Part I.

In the new section the punishment is not prescribed as death or imprisonment for life at the option of the jury, as in Section 218; but the grade of the offense is fixed at felony simply, it having been found that the severity of the punishment results in failure to secure convictions.

Penal Code, Section 218: The section as amended provides only for attempted wrecking or derailment of railroad trains, and fixes the grade of the offense as felony simply, the matters formerly in the section regarding an accomplished or consummated wrecking or derailment being left to Section 219 (Senate Bill No. 160), and the provisions regarding robbery being provided for in Section 214 (Senate Bill No. 158).

Penal Code, Section 219: The section contains the matter now in Section 218 regarding an accomplished or consummated wrecking or derailment. The punishment is left at death or imprisonment for life, at the option of the jury, as now provided in Section 218.

In short, these three bills split up Section 218 in the manner suggested by Judge Garoutte in People vs. Thompson, 111 Cal. 242, and modify the penalty of train wrecking, where no death has occurred, so as to preclude failures to convict on account of the severity of the penalty.

SENATE BILL No. 164.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 302.

The change consists in the omission of the word "noise" before the word "profane," in line 4, it being manifestly an error in the statute, as it occurs later in the section with a qualification, lines 5 and 6.

SENATE BILL No. 165.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 303.

The section is in conflict with Section 18 of Article XX of the Constitution, which provides that "no person shall, on account of sex, be disqualified from entering upon or pursuing any lawful business, vocation, or profession." (See ex parte Maguire, 57 Cal. 604.)

SENATE BILL No. 166.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 306.

This section is explicitly held to be in conflict with Section 18 of Article XX of the Constitution in ex parte Maguire, 57 Cal. 604, 609.

SENATE BILL No. 167.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 310½.

The section was explicitly held to be unconstitutional in ex parte Jentzsch, 112 Cal. 468

SENATE BILL No. 168.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 286

The proposed section, a new one, merely states in an appropriate title of the Code the rule regarding the capacity of corporations to commit crimes, and provides the punishment to be inflicted upon corporations where imprisonment is declared the sole punishment for any crime in the section providing generally for its punishment.

SENATE BILL No. 164.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 171.

The scope of the section is broadened by the insertion of the words "jail or reformatory in this State," in line 5, and the words "literature or reading matter," in line 7.

PENAL CODE, SECTIONS 171a, 171b, 171c, AND 180a.

Sections 171a, 171b, and 171c contain the matter now contained in Section 180a and also a codification of the provisions of the Act of 1895, page 92.

SENATE BILL No. 163.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 270.

The change consists in the omission of the words now following the word "excuse," "to perform any duty imposed upon him by law."

They are clearly without signification as employed in the section.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 271a.

The penal sections of the Statute of 1873-4, page 297, relating to the care of orphan and abandoned children, is codified in the above named section.

PENAL CODE, SECTIONS 272, 273, 273a, 273b, 273c AND 273d.

The two statutes, one of 1877-8, page 812, and the other of 1877-8, page 813, relating to children, are codified by an amendment to Section 272 and by the addition of Sections 273, 273a, 273b, 273c, and 273d.

The word "sixteen" has been inadvertently printed "fourteen," line 5, Section 3, page 2 of the printed bill, and can be amended by a committee of one.

PENAL CODE, SECTIONS 273e AND 1389.

The matter now in Section 1389, which incorrectly stands in a chapter entitled "Dis-mis-al of the Action," is put into a new section, designated as 273e, and is put in its proper chapter, with the other sections relative to children, and Section 1389 accordingly repealed.

SENATE BILL No. 359.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 653a.

This is a new section, codifying, word for word, the eight-hour law passed at the last session (Statutes 1903, page 119).

PENAL CODE, SECTION 653d.

This is a new section, codifying the statute of 1871-2, page 951, to protect wages of labor, inserting, however, in line 4, the words, "for his own use," to make same conform to intention of original Act.

SENATE BILL No. 377.

(Amended in Senate January 26, 1905.)

POLITICAL CODE, SECTIONS 767, 771, 772, 773, AND 774.

The amendment is self-explanatory. It is rendered necessary by the amendment to the Constitution relative to the establishment of the District Courts of Appeal. In view of the extra work placed on the Supreme Court Reporter, his compensation is raised to three thousand dollars. Possibly the salaries of the assistant reporters should be reduced. It is the desire of the Supreme Court to have control of the reporting of these opinions, so that, as far as possible, the publication of unnecessary opinions may be avoided.

SENATE BILL No. 451.

PENAL CODE, SECTION 597g.

The Statute of 1873-4, page 228, to prevent stallions running at large, and of 1877-8, page 457, respecting buck goats, and of 1871-72, page 63, to provide for the keeping of stallions, are codified in this section, and makes the law concerning the running at large of stallions in Sacramento and Mono counties, by extending its provisions to the State at large.

SENATE BILL No. 452.

PENAL CODE, SECTIONS 601a, 601b, 601c AND 601d.

Sections 5, 6, 7, and 9 of the Act of 1887, page 110, to protect life and property from the careless or malicious use of dynamite, is codified in the above named sections.

Respectfully submitted.

HAHN, Chairman.

PRESIDENT PRO TEM. WOLFE IN THE CHAIR.

At ten o'clock and thirty-five minutes A. M., President pro tem. E. I. Wolfe in the chair.

The Journals of Tuesday, January 31, and Wednesday, February 1, 1905, having been corrected, were read and approved.

PRESENTATION OF PETITION.

The President presented the following petition, which was ordered printed in the Journal:

SACRAMENTO, February 2, 1905.

To HON. ALDEN ANDERSON, President of the Senate of the State of California, and to the Honorable Senate:

Your petitioner respectfully represents and shows, that your petitioner, The Realty Syndicate, a corporation, was subpoenaed last week by the then Committee on Commissions and Retrenchment to appear before that committee on last Monday, at 8 o'clock P. M., and to bring before it numerous books of the corporation;

That in obedience to the subpoena, your petitioner, by and through its officers, appeared in the City of Sacramento at the time and place designated in the subpoena, and then and there produced the books and papers called for in the subpoena;

That then and there your petitioner was prepared and ready and able to show to that committee and your honorable body that the real estate owned by your petitioner is worth to exceed $8,000,000; that the stocks and securities owned by it are worth over $5,600,000, aggregating over $13,600,000, and that that aggregate exceeds all the liabilities of The Realty Syndicate of every kind and nature by at least $8,000,000.

The Committee on Commissions and Retrenchment did not assemble and your petitioner, though thus subpoenaed and thus in attendance, did not obtain a hearing;

That since that time your honorable body has, by resolution, created another committee, the Senate Committee of Investigation of Building and Loan Associations and Investment Corporations, the business of the latter class being somewhat similar to a part of the business of your petitioner;

That on February 1, 1905, your petitioner presented to the chairman of the new Senate committee its written statement of the foregoing facts of having been thus subpoenaed, of having thus responded and appeared, of its ability and readiness to show its financial status and methods, and of having thus failed to obtain a hearing; that in its said written statement so presented to the chairman of the new Senate committee your petitioner also set forth that by reason of the fact that no action was taken by the former committee, though publicity had been given to the fact of the subpoenaing of your petitioner, your petitioner considered that justice to it required that it be granted a hearing in order to show the nature and character of its business and assets to the new Senate committee. Its said written statement of February 1st set forth also that it favored proper investigation of such corporations for the protection of the public and that, to that end, your petitioner had requested Hon. W. H. Waste, a member of the Assembly from Alameda County, to introduce, and that he had introduced, into the Assembly a bill providing that companies engaged in business similar to that of your petitioner be placed under the continuing inspection and jurisdiction of the Bank Commissioners;

That on the evening of February 2, 1905, the new Senate committee convened in the Capitol at 8 o'clock P. M., at which time the said written statement of your petitioner was presented to that committee by its chairman, and the committee was informed that your petitioner desired, especially by reason of the facts and publicity above mentioned, to be heard at the first and earliest convenience of the new committee;

That the meeting of the new Senate committee, at 8 P. M., February 2d, was an executive session, which no representative of your petitioner could enter, though an authorized representative of your petitioner was then and there in attendance and presented a request that your petitioner be heard, to the extent of presenting the reasons why your petitioner should be accorded a future day of hearing upon the matters upon which it had been thus subpoenaed by a committee of this honorable Senate and subjected to much publicity in that respect;

That such request was not granted, and your petitioner now shows to the honorable Senate and its committee:

First—That your petitioner, at all times since the service of subpoena upon it, has been, and is now ready, willing and desirous to show to your honorable body, and the committee thereof, all the facts of its financial status and business above referred to;

Second—That its methods of conducting its business in all departments, and parts thereof, are absolutely safe and sound;

Third—That criticism, however originating and however circulated, is without fact or warrant to support it; and

Fourth—That the publicity arising from the issuance of a subpoena and the service of it under authority emanating from this honorable Senate, without the corresponding opportunity to be heard and exonerated, seems to your petitioner to fall short of meting out to it the measure of justice to which it is fairly entitled in view of the facts above herein respectfully set forth.

WHEREFORE, Your petitioner prays that your honorable body refer the subject-matter and the aforesaid matters and things to the new Senate Committee of Investigation of Building and Loan Associations and Investment Corporations in order that that committee take such action in the premises as it shall deem necessary or proper or as this honorable body shall direct.

And your petitioner will ever pray.

THE REALTY SYNDICATE.

By F. C. HAVENS, Vice-President and Manager.

Petition referred to special committee appointed to investigate building and loan associations and other corporations.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE OF THREE HOLD-OVER SENATORS, APPOINTED AT THE THIRTY-FIFTH SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, FOR THE PURPOSE OF INVESTIGATING THE AFFAIRS OF THE STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Senator Leavitt presented the following report of special committee:

To the Honorable Senate of the State of California:

We, your committee appointed under a resolution adopted by this Honorable Senate during the thirty-fifth session of the Legislature of the State of California on the 11th day of March, 1903, which resolution is in the words and figures following, to wit:

"Resolved, That a special committee of three hold-over Senators be appointed by the President of the Senate for the purpose of further investigating the affairs of the State Agricultural Society, and said committee shall be directed to make a report of their investigation at the next session of the Legislature, and the said committee may incur an expense not to exceed five hundred ($500) dollars for the purpose of employing an expert, or experts, and for the payment of such further expenses as may be necessary in the performance of their duties." Beg leave to report as follows:

That in pursuance of said resolution the committee did meet and organize by electing Senator F. W. Leavitt, chairman, and Senator Hamilton Bauer, secretary.

That we did employ T. E. Atkinson, an expert accountant, to examine the books of said society, and that said T. E. Atkinson, after a brief investigation of the books and affairs, declined to further carry out said work, and, therefore, this committee did employ one E. B. Bullock, an expert accountant, to make said investigation and examine and expert the books of said society and make his report therefrom, and that the said E. B. Bullock did thereafter examine said books and report therefrom, and from said report the financial condition of said society, on December 16, 1903, was shown to be as follows:

And in said report there is contained the further statement:

"I have checked up each and every item of disbursement of money for 1903, and find vouchers on file in this office for every item, with one exception, namely, an expense charge of 30 cents. Checked up all race books and accounts, and find them to agree with all moneys received and paid out. Checked up the account of the financial secretary, and find that all money received and paid out by him is accounted for by deposit in bank, or paid out, with vouchers to verify the disbursements. His account is properly entered into the cash book.

"Some $7,217.50 of premiums were paid out on account of the fair of 1903, with the necessary vouchers in this office for their payment. Special premiums for county exhibits were paid, to the amount of $1,955. These premiums do not form any part of the accounts of this society, as the money for said premiums was raised by subscription from the people of the City of Sacramento.

"The cash balance November 15, 1903, was $883.57. Only $222.27 was actual cash; the balance, $661.30, is made up of tags representing money, but to turn into cash probably not ten per cent could be realized, as some of the persons are dead and some of the accounts are outlawed.

"I find that money received for Futurity stakes, which is paid in yearly, is turned into the general cash and used for the payment of general expenses. The following is a statement of the Futurity funds which have been paid in to the society:

Occident 1905 stake	970 00
Stallion 1905 stake	805 00
Stanford 1904 stake	1,285 00
Stanford 1905 stake	735 00
Harness Stallion 1905 stake	465 00
Total	$5,880 00

"This money having been used prior to the races for other purposes, makes a heavy drain upon the receipts remaining to settle the purses at the time races are run. This Futurity money, amounting to $5,880, forms a part of the indebtedness of the society.

"Respectfully submitted.

(Signed:) "E. B. BULLOCK."

That, in addition to the indebtedness above mentioned, amounting to seventy-two thousand six hundred and thirty-one and eighty-one one-hundredths ($72,631.81) dollars, calculated to February 1, 1904, there was a further indebtedness of seven thousand one hundred and ten ($7,110) dollars due the California State Bank, and six hundred and thirty-nine and ninety one-hundredths ($639.90) dollars, interest to July 1, 1904, and moneys collected as entrance to Futurity stakes, and expenses from time to time, and unpaid bills not then appearing on the books of said society at that time, amounting in the aggregate to nine thousand nine hundred and ten and fifty-one one-hundredths ($9,910.51) dollars, thereby making a total indebtedness on July 1, 1904, of ninety thousand two hundred and ninety-two and twenty-two one-hundredths ($90,292.22) dollars, and between July 1, 1904, and the 1st day of January, 1905, by reason of damage to the Pavilion, caused by storm and winds tearing a portion thereof away, and to the destruction of the fences and buildings upon the fair grounds, and unpaid bills (not prior thereto of record), the said indebtedness was increased in the further sum of nine thousand four hundred and forty-four and ten one-hundredths ($9,444.10) dollars, making a total indebtedness due said society on January 1, 1905, of ninety-nine thousand seven hundred and thirty-six and twenty-two one-hundredths ($99,736.22) dollars.

Having in mind the provisions of an Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act making an appropriation to the directors of the California State Agricultural Society for the purpose of paying certain indebtedness, claims, and demands against said society," approved March 25, 1901 (Statutes of 1901, page 802), this committee proceeded to examine into the nature and condition and extent of the title to the real property standing in the name of said society, or in which it had any beneficial interest, with a view of having the same pass to the State of California, in accordance with the provisions of the Act hereinabove referred to.

On September 10, 1904, after an examination of the abstract of title to the property referred to, this committee did conclude, and so advised the attorney for the State Agricultural Society, as follows:

"We find that the State Agricultural Society is the owner of certain real estate in the City of Sacramento, the validity of which title we deem it unnecessary to pass on, and on the 4th day of February, 1898, the said society, in order to avail itself of the benefits of an Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize State agricultural societies under the control of the State to sell property held by them in fee, or held by trustees for their use, or in which they may have any interest; to prescribe a course of procedure therefor; to indemnify purchasers at such sale, and to direct how the proceeds should be applied," approved February 25, 1897 (Statutes of 1897, page 80), did file a complaint in the Superior Court of the County of Sacramento, asking for a sale of said property in accordance with the provisions of said Act of the Legislature, and thereafter, on July 29, 1899, the said Superior Court entered a decree granting the relief asked for in said complaint and directing a sale of said real property, by a commissioner appointed in said decree and providing for the disposition of the proceeds thereof in accordance with the provisions of said Act of the Legislature, and thereafter said property was advertised for sale, and on the 6th day of June, 1900, said commissioner filed his report herein that no bids in sufficient amount had been received, and for that reason no sale of said property had been made. No further proceedings under said decree have been taken.

"From an examination of the law in the premises your committee is satisfied that the California State Agricultural Society is a State institution; that all property acquired by it is held in trust for the purposes of said society, and in the absence of legislation authorizing its sale the directors would be without power to sell the same; that when the Legislature, by the Act of 1897, hereinbefore mentioned, provided a method and course of procedure for the sale of lands held by State agricultural societies, the method there prescribed became the exclusive method of sale; that when, under its provisions, suit was commenced and a judgment and decree entered, that decree not having been appealed from or set aside, it is now final and conclusive, and prevents the board of directors from selling or transferring that property in any manner, other than provided for in said decree, and that is by commissioner at public sale.

"From the foregoing statement of facts, it necessarily follows that said State Agricultural Society is not in a position to avail itself of the provisions of the Act of the Legislature entitled 'An Act making an appropriation to the directors of the California State Agricultural Society for the purpose of paying certain indebtedness, claims, and demands against said society,' approved March 25, 1901 (Statutes of 1901, page 802), or any other Act containing provisions similar to those contained in Section 2 of said Act, while said judgment remains in full force and effect, and in the absence of legislation authorizing it so to do the State could not become a purchaser under said judgment."

That thereafter, the State Agricultural Society did take such proceedings in the Superior Court of the County of Sacramento, as provided for in the judgment hereinbefore referred to, and did offer for sale the property owned by it and described in said judgment, and did sell the same at public auction for the sum of eighty-two thousand five hundred ($82,500) dollars.

That from the gross proceeds realized from the sale of said property there was paid under order of said court, to the National Bank of D. O. Mills the sum of twenty-nine thousand seven hundred and twenty-three and forty-nine one-hundredths ($29,723.49) dollars, in satisfaction of liens upon said property, and there was paid for the costs, as further directed by said court, in the amount of seventeen hundred and thirty and seventy one-hundredths ($1,730.70) dollars, leaving a net balance of fifty-one thousand and forty-five and eighty-one one-hundredths ($51,045.81) dollars to the credit of said society.

That in addition to the property hereinbefore mentioned, the said society was the owner of a certain other piece of property, the same standing, however, in the name of a third person, and which property was, on the 16th day of January, 1905, sold at public auction for the sum of forty-seven hundred and eighty-five ($4,785) dollars, from which there was deducted the costs and expenses of such sale, the total of which amounted to two hundred and seventy-three and sixty one-hundredths ($273.60) dollars, leaving a net balance of forty-five hundred and eleven and forty one-hundredths ($4,511.40) dollars to be applied on the indebtedness due from said State board.

That out of said indebtedness of ninety-nine thousand seven hundred and thirty-six and twenty-two one-hundredths ($99,736.22) dollars, there was paid the sum of twenty-nine thousand seven hundred and twenty-three and forty-nine one-hundredths ($29,723.49) dollars, due the National Bank of D. O. Mills upon its lien upon the property sold. There was paid the further sum of one thousand seven hundred and thirty and seventy one-hundredths ($1,730.70) dollars, as expenses incident to said sale, leaving a net balance out of said eighty-two thousand five hundred ($82,500) dollars, purchase price, of fifty-one thousand and forty-five and eighty-one one-hundredths ($51,045.81) dollars, thereby reducing the indebtedness from ninety-nine thousand seven hundred and thirty-six and twenty-two one-hundredths ($99,736.22) dollars, to seventy thousand and twelve and seventy-three one-hundredths ($70,012.73) dollars, out of which there shall be deducted the further sum of forty-five hundred and eleven and forty one-hundredths ($4,511.40) dollars, net proceeds derived from a sale of the balance of the property owned by said society, which property was sold on January 16, 1906, thereby leaving a total indebtedness due from said society in the sum total of sixty-five thousand five hundred and one and thirty-three one-hundredths ($65,501.33) dollars.

That thereafter the said State Agricultural Society did purchase in the County of Sacramento and near to the City of Sacramento, eighty (80) acres of land, and paid therefor the sum of twenty-two thousand ($22,000) dollars, leaving a balance of money in the amount of twenty-nine thousand and forty-five and eighty-one one-hundredths ($29,045.81) dollars now in the treasury of the State of California, and which said money, under the provisions of the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to authorize the State Agricultural Society, under the control of the State, to sell property held by it in fee, or held by trustees for their use, or in which they have any interest, to prescribe a course of procedure therefor to indemnify purchasers at such sale, and to direct how the proceeds should be applied," approved February 25, 1897 (Statutes 1897, page 30), cannot be used for the payment of any debt of said society, other than a debt which is a lien upon the property owned by it, but must be used in the improvement of property subsequently purchased.

Your committee recommends further that the Act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An Act making an appropriation to the directors of the California State Agricultural Society for the purpose of paying certain indebtedness, claims, and demands against said society," approved March 27, 1901 (Statutes of 1901, page 802), be repealed for the reason that said Act then contemplated that the property to be transferred to the State of California, as therein referred to, was the property then owned by said Agricultural Society and which said property has since been sold and disposed of, for the reason that any property now owned by said society cannot be transferred to the State of California and be within the requirements of said Act of the Legislature.

Your committee is of the opinion that the indebtedness which accrued from time to time against said Agricultural Society, and which has been the subject-matter of investigation by this committee, may be attributed to the following causes:

First—A lack of money appropriated by the Legislature of the State of California, so as to enable said Agricultural Society to carry on the duties devolving upon it so as to inspire the confidence of the public, in that said society has been from time to time compelled to resort to methods for obtaining money which placed it at great disadvantage in the management of its affairs.

Second—Political interference in the appointment of subordinates for the purpose of carrying on the duties of said society has resulted in the appointment of persons not competent and qualified to fill the position and duties devolving upon such appointees, and the selection of employes by reason of political influence is and always has been a serious impediment in the way of successful management of the affairs of said society.

Further, that by reason of insufficient appropriation from time to time at the hands of the Legislature, the society years ago incurred indebtedness, the interest upon which has so accumulated that the said society was from time to time so financially embarrassed that it was required to use the funds of the society to pay interest instead of appropriating the same for other purposes more in consonance with the reasons for the creation of said society.

That if said Legislature had from time to time appropriated sufficient money to be used for legitimate expenses, in addition to the money appropriated for premiums, the said society would have been in a better position in the purchase of all its supplies and the employment of all its help.

The method of conducting the races has not been such as would be productive of the best results and in satisfaction to the general public, for the reason, before stated, a lack of funds each year at the opening of the fair for the purpose of purchasing supplies and paying necessary help, has compelled said society to sell certain privileges at the race track, which resulted in conducting the races on such methods that do not meet with public approbation and has resulted in a lesser attendance each year.

This committee does hereby make the following recommendations:

That inasmuch as said society has, out of the proceeds of the sale of its property, as hereinbefore mentioned, purchased a tract of land near the City of Sacramento for the sum of twenty-two thousand ($22,000) dollars, upon which it desires to construct necessary improvements, and as it has on hand so to do the sum of twenty-nine thousand and forty-five dollars and eighty-one one-hundredths ($29,045.81) dollars, which amount is wholly insufficient for the completion of the project of erecting the proper buildings and making a proper track upon said ground so purchased, the committee is of the unanimous opinion that if this Legislature desires to continue the existence of the State Agricultural Society, and carry on a yearly exhibit of its resources, as is contemplated by the Act creating said society, it should appropriate sufficient money therefor, and in an amount not less than one hundred and eighty thousand ($180,000) dollars. We also recommend the enactment of a law appropriating sixty-five thousand five hundred and one and thirty-three one-hundredths ($65,501.33) dollars, to pay the balance of said indebtedness.

That in the performance of its duties your committee incurred the following expense, which it asks this honorable body, by proper resolution, to order paid:

Entrance fees to races, as a rule, are not paid in cash, but charged up against the parties entering for the races; after which the award is made and the winners' accounts are settled by deduction. The unlucky ones fail to pay up and consequently keep adding to the large deficit which we have at present of entrance dues of $13,338.31, besides $2,273.73 that has previously been charged off to profit and loss. I submit a statement taken from the accounts of the races for twenty-two years (from 1881 to 1903 inclusive), showing the purses and added money paid out on races, the entrance fees received, and the added money.

Last year's indebtedness reduced			$1,088 70

At this date there is charged in this statement of indebtedness incurred and unpaid in 1903 of $8,823.31, with a cash balance of $6,166.74 on hand, by which it is reduced to $2,657.17, the amount of the over expenditures of 1903. This amount of $2,657.17 is a part of the debit balance of indebtedness of $72,631.81 for 1903. Had the expenditures for 1903 been kept down to the amount of the receipts, the reduction from last year's indebtedness would have been $3,745.87, instead of $1,088.71, and the total amount of indebtedness would have been $69,974.64 instead of $72,631.81.

Bills payable account for 1902 was $61,940.59. In 1903 the sum of $6,133.75 was received from the State, and $5,164.71 was applied to this account, which reduced it to $56,775.83. Said amount appears in 1903 statement of indebtedness in two amounts, namely, notes D. O. Mills & Co., $37,000, and bills payable, 1902, for $19,775.88.

I have checked up each and every item of disbursement of money for 1903, and find vouchers on file in this office for every item, with one exception, namely, an expense charge of 30 cents. Checked up all race books and accounts, and find them to agree with all moneys received and paid out. Checked up the accounts of the financial secretary and find that all money received and paid out by him is accounted for by deposit in bank or paid out, with vouchers to verify the disbursements. His account is properly entered in the cash book.

Some $7,217.50 of premiums were paid out on account of the fair of 1903, with the necessary vouchers in this office for their payment. Special premiums for county exhibits were paid to the amount of $1,965. These premiums do not form any part of the accounts of this society, as the money for said premiums was raised by subscription from the people of the City of Sacramento.

The cash balance November 15, 1903, was $883.57. Only $222.27 was actual cash; the balance, $661.30, is made up of tags representing money, but to turn into cash, probably not ten per cent could be realized, as some of the persons are dead and some of the accounts are outlawed.

I find that money received for futurity stakes, which is paid in yearly, is turned into the general cash and used for the payment of general expenses. The following is a statement of the futurity funds, which has been paid into the society for future events, and used for other purposes than that which it was paid in for:

Occident 1904 stake	$1,620 00
Occident 1905 stake	970 00
Stallion 1905 stake.....	805 00
Stanford 1904 stake.....	1,285 00
Stanford 1905 stake.....	735 00
Harness Stallion 1905 stake.....	465 00
Total.....	$5,880 00

This money having been used prior to the races for other purposes, makes a heavy drain upon the receipts remaining to settle the purses at the time races are run. This futurity money amounting to $5,880 forms a part of the indebtedness of the society for this year.

Respectfully submitted.

E. B. BULLOCK.

Pursuant to a decree of the Superior Court of the County of Sacramento, the Agricultural Park belonging to the Agricultural Society, having been given them by the people of Sacramento, was sold at public auction to the highest bidder for the sum of $82,600. From the gross price realized from the sale of said property, $29,723.49 due to the National Bank of D. O. Mills & Co. upon its lien upon the property was deducted, and paid said bank by order of the court, and also the sum of $1,730.70 was paid for abstracts, advertising and other expenses connected with the sale, leaving the net balance of $51,045.81. From this amount has been deducted $22,000 that was used in paying for the eighty acres of land bought by the Agricultural Board of Directors upon the approval of the State Board of Examiners, leaving a balance in the State Treasury to the credit of the directors of $29,045.81.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

The President presented the following petition, which was ordered printed in the Journal.

SAN BERNARDINO BOARD OF TRADE,
SAN BERNARDINO, February 3, 1905.

We hereby certify that at a joint meeting of the San Bernardino Board of Trade and Merchants' Association, held February 3, 1905, the following resolution was introduced and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the following preamble and resolution, introduced into the Assembly by Speaker Prescott, meets with our entire approval, and we earnestly recommend their speedy adoption by both branches of the State Legislature:

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. —.

WHEREAS, The fair adjustment of freight rates is of vital importance to the agricultural, industrial, and commercial activities of the nation, and especially to the fruit interests of California; and

WHEREAS, The Interstate Commerce Commission, if empowered to carry out the purposes of its organization, is the proper depository of power for the fixing and maintaining of such freight rates; and

WHEREAS, It is of the utmost importance that the action of such Interstate Commerce Commission be prompt and effective; therefore,

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That we request our Senators and Representatives in Congress to use their influence to have a law enacted by Congress giving the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to fix freight rates when the rate is found to be unfair, and providing that the new rate so fixed by the commission shall go into force immediately and so remain until set aside by the courts; and Further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be immediately forwarded by telegraph to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, and one to the President of the United States.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be mailed to Hon. F. C. Prescott, Speaker of the Assembly; to Lieutenant-Governor Anderson, President of the Senate, and to Hon. W. T. Leeke, Senator from this district.

HENRY M. WILLIS, Secretary Board of Trade.
J. W. CALECK, Secretary Merchants' Association.

Senator Savage presented the following petition, which was ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Members of the Legislature of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: We, the undersigned, business men and property-owners of the City of Los Angeles, feel that the proposed amendment to the charter of the city, limiting the life of franchises to twenty-one years, was adopted by our people without a full consideration of its probable effect.

It seems to us that the matter of the life of franchises for public utilities should be, perhaps, left to State regulation, particularly in the case of railroad companies. It would, we believe, be a serious drawback to the progress of the whole State to unreasonably throttle the building of electric railroads at a time when their building is almost in its infancy.

Upon mature deliberation we believe that twenty-one years is too short a time within which to expect a great investment of capital to return to the investor together with interest. For these reasons, as well as for many others that will readily occur to your honorable body, we ask that you do not ratify this amendment to the Los Angeles City charter.

Respectfully submitted.

PIONEER INVESTMENT AND TRUST COMPANY.

J. HARVEY MCCARTHY, President.
FRED O. ROSENFELD, Secretary.

Senator Coggins presented the following petition, which was ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Honorable Senate and Assembly of the State of California, in Legislature assembled:

At a meeting of the Shasta County Medical Society held in Redding, Cal., January 26, 1905, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Shasta County Medical Society is emphatically and unalterably opposed to Assembly Bill No. 267, repealing parts of the present medical law, which we regard as entirely satisfactory and almost ideally perfect, whose validity has recently been sustained by the highest courts of the State; and which protects the profession and the public alike from the charlatan and the quack, and excludes from practice the uneducated graduates from mercenary and disreputable medical colleges; and substituting provisions which we regard as unfair and unjust, and a virtual repeal of the present eminently satisfactory law;

Resolved, That our representatives be hereby instructed and urged to use every possible endeavor to defeat the passage of said bill, together with all similar attempts to alter, amend, or repeal the existing statute.

R. F. WALLACE, Secretary.

Senator Ward presented the following petition, which was ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

(Report of the Special Committee of the Senate, investigating State Institutions.)

Your special committee, to whom was referred the following:

Resolved, That Senators Pendleton and Haskins, from the Committee on Finance; Senators Woodward and Sanford, from the Committee on Education; Senators Muentner and Markey, from the Committee on Hospitals and Asylums; Senators Welch and Coggins, from the Committee on Prisons and Reformatories; Senators McKee and Nelson, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds; Senator Irish, from the Committee on Commissions and Retrenchment; and J. L. Martin, Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, be the committee named in pursuance of the following resolution, adopted by the Senate January 19th, to wit:

“Resolved, That the Committee on Finance, Education, Hospitals and Asylums, Prisons and Reformatories, and Public Building and Grounds, be authorized to appoint a sub-committee of two each, and the Committee on Commissions and Retrenchment be authorized to appoint a sub-committee of one; and that said sub-committee constitute a committee, together with the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, to visit such public institutions as they may deem necessary, in order that such institutions may be thoroughly inquired into and reported upon to the Senate, and that they be allowed their actual expenses while engaged in committee work, and such leaves of absence as may be hereinafter determined by the Senate.”

And that said committee be and they are hereby granted leave of absence from Friday, January 27th, to and including Wednesday, the first day of February, 1905, for the purpose of visiting the State School at Whittier, the Normal School at Los Angeles, the State Hospital at Patton, the Normal School and Quarantine Station at San Diego, the Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo, and the State Hospital at Agnews, and that said committee be and they are hereby allowed their expenses actually incurred upon said visit.

Beg leave to report as follows: Your committee left Sacramento on Thursday, January 26, 1905, at 6:10 P. M. Immediately after arriving at Los Angeles on January 27, at 10 A. M., went to the State Normal School, where organization was perfected by the selection of Senator E. F. Woodward as chairman, and Senator J. B. Sanford as secretary. The work of inspection of the various institutions enumerated in the resolution as adopted by the Senate was then mapped out in detail. Your committee began its labors at the State Normal School at Los Angeles.

Schools Visited.—Your committee visited the Normal School at Los Angeles, Cal., and made a careful inspection of the buildings and grounds. We found the buildings in a bad condition and hardly suitable for the purpose intended. As a business proposition it would not pay the State to go to the expense of putting the buildings in proper condition. The present site is near the center of town and could be sold for a sufficient sum to build a modern, up-to-date building. We would therefore recommend that a new site be secured and that the present one be sold, and the money from the sale of the same be used in erecting a new building upon a different site. As it would take some time to erect a new building, a small amount of money should be appropriated to repair the roof and floor, to make said old building tenable until the new structure is ready for occupancy.

Whittier School.—The inspection of the Whittier School was a pleasant and agreeable surprise. We found the grounds and buildings in good order, the discipline all that could be wished for, and most kindly feelings existing between the inmates and the superintendent, who exercised a wholesome and moral supervision over both girls and boys. The recommendation of the superintendent that the sum of $900 be appropriated to furnish the girls' cottage, known as cottage "B," is, in the judgment of the committee, of the greatest necessity. The committee also recommends an appropriation of $8,000, for additional, and correction of the present, plumbing in the main building; also the sum of $5,000 for the construction of a reservoir to store the water now available from the pumping plant. We also recommend that the estimates for maintenance of this institution as made by its management be allowed.

San Diego Normal.—We found this one of the best arranged school buildings in the State and suitable in every way for the work intended. The grounds should be fenced and improved; an appropriation of $5,000 being ample to begin with. The sewerage is bad, and sufficient money should be appropriated to properly connect the building with the city sewer system.

State Hospital at Highlands.—Your committee arrived at the Southern State Hospital, located near Patton Station, in San Bernardino County, on Sunday, January 29, 1905, at 4 p. m., and at this time desires to express its gratification, and to commend the work of this particular institution, and to especially comment upon the business-like ability of its superintendent as demonstrated by him to this committee.

The asylum, at the time of our visit, contained a total of 899 patients. Of this number, 577 were males and 322 females. Your committee found a large number of patients sleeping in the corridors and hallways; and that there are enough of these unfortunates to fill a new ward building as soon as completed. The completion of one additional wing would, therefore, leave the hospital in a much better condition and add much to the comfort of its inmates. Therefore, your committee recommends that Senate Bill No. 464, introduced by Senator Leeke, providing for the building, equipping, and furnishing of a wing to said institution, making an appropriation of $85,000 therefor, do pass, and be approved by His Excellency, the Honorable George C. Pardee, the Governor of the State of California.

The estimates for maintenance and support during the next two fiscal years are $190,500, and for salaries the sum of $130,440. The medical staff of the institution at this time consists of a superintendent, two assistants, and one interne, who also is the druggist of the institution.

A thorough investigation was made by your committee as to the further needs of the institution and your committee recommends that the erection of a dairy building and a purchase of equipment therefor are necessary, and leads us to believe that this should be constructed as soon as possible; and therefore recommends that Senate Bill No. 463, providing for the erection and equipment of a dairy building and providing for an appropriation of $5,000, do pass.

San Luis Obispo Polytechnic School.—This school was opened to pupils last July and as the State is thus committed to this policy, the only thing to do is to erect the other buildings necessary to carry on this line of work properly.

San José Normal.—The buildings and grounds are in good condition. The building is crowded for room, and it would seem economy in the long run to erect a library building and gymnasium—the basement to be used for a gymnasium and the upper part for library purposes.

State Hospital at Agnews.—Your committee visited the State Hospital at Agnews on February 1, 1905, and after an inspection of this institution, commends the work of the management of this institution and especially commends the expenditure of money from the Contingent Fund for the erection of cottages, and further commends to similar institutions in this State to follow this institution in the erection of cottages as the one now just completed at this institution.

The asylum, at the time of our visit, contained 1,070 patients, and we found that by the erection of cottages, as hereinbefore mentioned, these patients are all well cared for.

The medical staff of this institution at this time consists of a superintendent, two assistants, and one interne. Your committee finds that the only appropriation asked for is for maintenance and salary. The management, basing its estimates upon a per capita tax of 40 cents, asks for an appropriation, for maintenance and support, of the sum of $186,000; and for salaries, $165,000.

Your committee, after considering the needs of this institution, recommends to the Committee on Finance that the appropriation for maintenance and support as above stated, be allowed.

While possibly it may not be within the province of the committee, the committee cannot refrain from commenting on the executive officer and secretary of the State Board of Charities.

From information that has come to this committee, we conclude that the members of the State Board of Charities are all most estimable gentlemen, having at heart the welfare and upbuilding of the State institutions under their supervision; if any criticism can be made it is that they have placed too much authority in the hands of their secretary, who, in the judgment of this committee, misconceives his duties. He has apparently assumed the rôle of a Hawkshaw or Pinkerton detective, and seems to feel that it is his duty to ferret out all little errors of judgment or delinquencies of the management of the various institutions to which he has access, and hold the management of these institutions up to public criticism and condemnation not deserved, instead of kindly pointing out these errors and showing the managers how they can be improved upon and corrected. His methods have been such that he has aroused a spirit of resentment and rebellion, so to speak, in these institutions against his methods, and created such hostility that this committee is of the opinion that his usefulness as a State officer is at an end, and his future services should be dispensed with.

In conclusion, your committee desires to call attention to the fact that the practice by the Senate of sending upon tours of investigation, committees consisting of two or three members from each of the several committees, who will later have the various subjects affected, in charge, appears to us to be most desirable, both as a measure of economy to the State, as well as when viewed in the light of the results generally desired to be accomplished.

It appears to us eminently proper that the members of this Senate, especially the particular committees having in charge the matters treated in this report, should be able to judge of the necessities of the various institutions of the State desiring aid, financial or otherwise, at the hands of this Senate, and it appears to us that this information can only be obtained at first hand, through the means of personal observation.

Respectfully submitted.

COMMUNICATION RELATIVE TO STATE SCHOOL FUNDS.

The President pro tem. presented the following communication from Thomas J. Kirk, Superintendent of Public Instruction, which was ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, }
SACRAMENTO, CAL., February 7, 1905. }

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: In response to the resolutions of the 6th instant directed to me by your honorable body, I respectfully submit the following:

First—Regarding the purpose of the pending measure relating to the method of distributing the State School Fund, as set forth in Senate Bill No. 238, I beg to inform you that the object sought is not alone, as I infer you take it, to provide increase of length of school term and pay of teachers, but also to correct to some extent at least the disproportionate rates of taxes that now prevail in the different counties for school purposes. The highest rate, the full limit of law, 50 cents on the $100, is now being paid by Mono County, and the lowest is that paid by San Francisco, 6 cents on the $100. Mariposa paid 47 cents, Alameda 20 cents, Amador 32 cents, Sierra 48 cents, Los Angeles 22 cents, Nevada 36 cents. For rates in all the counties see page 181 of the State School Superintendent's biennial report for 1903-04.

The rates in cities are correspondingly variable. Cities have as a rule to pay over and above State and county rates a special city or municipal tax for school purposes.

San Diego, for instance, paid in 1904 for all school purposes:

State Primary and Grammar School tax.....	17.8
State High School tax.....	1.5
County Primary and Grammar School tax.....	25.0
Special City School tax.....	41.0

Oakland in 1904 for all school purposes paid:

State Primary and Grammar School tax.....	17.8
State High School tax.....	1.5
County Primary and Grammar School tax.....	20.0
City Special School tax.....	17.9

Los Angeles City in 1904 paid:

State Primary and Grammar School Tax.....	17.8
State High School Tax.....	1.5
County Primary and Grammar School Tax.....	22.0
City Special School Tax.....	13.6

Chico paid in 1904:

State Primary and Grammar School Tax.....	17.8
State High School Tax.....	1.5
County Primary and Grammar School Tax.....	22.0
City Special School Tax.....	27.0

San Francisco, either as a city or a county, paid in 1904 for all school purposes:

State Primary and Grammar School Tax.....	17.8
State High School Tax.....	1.5
Special City or County School Tax.....	6.0

Total..... 25.3

The pending measure, Senate Bill No. 236, or Assembly Bill No. 297, will more equitably distribute the State School Fund and tend to reduce inequalities in local rates.

In answer to your first question, I submit the following table showing the total school census, enrollment, and average daily attendance in the several counties for the school year ending June 30, 1904:

In answer to your second question, I would say that the average length of term in all the counties for the last school year was 168 days, or 1 week more than 8 months of 20 days each. There is great incentive under existing law for a school district to maintain an eight months' school every year, for by so doing the district retains to its credit all funds left over, and if a term of less than eight months is maintained the law provides that any funds left over shall be returned to the General School Fund. With this incentive, and with shortness of money, salaries of teachers in the sparsely settled portions of the State have been reduced to such a figure that none but the poorest or superannuated teachers can be secured for such localities. Lengthening of terms has been at the expense of efficiency of service.

At the beginning of the present school year some twenty districts were reported to me as being unable to secure teachers.

The following table shows average length, in days, of school terms in the several counties:

Counties.	1903-4	Counties.	1903-4
Alameda	193	Plumas	142
Alpine	168	Riverside	165
Amador	165	Sacramento	164

Monterey	165	Yolo	164
Napa	180	Yuba	161
Nevada	171
Orange	184	Average	166

NOTE.—In 1904 Alameda and San Francisco counties held school over 195 days; Santa Cruz, 190 days; Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, Orange, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Sonoma, and Ventura, from 180 to 190 days; Humboldt, Lake, Los Angeles, Mono, Nevada, San Benito, San Bernardino, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Solano, from 170 to 180 days; Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Del Norte, Glenn, Kern, Madera, Merced, Monterey, Placer, Riverside, Sacramento, San Diego, Stanislaus, Tuolumne, Yolo, Yuba, from 160 to 170 days; Alpine, Colusa, El Dorado, Fresno, Inyo, Kings, Lassen, Mariposa, Mendocino, San Joaquin, Sierra, Siskiyou, Sutter, Tulare, from 150 to 160 days; Modoc, Plumas, Shasta, Tehama, and Trinity maintained school from 140 to 150 days.

Replying to your third question, it is not easy to estimate an additional amount necessary to maintain a school for any given length of term. There is no established rate of wages for teachers, nor is there any limit upon the amount of county and district funds which a school board must spend for teachers' salaries. The State fund only is restricted to salaries of teachers. The expenditures of county and special funds are wholly in the discretion of the school boards, but my general impression is that, as a rule, the pay of teachers and the length of school terms are just about as great as the funds at command will permit.

The following table shows the average yearly salaries of teachers in the several counties, the sum contributed to these salaries by the State, and the sums contributed by county and special funds:

Counties.	Average Yearly Salary Paid Teachers.	Amount of this Salary Paid by State.	Amount of this Salary Paid by County and Special Funds.

I am not sure that I fully comprehend your fourth question. If your inquiry is for the amount of additional State school fund necessary to give $520 per teacher from that fund in the different counties, then it ranges all the way from $271 in Alpine County to $11 in Santa Clara County.

Alameda County at the present time gets $59 in excess of $520 per teacher from the State, and San Francisco gets $263 in excess, or a total of $783 per teacher from the State.

I have endeavored to answer your inquiries as fully as I have been able to understand them, but hold myself ready to attempt to furnish any specific or further information which you may think this office can supply, and remain,

Your most obedient servant,

THOMAS J. KIRK,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.
